The Burglars Experience.

Man Who Picks Things Tells of Time When he Did Not.

Being a "trusty," the man in the striped clothes was permitted liberties not accorded other prisoners, by reason of which the reporter had an opportunity to talk with him

"But of all the experiences I ever had," he said, after telling a story or two, "the one that made me feel queerer than any o her was one that I ran in on unexpectedly one night while I was engaged in investigating a house in the suburbs which a servant had told me was dead easy if I went at it right. It was about I oclock in the morning and I was getting back to the city, owing to the fact that the job was a failure, because the whole place had been lined up on the outside with iron shutters, and I was cursing my luck and the servant when what should I see but a finely dressed man coming along the lonely sidewalk in a hurry. It struck me he had missed his conveyance and was living close enough to walk, and he was just footing it home. could see a diamond glint in his shirt front as the light of the street lamp fell on him, and he wore a watch chain that looked like it might have something handsome on it for a ticker. He looked to be about 60, and I thought he wouldnt be hard to handle, so in a minute I had made my mind up to get some satisfac tion for coming away out there in the suburbs, and I dropped into the shadow of the high hedge and waited for my friend to get into position. At the $1.00. proper time I stepped out in front of him with my gun smack in his face.

"'Hold up your hands, says I in the usual style, though I was a little nervous. not being used to that kind of work like Assumption of the Cartwright was to housework.

"'Im sorry I cant accommodate you," says he as cool as a cucumber, and sticking up one hand, 'but Ive only got one. I lost the other at Gettysburg.

"Well, that answer paralyzed me as much as if I had been struck in the back of the neck with a solid shot, and for a minute I couldnt do a thing but stand there and look at him. You see, I had been a soldier myself. and I couldn't go up against any talk like that, so I dropped my gun and told him that I was sorry to have disturbed him, not know ing he was a soldier, for Id been one my self, and if hed excuse me Id skip out and say no more about it. He laughed a little and said he guessed as we were both old soldiers we would just call it square, and then I took to the road and ran faster than I did at the first Bull Run fight.

GOING TO DYE

Successful Dyeing Can Only be Done With Diamond Dyes.

Thousands dye this month. The vast majority make the work profitable and pleasant, while others are confronted with disappointment, despair and ruin. The happy and successful dyers are those who always use the Diamond dyes that produce the brightest, fastest and most lasting colors. The discontented and unhappy ones are the few that use the common and crude package and soap grease dyer, giving muddy and blotchy colors.

The Sons of England oyster feed and concert was a huge success. The oysters were like small greased pancakes in size and all one could eat unless he was an expert at the trade. The literary part of the concert was well worth the money. and the musical part couldnt be excelled for variety. Mr McKenzie is an orchestra all by himself. Mr Beech never loses any of his well deserved praise. The vocal music was well selected and rendered. But the life of the affair was the chairman, in the person of Dr J C Mitchell, our next representative for West Durham in the legislative assembly. under the sway of Premier Hardy. The Enfield band filled in the vacancies, and is not very brisk with him. He has Waal, I should smile!"

Is there a tickling in the throat? Do you cough a great. deal, especially when lying down? Are you hoarse at times? Does nearly every cold you take settle in your throat? These "throat coughs" are very deceptive. Don't neglect them. Troches, or cough syrups won't touch the spot. You must take remedies that will enrich the blood, tone up the nerves; and heal the inflamed membranes.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites contains such remedies. It has wonderful nourishing and healing power. The cause of the cough is removed; the whole system is given new life and vigor; and the danger from threatening lung trouble is swept away.
