The Chronicle.

WHITBY, AUG. 27, 1897.

Short Notes.

Hon John Dryden denies the report that he is seeking nomination in West Algona. It is a singular coincidence that two young men named Chapman, one of Uxbridge and one of Sutton, near Uxbridge, have lately been drowned. The Chappmans had better keep away from the water.

It will not promote good feelings in the breasts of those who did so much for starving India last spring to read the daily budget of news showing that as soon as the natives had their bellies filled they planned a rebellion and sought the blood of the British benefactors of their relieved brethren.

We publish in this issue the petition presented on Monday to the Pickering council in favor of repealing local option and asking for another bylaw to be submitted to the voters for that purpose. We also publish the names of the petitioners. There are 150 less signatures this year than last, but there is quite as strong a quota of mothers who want the barracks opened as ever. The council, too, seems very willing to meet the wishes of those who want liquor selling restored. Considering that the friends of license were favored with a vote eight months ago, and then put the town-ship to $250 costs in upsetting it, which bill the council had to pay last Monday, one would not have supposed the council would have been quite so eager to make further expense to give them another vote; but our councils are like the legislature, that the officials—every law is made and interpreted to the advantage and satisfaction of the liquor interests. Many people who see this become disheartened, and give up the fight. A hundred years ago the fight for reform was the same, but people who wanted fair representation in parliament were locked up and tried for treason. Still they fought on, and with wrong, rather than be transported. Others spent the balance of their lives in Van Deimans Land in order that their fellows might have proper government. Their rulers and courts are against them. That is the time to fight to the death. Pickering has never yet voted on liquor but the result was to abolish it. Still the law and its interpreters have managed to keep the liquor going. At last it has become clearly illegal to sell liquor in Pickering, and the people must keep it so forever. There must be no let up. The fight must be won a hundred times until we can have honest laws properly interpreted and enforced. From now until the polling day let every moral man, having work like beavers, and roll up a majority that cannot be overturned by any agency.

High School Exams

RESULT OF THE THIRD AND FOURTH FORM WORK.

Candidates for partial matriculation will forward their junior or senior leaving certificates to the department for endorsement in the subjects passed in these examinations.

Lists of the marks of the unsuccessful candidates in the various form examinations will be forwarded before Sept. 1 to the principals of the high school centres and the public school inspectors in the cases of the other centres. Certificates will follow to the same addresses in about two weeks. Candidates need not, therefore, apply to the education department for either marks or certificates.

Unsuccessful candidates should consult the principal of the school after receiving their marks before making appeals.

In no case will appeals be accepted by the education department after Sept. 20th.

Unsuccessful candidates for junior or senior leaving standing will be allowed to take the same options in 1898 as previously selected. This privilege is granted only to those who were candidates in 1897 or in a previous year for junior or senior leaving certificates.

Whitby Town Locals

There is no dust on the roads these days. Mr Gerald Addison, Toronto, is in town visiting at Lawler's.

The Baptist Sunday school will meet next Sunday and hereafter at 3 p.m.
Mr Charley Stewart has secured a position as dry goods salesman in Toronto.
Teller R E Carswell of the Western Bank is spending a fortnight at Oshawa-on-the-lake.

Mr John Graham, late teacher at Almonds, has passed his exam for a first class certificate. He studied at London, Ont.
Capt Henderson and family returned to town from Pine Point Wednesday. Mrs J D McMillan and family and Mrs Peers returned yesterday.

Mr Frank Higgins, mail clerk on the main line G T R, was here yesterday. He has performed his duties well for nearly a quarter of a century.

The American duty of 30 cents a bushel plus the wet harvest, has worked on the liquor market, but not a single load has come into town up to date.

Pay your subscriptions before Sept 1st if you don't want costs added. After reading this paragraph do not afterwards say you did not have fair warning.

Rev M Gold contemplates taking another trip to England soon. We trust he may enjoy a fine trip and bring us another of his famous selections of blackthorns.

Mr John Wilson, formerly mail clerk on this line, has been returned to this run and Mr Benj Reeves has been transferred to the run between Calmar and the Soo.
Rev Mr McDermid will commence a series of Sunday night sermons on the book of Genesis next Sabbath evening. It is hoped that all who can will hear these sermons from the first to last.

