THE WORLD.

Eliza Linharat, a distinguished German authoress, committed suicide by throwing herself into the sea at Civita Vecchia.

Thursday, the 13th of January, is generally spoken of in ministerial circles, at Ottawa, as the date for the opening of Parliament.

A bill has passed the Mexican house authorizing United States troops to pursue Indians over the Mexican borders and vice versa.

General Grant took his first ride on the elevated railway on Tuesday.

Mr. Jos. E. Macdonell says it is mere imagination on the part of the Globe Ottawa correspondent to say that he is to be a commissioner to investigate the affairs and morale of the Northwest mounted police.

During the Indian summer a rag baby stuffed into the hood of an ulster, to represent a pappoose, would be apropos.

It is the fashion for wealthy Asiatics to build little places in Paris. A wealthy Arab is just now erecting one in the Moorish style on the Boulevard de Concorde.

The effect of the recent low railroad rates at St. Louis has been to enormously increase the amount of travel. A trip to Chicago costs only seventy cents.

California is picking up a large trade in shipping preserved potatoes to England. The tubers are pressed and dried and will keep any number of years.

PUBLIC OPINION.

KINGSTON WHIG: It is enough at present to note that all parties seem agreed as to the necessity of public economy in the matter of legislation, and the fact that a saving of over one hundred thousand dollars every alternate year may be effected by the adoption of biennial sessions will prove a strong argument in favor of the change.

THE VILLAGE BELLE.

She Elopes with a Telegraphic Lothario

A sensational elopement is reported from Wingham. The lady in the case is Miss Emma, eldest daughter of Mr. Alex. McKibbin, the wealthiest man in the place. About three years ago a young man named Michael Quigley, telegraph operator at Lucan, Ailsa Craig and other points on the Grand Trunk railway, went to Wingham, where he started a shop for the sale of fruit, oysters, candy, etc. He had also charge of the Dominion wires in his establishments. Quigley made poor headway in his business, and was unable to meet his engagements, and the store was closed shortly after it was opened. During his stay in Wingham he made the acquaintance of Miss McKibbin with whom he professed to have fallen in love. The young lady encouraged his advances, and in turn became infatuated with her darling Mike. Quigley openly boasted of his future prospects, saying in the hearing of certain parties, 'I guess I'll come into some pretty tall property one of these days. How would I do for the landlord of the Brunswick House?' Quigley's parents live at Lucan, and it is supposed that he was aided by one or more of his brothers. The meeting took place at 4 p.m. on Monday, the 4th of October, and at 10 p.m. the couple were united in marriage by a Methodist minister residing at Blythe. The couple remained at Blythe all night, and next morning departed for Lucan, where they remained a few days, when, finding it impossible to appease the wrath of an incensed parent, Michael deemed it prudent to decamp, forgetting to leave his post-office address. Mr. Quigley's reputation in the past was that he was rather fast, but of late he has been steady. It is reported that Mr. McKibbin has entered an action against Mr. Quigley on the grounds that his daughter was not of age, and that the services of the clergyman were obtained by Quigley under false pretences. Miss Emma McKibbin, who had just arrived at her seventeenth year, is a young lady of remarkably pleasing appearance, and was looked upon as the belle of Wingham.

THE OLD PROVERB.

Half the World Doesn't Know How the Other Half Lives.

This morning as a reporter of this paper was passing along one of the principal streets in the city, he espied a middle-aged and healthy-looking man busily engaged in gathering up horse-chestnut leaves and thrusting them into a bag. He asked the man what he did with them, and was told in reply that he sold them to gardeners for mulching purposes. A few more questions elicited more remarkable facts in regard to this man's life. He said he got one cent a bag for the leaves and that he made about forty cents a day. It kept him very busy to do this, but still he managed to accomplish it with much labor and toil. On this he supported a wife and children. Before the leaves began to fall he used to pick up strings, paper bones, etc., along the wharves and dumping grounds, making thirty cents a day. His wife had washed during the summer, but she would be disabled through the whole winter from helping him, by an expected sickness. The man seemed quite cheerful, and long before the reporter had turned the corner he was whistling 'Wait for the wagon' with all his might.

From Yesterday's Last Edition

TELEGRAPHIC PARAGRAPHS.

The report that Victoria and his band had been destroyed is not believed by the Texas army officers at San Antonio.

Arrangements have been completed for the prosecution of thirteen of the land leaguers. Parnell is among the number.

A family of emigrants, consisting of a man and two women, were found frozen to death six miles from Springfield, Minn.

The Algonia Pioneer says that the fine and cost of the prosecution against the 'Francis Smith,' for selling liquor to Indians, amounted to $420.

