Last night the third annual sleighing party of Messrs. Henrie & Co. took place to the Woodbine hotel, Kingston road. There was a large crowd and all spent a most enjoyable time.

Men employed by the Toronto street railway company are continually employed in keeping the King street track clear of snow with shovels. The consequence is that the general traffic with sleighs and cutters is greatly interfered with. It is pleasant to observe how many of our citizens take an interest in the sparrows. The remains of lunch in many offices are broken up and carefully spread on the window sills for the benefit of the hardy little immigrants. Almost any morning a man who is evidently a laborer can be seen coming up Adelaide street to his work, and as he moves along he scatters crumbs on the sidewalk for his feathered friends. In to act on Ald. Boswell's motion, some parts of the city grain is freely scattered about so that in the severe weather the little birds that stick to us through thick and thin may not want.

Who is to Blame?

It would seem as if the military authorities are training the cadets of the military school not only in drill and tactics, but also attempting to inure them to the rigors of a campaign in midwinter. At least it is certain that during this spell of arctic weather there is no stove going in any part of the drill shed, and as the cadets are compelled to be there four and five hours a day the want of a fire is severely felt. The result of this carelessness or niggardliness is that about a third of the gentlemen attending the school are suffering from coughs, colds and kindred affections.

POLICE BENEFIT FUND.

Chief Constable Draper, under instrucion of the police commissioners, last night applied to the council for an annual grant towards the benefit of the force. To this fund each member will contribute two per cent. of his pay monthly, and it will be further augmented by placing the police reserve fund as it now stands to its credit, and also by adding to it all future stoppages of pay by fines or sickness. Mr. Draper hoped the council would aid the movement by an annual grant of $1000 for a period of five years. The establishment of this fund does not meet with the approval of a large number of the force, a fact which it would be well for the executive committee to remember when it considers the application.

THE NORTHERN ACCIDENT.

Further particulars of the accident on the Northern railway yesterday give the following as among those most seriously injured Mr. Tennant, lumber merchant, of Toronto, cut about the head and face; Mr. Walker, a traveller for a Montreal house, face lacerated; Miss Emma Bingham of Bradford, sister of Mr. W. R. Bingham of the American hotel here, badly bruised about the head and body; Mr. Hoynes of Selina, Kansas, severe blow in the side. Dr. Machell of this city dressed their injuries.

The body of Thomas Fulford was brought home this morning shortly after 2 o'clock, by the train which should have reached here at 9:30 last night. Deceased is spoken of as an exemplary young man, and his untimely end is deeply deplored by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and two infant children, the younger only being three weeks old. The cause of the accident cannot be fixed. The track where it occurred is in good condition and there does not appear to have been anything wrong with the train. The three cars have not yet been hauled up on the track. They are not seriously damaged.

Purchase of Broken Stone Work for the Unemployed-Church Work at the City's Expense-Court-House Committee Other Matters.

The city council sat for three hours last night. In that time the aldermen transacted considerable business, some of which is very important. Mr. Mayor McMurrich called order at 7:40.

After routine the council went into committee on the first report of the executive, Ald. Baxter in the chair. The first matter tha casioned discussion was the clause recommending the purchase of 1000 toise of unbroken stone for the purpose of giving

WORK TO THE UNEXPLOYED. While no one had a greater sympathy for the poor man than Ald. Ryan, that gentleman thought the council should economize, and moved that only 500 toise be purchased. Ald. Ball was not of that opinion. The board of works had, he said, a surplus of $800, which could not be better expended than in the manner proposed by the report. Ald. Steiner corrected the worthy alderman by stating that the balance was not much more than $200. While not exactly opposing the recommendation Ald. Trees and Kent felt that they should first have a report from the captured the York street wharf for next engineer as to the amount of the stone required and where is should be located. The chairman of the works committee replied that Mr. Brough had already recommended it. Ald. Blevins was aided in the support of his report by Ald. Crocker and Baxter, the latter remarking that it would

> PENNY WISE AND POUND FOOLISH to purchase a small amount. An amendment of Ald. Kent to refer the clause back to the committee was lost, as also was that of Ald. Ryan. The clause passed.

In reference to the weekly labour pay sheets of the works committee, Ald. Ryan said he was informed that they included the expense of carting away earth from the cellar of a church (Grace church) in St John's ward. If this was true he required an explanation. Ald. Blevins promised to enquire into the matter and reply at next meeting. On motion of Ald. Mitchell the clause in the fire and gas committee's report to erect a blacksmith's forge on his promises on Bathurst street, was referred back. Ald. Ball was about the only one who supin future allowed to buy their own fuel, was of opinion that the property committee, which control the fuel supply of the city, when the whole is bought at once.

