meeting, and having made a short speech in denunciation of the murder of Scott, he called upon the Hon. Wm. Mc Dougail to move the first resolution, which was as follows:

Resolved, That the proposal to recall, at the request of the agents of the rebel Government, the expedition now on its way to Fort Garry to establish law and order, would be an act of supreme folly an abdication of authority destructive of all confidence in the protection afforded to loyal subjects by a Constitutional Government; a death-blow to national honor; and calls for the prompt and indignant condemnation of the people of this Dominion.

Mr. McDougall moving the resolution. made a long speech, in the first part of which he recited in full the history of the North-West question, referring fully to its mode of acquisition, and to the measures adopted for its government, as well as to the manner in which he had been turned back when he went to assume the Lieut. Governorship of the Territory. He said he had received a promise from Sir George E. Cartier that he would obtain for him the recom mendation of the ecclesiastics of the Roman Catholic Church, both in Quebec and Ontario to their brethren in Red River, asking of them to aid securing peace and quietness in the country; but that promise had neve Been fulfilled. On the contrary, he had received something very different from Cartier's Government. The conduct of | tained that the pepole of Canada should Joseph Howe, in the Red River settlement-that of the Hudson's Bay Company's Officers, and the Roman Catholic Priests, were very severely criticised. He next referred to the demands made by Sir Stafford Northcote, on behalf of the Hudson's Bay Company, not only for their loss, but for the damage which had occurred to their trade in conse quence of the revolt of their own people under their own Government. After referring to the appointment of Bishop Tache, and the proceedings of the re cent meetings of the Red River Legisla ture, in which Father Richot produced a letter from the Secretary of State stating that two Ministers had been appointed to confer with the delegates ap pointed by the Provisional Government, thus contradicting the assertions of Sir John A. Macdonald, and other Ministers in the House of Commons last session that the delegates were not received a representing the Government. Mr. Mc Dougall referred to the provisions the Manitoba Bill, and then took up the consideration of the above resolution .-He thoroughly agreed with the pro priety of sending a military expedition to the Red River, which would see that law and order were to be maintained there and determined that the Feniar hig should no longer wave over For Garry and that rebels should not imprison loyal people. (Applause.) addition to this the expedition was of great benefit in the opening up of the country and deciding whether a summer line of communication from Lake Superior to Winnipeg was practicable .-Apart from the military aspect of the question, it would be worth a large por tion of the expenses of the expedition to bave this matter decided. Two-third of the Red River people were loyal, but they had no means to do anything, and they had heard besides that Canada was hesitating in her policy and squabbling with the Imperial Government.
