POETRY.

"I Love Somebody." I'd swear for her-I'd tear for her-The Lord knows what I'd bear for her, I'd lie for her--I'd sigh for her-

I'd drink the Thames dry for her. I'd "cuss" for her-Do "wuss" for her-I'd kick up a thunderin' fuss for her, I'd weep for her-I'd leap for her-I'd go without sleep for her-

I'd fight for her-I'd bite for her-I'd walk the streets all night for her-I'd plead for her-I'd bleed for her-I'd go without my "feed" for her;

I'd shoot for her-I'd boot for her-A rival who'd come to "suit" for her ; I'd kneel for her-I'd steal for her-Such is the love I feel for her;

I'd slide for her-I'd ride for her-I'd swim 'gainst wind and tide for her ; I'd dry for her-I'd cry for her-

But-hang me if I'd die for her! "Go feel what I have Felt."

(A young lady of New York was in the 'Well,' said Bill, 'that'll have to do, swept around the office and arranged we found it would just enter the sewer the subject of temperance, whereupon she wrote the following stanzas:) Go feel what I have felt, Go bear what I have borne;

Sink 'neath the blows a father dealt, And the cold world's scorn ; And suffer on from year to year-The sole relief the scorehing tear.

Go, kneel where I have knelt, Implore, beseech and pray; Strive the besotted heart to melt, The downward course to stay; Be dashed with bitter curse aside, Your prayers burlesqued, your tears defied.

Go, weep as I have wept, O'er a loved father's fall; See every promised blessing swept-Youth's sweetness turned to gall--Life's fading flowers strewn all the way

Go, see what I have seen, Behold the strong man bow; With gnashing teeth, lips bathed in blood, A cold and livid brow; Go, catch his withering glance and see There mirrored his soul's misery.

Go, hear, and feel, and see, and know, All that my soul hath felt and known : Think, if its flavor you will try When all proclaim, "tis drink and die ! Tell me I hate the bowl;

Hate is but a feeble word ; I loathe-abhor-my very soul With a strong disgust is stirred,
