As the Journal Record toasts its first 100 years, we're happily celebrating our first week!

It was a week ago today that the former "Casual Affair" changed its name . . . to offset the "sportswear only" image the business had developed.

One week, of course, is hardly time to assess the public reaction, but the comments to date have been almost totally favorable.

So, we're confident . . . when and if we ever reach 100 years . . . one of the meaningful milestones in our history will be the day we renamed the business.

Come in and look us over — we're anxious to serve you. Suits, shirts, ties, coats, jackets — they're all here in great profusion!
