IN MEMORIAM

ROBERTSON
Don (Father)

Twenty-nine years ago you left this world, leaving us with so many questions. Day after day I ask mom, wonder what our lives would be like if dad never died. I was only a baby and I was robbed of a life with a dad.

People say that I look like you and resemble you when I do certain things. When I hear that, it gives me great pleasure and touches my heart.

They say anyone can be a dad, but it takes someone special to be a father and I know in my heart you would have been a great FATHER.

I miss you and love you.
-Tami

VANDAMME, Lauraine

In memory of a Dear Sister, Lauraine Vandamme, who passed away January 1, 2006.

You left a place no one can fill,

I miss you now and always will.

We laugh, we smiled and play our part,

Behind it all lays a broken heart.

No words I speak can ever say,

How much I miss you every day.

- Always remembered by Little Brother Edward

Cardinal Carter announces Remembrance Day contest winners

The Canadian Royal Legion youth education chairman recently announced the winners of the Remembrance Day poster, poem and essay contest. Peaceful Veteran John Garton presented five Cardinal Carter students with certificates and congratulations for their success. The senior poem winners were: 1st place Claudine Galy, 2nd Deanna Ryerse, and 3rd Laura Kocot. Sandra Shushani and Andrew Cervini won first and second for senior essays. Galy and Shushani will advance to the next level of the competition. Pictured left to right: Andrew Cervini, Claudine Galy, Sandra Shushani, Deann Ryerse, Laura Kocot and John Garton.

Land shortages and infrastructure challenges worry Ontario home builders

Ontario home builders predict dwindling land supplies and increases in land costs will be a significant barrier to efforts by the provincial government to implement its "Places to Grow" growth plan.

In a recent Ontario Home Builders' Association survey of its builder members, over 35 percent cited land supply worries as a major problem and almost 40 percent said land costs and availability are the biggest barriers to building affordable housing in Ontario.

"It's an uphill battle trying to maintain new home affordability," noted Brian Johnston, president of OHBA. "Unfortunately, provincial legislation designed to speed up and simplify the residential building process isn't working as it was intended and that's leading to frustration and costly delays."

Another major issue is infrastructure challenges. The relatively fast pace of growth in the province has left some areas without adequate roads, transit and residential services.

Over 60 percent of builders surveyed expect new home starts to decrease in 2007 compared to 2006. OHBA is forecasting 69,000 housing starts for 2007 compared to the 75,000 starts anticipated this year. Ontarians are projected to spend about $17 billion on home repair and renovations in 2007.
