(We sympathize with Capt Sharpe, besides his letter places us in a position which we would gladly have avoided. When Captain Sharpe tells us that he expected Mayor Raines, of Uxbridge, Prof Mustard, of an American university and Thos McGrattan to orill as privates, we feel obliged to question either his sanity or his guilibility. Taking his own word for it, which for his own sake we are sorry to have to do, we must conclude that he was guilible and has not yet been able to see it. He says these men were protested against on the grounds that they would never got orill, and so it proved Lieut Robinson it seems had more powers of divination than Capt Sharp. As to the high aggregate made by No 5 at the range at Niagara we have heard that discussed too, and while we do not call to mind the particulars just now yet we feel we could throw considerable light on that brilliant achievement, if the gallant captain requires it.