A Tribune's Washington special says that it is stated there remains a discrepancy of $18,000 between the account with the soldiers' home rendered by General Butler and those rendered by the associate members of the board.

POLICE COURT.

There was a flutter in the police court this morning when Grip entered and gravely took his seat at the table. 'Who is he after now?' was the question which passed from lip to lip. The police magistrate looked uneasy and examined his handsome visage in a pocket-glass. Lawyer Murphy had his ears back and pulled his hair down over them. Mr. Macnamara kept his back on the cartoonist and never looked round. The man with the hyacinthine locks postured gracefully, and looked more like the great William. He wasn't after any of them however, he only wanted the physiognomy of the little Telegraph man for a label for a soap box. They were all disappointed.

DRUNKS.

There were only three drunks this morning, and they were all let go.

LARCENY.

Richard McCandless was charged with stealing a number of minor articles from Mrs. Thompson, of this city. A servant of Mrs. Thompson saw the prisoner in the house taking the articles. The prisoner admitted being in the house, was found guilty, and was sentenced to thirty days in goal.

James Lynch was charged with shouting and screaming 'Police' on Adelaide street. He was dismissed, as the evidence against him was not ready. He went away very happy.

Sydney Anderson, charged with larceny, who has been remanded five times, was further remanded to-day, as the crown has not been able to work up a case against him.

Moses O'Brien charged James Nicholson with the non-payment of wages. The amount was ordered to be paid.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

The following persons were in court this morning to answer a charge of having unlawful weights and measures in their possession: W. J. Collins, J. J. Kelley, W. A. Andrews, Jos. Lennox, Jas. A. Sloane, Ed. Gough, (three cases), J. F. Ross, Thos. Wilson, Wm. Power, Thos. Noble, and Geo. Baker.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

Heavy Fines on Guilty Grocers.

There was unusual interest about the police court to-day on account of the trial of a number of grocers and tavern-keepers for having illegal weights in their possession. The general public are indebted to Messrs. Bolster and Bowman for the successful manner in which they have worked up their cases, not one falling to the ground. The cases were all proven successfully, and many frauds on the poor public were unearthed. The stirring up of the dry bones will have a beneficial effect, as it will be a sharp reminder to others that it will be unhealthy for them to keep illegal weights and measures in their possession. The following are the

NAMES OF THE OFFENDERS:

Jas. Park, three unstamped weights, fined $25 or thirty days; William Power, illegal quart measure, fined $10 and costs or thirty days; Thos. Noble, illegal half-gallon measure, $10 or thirty days; Geo. Baker, an illegal measure, $10 and costs or thirty days; W. J. Collins, illegal pint measure, $10 or thirty days; Jas. J. Kelley, illegal quart measure, $12 or thirty days; James Lennox, illegal half-gallon, $25 without costs; Jas. A. Sloane, illegal half pint, $10 and costs; Ed. Gough, illegal quart measure, $25 and costs.

AGRICULTURAL COMMISSION.

Our Native Woods—Their Destruction—The Flax Industry.

At the morning session of the Agricultural Commission to-day, R. Hay, M.P., gave evidence as to the different kinds of wood grown in the country used in the manufacture of furniture. He said the farmers of the country were annually destroying an immense amount of valuable wood. Black walnut, which was once so plentiful in the western part of the Province, has been so much taken out for one purpose or another, that instead of manufacturers being able to obtain it here they have to import it from Indiana and other parts of the U. S. He recommended the re-planting of forest trees and the husbanding of second growth timber.

John Donaldson gave evidence as to the cultivation of flax in Canada, saying that the industry could be increased to a very large extent, as any district in the Province was suitable for its growth. At present there were forty flax-mills in the Province, but there was only one place where ropes and cordage were manufactured, and none where linen was produced.

Mr. James Mills, M. A., president Agricultural College, Guelph, gave valuable information concerning his institution. He pointed out what good effects the college had already had, and how its influence might still further be increased by additional grants from the government, especially for the establishment of a chemical laboratory, where as many as eighty students could be accommodated at once.

TWO HORNS TOO MUCH.

Last evening a large car load of fat cattle arrived in this city from Guelph, on their way to Montreal. This morning a Swedish emigrant named Walkinshaw, who has recently been employed to feed the cattle, entered the car to feed the animals. Being utterly unaccustomed to the work, and being dressed in the coarse red flannel shirt of his native country, his appearance enraged a large bull, which pinned him to the grating of the car. He shrieked for help, and was rescued before he suffered any further injury than a fractured rib or two. The crowded condition of the car prevented him from being killed. He was carried to his home, a wretched hovel in the west end, where the lamentations of his poor wife roused the whole neighborhood.

