Scarcely in the history of the towntention this week to our ship has the uncertainty of life been more practically taught than in the past fortnight. Six persons have been called away on short notice, five of those being close residents of the Corner, and the sixth, Mr. Oliver Leapord of Artemesia, who was raised in this locality, and who is a nephew of Mr. I. Crittenden. He died very suddenly from a hurt. The last victim was Tommy Havens, who has been staying most of the time at Mr. Frank Grasby's. On Wednesday he was attacked with what was at first supposed to be a mild attack of the croup, but which proved to the worst kind of diptheria. He died on Thursday morning and was buried that day in Maplewood cemetery, Rev. Mr. Clark conducting the ceremony. It is no doubt a fact, and is invariably s.nnounced that a man is made happy by the arrival of a bright boy at his home. Arch. Baird ought rived at his home on Sunday and are ; loaded cartridge.
