HELPLESS FOR A YEAR.

Bowed Down With Rheumatism and Sciatica.

From the Post, Sackville, N.B.
Records like the following carry conviction with them, and in a practical sense it might be said that this is still the age of miracles. Mr. Edward Downey, of Massac, N.B., says: "I have been a resident of Cumberland Co. some years. I have been a great sufferer from upwards of ten years with sciatic rheumatism. I was tortured with severe pains which at times would become almost unbearable, and I think I suffered almost everything a man can suffer and live. I was scrip-pled that I could not work and part of the time was not able to even move about. I became so weak, and my system so run down that I despaired of ever getting better. My case was an almost hopeless one, and as I had abandoned work I was almost helpless for over a year. I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I was induced to at least give them a trial. In a short time I began to recover and the agonizing pains left my back and limbs, so that I was enabled to walk out of doors.
Before I had used more than half a dozen boxes I was almost entirely well and could do a hard day's work. I had a good appetite and began to gain flesh and feel like a new man. I am free from aches and pains, and have Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to thank for it all." The reporter could not help feeling that Mr.
Downey's case was a striking one, as he now presents a stout well built figure, straight limed and as smart in his movements as a young man of twenty.

THE MARKED DOOR.

Long ago, when the children played in the poplars' greenness of light and shade,
Or danced at will through the dim old hall, Where the flickering shadows of vine-leaves fell,
Never a birthday brought its joys, To the lightsome hearts of the girls and boys, But they marked their height on the old hall door,
To compare with the inches they'd gained before.
Every fleeting and happy year,
Has left the trace of its passing here; There is the first-born's height at four—
The earliest mark on the old hall door—And again at six, and eight and ten; Ah, me! How tall he has grown since then!
The stern, grave soldier in army blue, Might scarcely pass this low doorway through.
Yet he stands to-night by his mother's chair,
With his mournful eyes and his sunny hair,
A lad of ten summers forever more, Charmed out of the past by the old hall door.
The upward rows of the twins are here,
The last mark down in their sixteenth year.
And, between them, their sisters, sweet and fair,
With calm blue eyes and braided hair.
One lad has written his boyhood's name, After years of toil, on the roll of fame, But the grave of the other is far away,
And the girls are mothers and wives to-day.
Yet they're here unchanged—they have grown no more,
Since the last mark made on the old hall door.
Long long since have the children strayed,
From the farmhouse old in the poplar shade.

One by one they have slipped away—
The nest is empty of all to-day, Hardly the mother her own may know, Where are the children of long ago?
Here alone, at the old hall door, In the hour of twilight they come once more.
And the mother, at rest in the same old chair,
Has all her darlings around her there.
Men and women no longer, they Are here, but the children of yesterday, With their old time frolics and glee, and noise,
Their April griefs and their childish joys,
Their fresh young hopes and their souls of truth,
Their fair ambitions and dreams of youth.
Oh! mother-heart! Though they all have grown,
So tall and strange they are here your own.
Always the same as in days of yore, You may find them still at the old hall door.

ANTIQUITY OF THE ROSE.

The antiquity of the rose is so great that all account of its origin has been lost. It is not mentioned in the Biblical writings earlier than the reign of Solomon, but the allusion to it then made is such as to indicate that the flower had already long been known, for the essence of roses was extensively used in Jerusalem and Judea during the reign of the luxurious and much-married king. In Egypt the rose is depicted on a number of very early monuments, believed to date from 3000 to 3500 B.C. and in the tomb of an Egyptian princess, disinterred a year ago in southern Egypt, several hermetically sealed vials were found, which, when opened, contained genuine attar of roses, so that the modern claims for the discovery of this delicious perfume are reinforced by the fact of its being mentioned by Homer in the "Iliad"; Homer and Solomon were nearly contemporaneous. Both the Greeks and Hebrews probably borrowed the idea of its manufacture from the Egyptians, and these, for aught anybody can tell, may have had it from the Indians or from the Chinese, for the latter claim for each of their discoveries and inventions, a most marvelous, not to say, incredible antiquity. The rose is one of those flowers which by the people of every land are taken for granted as so well known as to need no description and hardly mention, for it is a singular fact that every continent on the globe, with the solitary exception of Australia, produces wild roses. Even the frozen regions of the north, where the summer lasts but two or three months, and is at best a season which may be described as very late in the fall, produce their wild roses, and travelers through Greenland, Kamtschatka and northern Siberia, found in the proper season, an abundance of blossoms, while the crews of whaling vessels which call at Spitzbergen come off shore with bouquets of the native Spitzbergen rose.
All wild roses are not of the same kind, for there are over 1,000 species of the wild rose known to botanists, and the varieties are innumerable.

SIR KNIGHT JAMES OSBORNE, OF BARTON TENT, No. 2, CURED OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

"Kootenay" was the Remedy.

Word was received by Barton Tent, No. 2, of Hamilton, Ont., that Sir Knight James Osborne, was very ill, and the "sick committee" was instructed to wait upon him.

It was found that he was suffering from Bright's Disease, a disease heretofore pronounced incurable by the medical profession, and it was accepted as a matter of course that death was inevitable, and his lodge insurance would have to shortly be paid. What was their surprise to have him enter the lodge some time afterwards in good health.

His cure he ascribed simply to Kootenay Cure, as he took no other medicine.
Before starting its use he had all the characteristics of much to be dreaded Bright's Disease. His skin was pale and puffy. He had Indigestion, Heart Palpitation, Shortness of Breath, and great weakness. There was puffiness of the face and swelling of the legs. His urine was scanty, painful to pass and loaded with albumen.

He felt that life was slipping from his grasp with great rapidity. Kootenay Cure came to his rescue. It restored his kidneys to healthy action. It cleared out all the poisons that were pent up in the blood. It made him well.

A plaster made by spreading "Quick-ton removes "pain in the back," more quickly than any known plaster, its effect is almost beyond belief. Doctors now use it instead of those Plasters that contain the powerful poisons Aconite or Belladonna, which should be used only when your physician permits, as your system might be poisoned by absorption of the drugs in these plasters.

DIAMONDS IN SAND.

An explorer in the mountains of Witzius Hoek, Natal is said to have discovered a layer of sand inclosing small diamonds at the edge of a lake that occupies the crater of an extinct volcano. It is not known whether these diamonds were there as the result of washing operations carried on by the natives or whether the discovery corresponds to an actual diamond.
The hills of Witzius Hoek are not situated in regions known to be diamond bearing. The presence of the gems in the crater of a volcano may throw some light on their formation in nature.

A REAL LUXURY!
Looking out over the many homes of this country, we see thousands of women wearing away their lives in household drudgery that might be materially lessened by the use of a few cakes of SAPOLIO.
If an hour is saved each time a cake is used, if one less wrinkle gathers upon the face because the toil is lightened, she must be a foolish woman who would hesitate to make the experiment, and he a charlish husband who would grudge the few cents which it costs.
If your grocer sends you anything in place of SAPOLIO, send it back and insist upon having just what you ordered. SAPOLIO always gives satisfaction. On floors, tables, and painted work it acts like a charm. For scouring pots, pans, and metals it has no equal.
Everything shines after it, and even the children delight in using it in their attempts to help around the house.
Grocers often substitute cheaper goods for SAPOLIO to make a better profit.
Send back such articles and insist on having just what you ordered.
