POETRY.

Rock Me to Sleep.

Backward turn Backward, O, Time in your flight, Make me a child again, just for to-night! Mother, come back from the echoless shore, Take me again to your heart as of yore. Kiss from my forehead the furrows of care, Smooth the few silver threads out of my hair, Rock me to sleep, mother rock me to sleep !

Copper, Iron, and Backward, flow backward, O tide of years! I am so weary of toils and tears-Toil without recompence, tears all in vain-Take them and give me my childhood again! I have grown weary of dust and decay, Weary of flinging my s ul-wealth away,

Weary of sowing for others to reap:

Rock me to sleep, mother, rock me to sleep! Tired of the hollow, the base, the untrue, Mother, O mother, my heart calls for you! Many a summer the grass has grown green, Blossomed and faded our faces between, Yet with strong yearning and passionate pain, Long I to-night for your presence again ; Come from the silence so long and so deep; Rock me to sleep, mother, rock me to sleep!

Cver my heart in days that are flown, No love like mother-love ever was shown, Faithful, unselfish, and patient like yours ; From the sick soul and the world-weary brain Slumber's soft calm o'er my heavy lids creep. Rock me to sleep, mother, rock me to sleep!

Come let your brown hair just lighted with gold Fall on your shoulders again as of old, Let it fall over my forehead to-night, Shading my faint eyes away from the light, For with its sunny-edged shadows once more, Haply will throng the sweet visions of yore, Lovin ly, softly, its bright billows sweep;

Rock me to s eep, mother, rock me to sleep!

Mother, dear mother the years have been long Since I last hushed to your lullaby song ; Since then, ard into my soul it shall seem Womanhood's years have been but a dream. Clasped to your arms in a loving embrace. With your light lashes just sweeping my fact, Never hereafter to wake or to weep; Rock me to sleep, mother, rock me to sleep.