It is said that more deaths from lightning and more destruction of buildings from the same cause have been reported during three months this summer than for the four preceding years combined.

Mr F W Hodson, superintendent of farmers institutes, will occupy a big tent on the grounds at the industrial exhibition, where all interested in agriculture, horticulture, apiculture, etc, will find a welcome, and where meetings on the various topics will be held.

The wet weather may hurt the grain crop to some extent, it cannot keep down prices. The Canadian farmers will undoubtedly pocket about $5,000,000 to $20,000,000 more for their crop than last year. The new McKinley bill is a dead letter in the matter. It can only affect barley materially, and the storm cooked that commodity's case.

Messrs Gross and Dent returned on Monday from their outing in Algona. If their tale color may be taken as an indication of the sort of time they had it must be understood that they did things up brown. Added to this Mr Dent surmounted the trials and tribulations of letting down a single barrel of fus which in time will get to be known by courtesy as whiskers.

The Canada Presbyterian and Westminster Gazette have been amalgamated, and will in future be published as "The Westminster." All that was valuable in both, is now to be found in the Westminster and it will now have a very wide circulation and influence. We bespeak the new publication great success, and hope its publishers may experience great success.

As we were preparing to go to press yesterday a number of men in cricketers and semi-cricketers attire went south towards the athletic grounds, armed with bats, shin-pads, etc. (the cetera being in their inside pockets). Enquiry discovered to us that there was a cricket match in progress of incubation between the married and single men of the town, having reference especially to those who are fond of the game but can't play it.

Yesterdays Toronto papers report that the Garden City was fined $20 and costs for selling liquor without license. No license is allowed on steamboats, and no liquor allowed to be sold on water, although it is allowed to be sold in water on land. Several other boats have been summoned, but the pulling of the boats is said to be only the annual thing to make them pay a license fee in another way. If the license were to stop liquor selling every boat could have been mulcted a hundred times before now.

Look After Your Vote
Those who want to have votes this year should see to it now that their names are either on the lists, or that they be put on. Except in towns and cities the present lists will be used for the next provincial elections, besides being used for municipal elections. Many people neglect these things at the time and are sorry afterwards.

Special Meeting of Whitby Presbytery.
A special meeting of the Whitby Presbytery was held in St Andrew church, Whitby last Thursday evening, to consider the transfer of the Rev Mr Eastman from Oshawa to Meaford. Delegates from Meaford were heard, giving reasons for the translation of the Rev Mr Eastman; also delegates from Oshawa, to answer those reasons and state the claims of Oshawa to retain him as their pastor. After the Presbytery had heard both parties, Mr Eastman was asked to state his views, which he did, and accepted the call.

Armed to the Teeth.
The New York Sun spreads scare heads four columns wide, to announce that Canada is arming. Why of course we are. Every man is getting his double barreled shot gun in order for doesn't the duck and partridge season open next month. Keep your shirt on, dear boy. We mean point out your worth shooting, even by accident. Arming! Come right over here, and you'll find that not a man goes down the lake fishing without his pocket pistol. Armed? you bet. Pistols to the teeth every chance—Bobby-goon independent.