MR. MARTIN'S RAVINGS already, and should listen to him no longer. He disapproved of Ald. Boswell's motion, and said Ald. Farley's suggestion was not worthy of a moment's notice, it being monstrous to ask the present citizens to pay for what would be a permanent improvement.

Ald. Evans thought it would be well as it would inspire the public with confidence. At this stage Ald. Boswell proposed the name of Mr. Kivas Tully as consulting engineer. "Oh," said Ald. Boustead, "I've seen Mr. Tully and he entirely approves of the plan. So does Mr. Withrow, who is a practical man." After some further discussion Ald. Boswell's motion was taken as a rider to the report, and the whole was carried. Mr. Tully being named as consulting engineer with Mr. Brough. THE PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

Credit Valley—The Dry Dock—Island Lots-Woodside Property Again-Clock for Queen Street Fire Hall.

The property committee met yesterday afternoon, all the members being present, with Ald. Irwin in the chair. The Credit Valley railway through its solicitor, Mr. R. M. Wells, asked for leave to extend its rails eastward as far as York street. Mr. Wells said it would be perfectly legal for the council to allow the request. Mr. Walter Cassels, on behalf of the Grand Trunk, asked the committee to defer the matter for a week, which was done.

The old and much vexed question of building

A DRY DOCK in the marsh, came up again. Mr. Coghill, the projector of the scheme, applied for the stripe of land reserved by the council for railway purposes. The stripe is 150 feet wide, and Mr. Coghill said he could not build a dock without it. Ald. Boswell and Lobb supported the application, but Ald. Steiner and Farley felt that some reservation should be kept for railways. The request was granted on the casting vote of the Several matters came up in reference to island lots. Mr. Frank Somers and Mr. Popham, of club chambers, applied for a lease of lot 14. On reference to the secretary it was learned that there were ten or a dozen other applications for this same property, which consists of about five acres. Mr. Hill was requested to report full information to the committee and its next meeting. Mr. Scott, barrister, asked the committee to endorse an assignment of lot 55 Morphy's claim in regard to lot 6 was deferred for a week. Ald. Lobb introduced his pet scheme of

He moved that Mr. Defoe's offer to sell the property by arbitration be accepted. Ald. Boswell said it would do no harm to reconsider the matter and Ald. Farley spoke to the same effect. Ald. Lobb's motion passed, Ald. Steiner being the only nay. On motion of Ald. Farley, Mr. Alex. Manning was recommended as arbitrator for the city, although Ald. Lobb On motion of Ald. Farley, suggested Mr. Withrow.

Ald. Farley moved that a clock be placed in the tower of Queen street fire hall at a cost not exceeding $400. Ald. Steiner was the only member who offered opposition to the motion. It passed with little discus-

A STARTLING STROKE.

The Council Grant Permission to the Metropolitan Company to Build Eight Miles of Street

Railway. In a few minutes' time, and without a single dissenting voice, the city council last night granted permission to the new Metropolitan street railway company to lay tracks on different streets to the extent of eight miles or more. The propositions made by the Metropolitan street railway company in 1878, and accepted by the corneil, to lay down certain lines of railway were adopted, the Toronto street railway company having declined at that time

The motion, which set forth the facts connected with the case at considerable length, was introduced by Ald. Boswell and seconded by Ald. Ryan. The rules of order were suspended, the resolution was put, no voice was raised against it, the mayor declared it carried, and the council quietly passed on to the next business while ex-Ald. REDUCTION OF EXEMPTIONS.

The member for West Toronto proposes to introduce a bill into the legislature for the further reduction of existing exemptions. Mr. Bell contemplates making building and loan societies, insurance and other incorporated companies, pay taxes upon the actual par value of their shares; making ministers pay taxes upon their salaries and dwellings; taxing mortgages on their par value; reducing exemptions upon places of earning, etc., etc. Th's question, along with others, will be considered by the legislation committee this afternoon.

A row occurred yesterday on the street car line on King street, near the corner of Berkeley. A farmer was driving on the railway track when a street car came along. The old man having his own notions as to right of way refused to drive out of the road. The matter was adjusted finally by the car driver jumping off and "whaling" the sturdy "tiller of the soil" who then saw sturdy made to him by Mr. A. H. Dymond. Re-ferred to the city solicitor. Mr. George lost no time in getting clear of the car. A MASONIC TEMPLE.

The Matter Under the Consideration of the City Craft-Two Feasible Schemes.