Lieut.-Col. Moffatt, of London, arrived in town this forenoon, and is staying at the Walker House.

INTERNATIONAL FOOTBALL.

University College to Play Harvard—The Team—The Match in Boston.

The Rugby football club of University College has accepted the challenge of Harvard to play a game in Boston a week from Saturday, though an effort will be made to have the event moved one week further on. The fifteen selected to represent Toronto are: Gwynne, Morphy, Keefer, McKay, Blake (E. W. H.), George, Woodruff, Macdougall, Armour, Brock, Campbell (C. J.), McAndrew, Lindsey, Helmcken, and MacCallum. As neither Woodruff nor MacCallum will likely be able to go it is proposed to play the match with eleven a side, though if Harvard insist on it fifteen men will be sent.

After this match the Harvards come to Montreal and Ottawa, and probably they will visit this city.

A Well Merited Compliment.

The following is what the Broad Arrow, a leading military journal of England, says about Col. Otter's little militia manual 'The Guide': 'This manual is as complete a work of its kind as anything which has been published. It treats of the interior economy, duties, discipline, dress, books, and correspondence of a regiment while in barracks, in camp, or at home. It gives the bugle calls, and contains a complete set of the forms which are in use. There are instructions for transport, pitching tents, &c. The duties of the several ranks are concisely and clearly described, and altogether the work is one that reflects the greatest credit upon its author, because it shows that he is inspired by the true soldierly spirit, and that he wishes to inspire that spirit in others.'

Supposed Larceny.

Detective Reburn has arrested a woman named Jane Symonds for a supposed larceny. The following articles were found on her person when arrested, six table napkins, one antimacassar, one toilet cover, one grey tweed coat, one revolving silver butter cooler, one granite coffee pot (new), two silver salt spoons marked with the initials E. C. The woman has been remanded until an owner can be found. The goods are at the detective's office.

Rev. Dr. Wild and His Admirers.

The Brooklyn (N.Y.) Union contains the report of a meeting held in that city, at which it was resolved to build a fifty thousand dollar church, to be called the First Identity church in the world. The gentlemen present expressed the determination to secure Dr. Wild, who recently took charge of Bond street Congregational church, for their pastor, but it is hardly likely that the reverend gentleman will so soon abandon his position in this city.

Drunken Assault.

Last evening about six o'clock two drunken young men made a cowardly assault on three young girls near the corner of Duncan and Adelaide streets. They rushed upon them and drove the frightened girls into the middle of the street, and finally chased them for the distance of a block. All the while they used the most disgusting language. Unfortunately there were no men near to punish the cowardly scamps.

Sheriff Merrick.

The L'Original News thus speaks of our late citizen, Mr. Jerry Merrick:—The new sheriff was in attendance at the assizes last week, and was complimented on all hands on the manner in which he performed the duties devolving upon him. There is no doubt that Mr. Merrick will make an admirable sheriff and prove quite an acquisition to the county town. He has already made numerous warm friends.

Served Him Right.

Last night a young woman came out of a King street store holding in her hand a patent paper bag full of oysters. While waiting for a car she was approached by one of these King street flash gaudies, who raised his glossy plug and presumed to address her. The girl said not a word, but quietly raised the bag and struck the ruffian over the face, spilling the oysters all over his exquisitely made clothes.

A Wagon Wrecked.

This morning as a grand trunk freight train was running west across Church street on the Esplanade, the locomotive struck the rear end of a wagon owned by Mr. Nairn. The box and rear wheels were completely wrecked and the driver thrown violently to the ground. He escaped with a bad scare and a few bruises. It will take $30 to repair the damage.

Stuck in the Mud.

Last evening the schooner Annie Glover cleared from this port for Kingston. The wind was strong and in going out of the west gap the vessel stuck in the mud. She waited for a turn of the wind which took her off. Her rigging was badly strained and a seam opened at her water line.

The Winter Fuel.

Jerry Sheehan's gang is busily unloading coal out of the St. Louis, now lying at Nairn's wharf. Jerry is stevedore, and has 6,000 tons to unload before the middle of November. He can unload 300 tons a day and gets 15 cents a ton. It is well worth seeing the work, which presents a busy scene.

Badly Hurt.

Last evening as a man named Grierson, who lives in Yorkville, was, assisted by his wife, carrying a small coal stove up stairs, they lost their balance, and the stove rolled down stairs with terrible force, carrying Grierson with it. He was badly hurt, the