Some Old People
Mr John Carter, three miles west of this town, celebrated his 81st birthday on Wednesday night. He was born in London, Eng., and came to Canada in 1829. He was never married. Out of about thirty who were present only one was a relative, Mrs. Bradley, of Pickering. Thomas Ray, his neighbor, aged 87, read a poem he had composed congratulating Mr. Carter on the event of his birthday. Rev. A. McCauley, of Pickering, was present, having just arrived from congratulating Mrs. Knox, Brock Road, on her 80th birthday, and gave an address of congratulation. Some other formalities were observed, but those present were placed at full liberty to indulge in all sorts of enjoyment, and a great many toasts were indulged in. We congratulate Mr. Carter upon reaching his 81st birthday hale and full of vigor, and hope he may reach 100 to call in his neighbors who love him so well. Big Shipment of Granite.
Messrs Mathison & Hawken, marble and granite dealers of this town, received on Friday last the largest shipment of granite monuments ever imported into the county of Ontario, totalling upwards of 100 tons. Their storeroom is filled with magnificent pieces of granite direct from Europe, nearly every monument being of an entirely new design. There are Swedes, Peterhead, Hill of Fare, and Carnation Red. It was never our privilege heretofore to look upon so fine a lot of works of art. Messrs Mathison and Hawken are not excelled as marble and granite artists in the Dominion, and they have now a stock on hand which will meet the varied tastes of all who come along, and which will do fitting honor to those who have found their last resting places as well as expressing the love of those left behind. We have pleasure in directing attention to this fine stock of monuments, and hope such enterprise may lead to a large number of good sales. Col. Paterson Again Attacks us.
We have another letter from Col. Paterson giving a most emphatic denial to every statement we have made about the rifle matches of the 24th battalion last year. We did not publish Col. Paterson's former letter, and we do not intend to publish the one at present before us, for the reason that both are wanting in essential respect. Any newspaper writer is always willing to publish letters contradicting his own statements, or opposing his own views, but it is always considered necessary to secure publication through the correspondent should we manage respectful to the editor. When Col. Paterson says our statements are false as well as that we are a calumniator, and that we have the cheek of a canal horse, he may be correct as to the facts, but we do not intend to be somewhat wanting in courtesy. However, we are fully prepared to make public all of Col. Paterson's denials, and he does not fall short of declaring that every thing connected with last year's rifle matches at Uxbridge was done on the square. He admits that Raines, Mustard and McGrattan, who represented the Uxbridge company, had never been volunteers though he says that McGrattan would have gone to the front this year if the regulations would have permitted a man of his age. The fact is he was entered in the matches because he is a good shot, and so were the others who are named above. When other officers arrived at Uxbridge for the matches they had real volunteers along to shoot for the prizes. They recognized that these matches are held to stimulate rifle practice among the volunteers, and that McGrattan and Uxbridge prepared to be defeated in an honorable competition, by bona fide volunteers. Arrived there they found that the Uxbridge company was loaded up with cranks who were not and never would be volunteers. The visiting officers kicked, but found the cranks were going to shoot, so an effort was made to scrape up good shots to meet the emergency. We do not commend this latter act, but we do commend the people's subscriptions from the proper purpose until they become convinced that the whole thing was a game of grab. Does Col. Paterson want the public to understand that all these things went on without his vigilant eye seeing what was doing? Why was not every man who was not a bona fide volunteer stripped of his red coat and fired out of the lines? That wholesale protests were afterward put in and allowed shows how ill-managed were the matches at the time of the shooting, and we make bold to express the opinion of a good many officers that these protests would not have fared so well had not the other game cranks shown up. Such a hippopotamus was made of the real volunteers. Are those who are being asked to subscribe for this year's matches to see their money fooled away and all sorts of cranks allowed to shoot on a bogus enrollment? We do not hesitate to express the opinion that the way last year's matches were conducted did not result in stimulating rifle practice among the real volunteers. Col. Paterson keeps on reminding us that we know nothing about military matters, which is true. At the same time we have enough gumption to stop one company from making a two-day rifle match into a pot-hunting business. We do not propose to be bullied or forced to subscribe in this manner. We are in no way to blame for letting last year's matches a farce and a source of disgust to nearly the whole battalion, and to everybody else, must bear the condemnation. We may not understand military tactics, but we do understand the motives of the military men who have to umpire between real and bogus volunteers.

Miss Powell is the guest of Miss Brimacombe at Port Bowmanville.
Peter Christie was in town yesterday.
Wm Smith Ex-M. P. was in town on Thursday.
Warden King, County Crown Attorney Farewell, Alex Chisholm and a lot more of Whitby, were registered at the Mansion House Tuesday evening, and on Wednesday morning started on a fishing excursion to Black River. When we first saw Warden King we thought he must surely be in town looking after the Park road bridge, but it was later that he was looking for "bites," and he went to a good place to get them—supposing they were only mosquito bites.—Uxbridge Times.