Toronto Masons are just now realizing the necessity that exists for erecting a masonic temple in this city, and although the matter him to do so, and he felt their request has been referred to a committee for consideration the question is being actively discussed by individual members of the craft? Of the many schemes suggested there are only two feasible. The first is to raise $150,000, and with this sum erect in some suitable and central locality an imposing edifice, the upper portion to be used by the order and the lower let out as offices and stores. The second, and most feasible, is to raise the sum of $50,000 and with it purchase and remodel two King street stores. It is conceded that the latter sum could easily be raised, as many of our city lodges would invest their surplus funds in the scheme, and the wealthy members of the order would contribute liberally towards its success. If this were successfully accomplished, aid could be obtained from grand lodge, as they contemplate permanently locating their offices in this city. From present indications, it is evident the matter will assume definite shape, and ere long another structure will be added to the already long list of handsome public buildings for which this city is noted.

The trick was very artistically done, but it has been played so often that any one ought to be too wise to be taken in by it. The case is proceeding as we go to press for the first edition.

(From the American Garden.) In the garden were leisurely walking Brave Robin and Roxy the fair, And Robin, while walking and talking, Twined roses in Roxy's brown hair, Rosebuds and roses all blushing, With sprigs of the sweet mignonette, While the blood to their faces kept rushing When Robin's eyes Roxy's eyes met.

Jasamine, laburnum, and larkspur,

Verbenas, deep-dyed and pa'e; Gay pansies and white valley lilies Heard love tell his stammering tale. While the lovers kept walking and talking, Four eyes bent down to the ground, Two hearts had been lost, they discovered, And then discovered them—found;

The lost and found hearts-for a while: o each plucked a new and fresh nosegay, And each gave the other a smile.

But didn't know what to do with them-

Each a stem of forget-me-not gathered, And each said, "Oh, take and keep this." Their vows thus exchanged with fresh flowers, They sealed the exchange—with a kiss.

Fidelity, secrecy, silence, Each promised to faithfully hold, Till Robin could earn for his Roxy A home and some shekels of gold. But, alas, some open-cared listeners, Winged messengers hurrying by, Saw want had been done in the garden, And tattled to earth and to sky.

"O! Robin and Roxy are lovers." They piped with a song and a shout,
"And have plighted their throth in the garden;"
So the delicate secret was out.

The world soon had the whole story, Which Robin could not deny;
And Roxy, when bintered about it,
Blushed back 'neath a mischievous eye.

BARRIE. Blackmailing An Innocent Landlord.

BARRIE, Feb. 1.—There is in Barrie rather pretentious-looking edifice, in the front of which appears the inscription, in glaring characters in gold, "Private board-It once was a private boarding ing. house, but now, in justice to that deserving industry, it perhaps is deserving of a harder name. It is a leasehold tenement; the landlord, a grass-widower; the tenant, a grass-widow; and up till the time of the unfortunate occurrence hereinafter mentioned no couple lived more happily than they beneath the same roof, ing the double relation of landlord and tenant, boarding mistress and boarder. Numerous parties visited the establishment, but took up not any apartments there, though they may have been looking for Amongst those, however, who remained, and who could therefore with propriety be designated boarders, was one, a frail daughter of Eve. Amongst those whose visits were merely temporary were men whose calls the pious landlord appreciates not, and in one mad hour he dared and did accuse the fair landlady of using his mansion for unlawful purposes. What transpired between this interview and the one that so soon followed is not known It appears that though this frail boarder and the veteran landlord had frequently met within the walls of the same boardinghouse, no suspicion of evil entered his breast. However, on the night, or rather evening, in question, while he was in the act of dressing betore tea, a certain gentle-man called in his room, stating that Mrs. -, meaning the boarder in question, was about leaving for Toronto, and "had he not better have her address;" but he had no use for it. Scarcely had this individual left the room when Mrs.—entered, nothwith-standing the partially undressed state of the landlord. A brief respite ensued, when in rushed the landlady and the other gentleman. Now, Greek meets Greek and the landlord is furiously assailed with language such as this, "I've caught you, now, you old rascal; you would accuse an innocent woman of using your house for unlawful purposes." "You must forgive me two months' rent and the taxes or I'll expose you." Against this, however, the landlord of course protested as an innocent man. But the cause of the trouble was not to be left in the cold. Her wailings of "What will I do?" "Must I leave the house?" "I did not mean any harm" were heart-rending to hear but they had the effect she so much desired and some one calmed her fears by a small pecuniary donation, and on the following morning with a light heart she sped on her way to Toronto.
