CORNER CONCERNS.

Accidents will happen to the best of threshers and so Frank Shields got his hand badly cut with an elevator chain last week which will lay him off work for some time.

For the past year or so the Council have talked of and promised to drain what is known as Grassy's pond, which for a few weeks after a freshet is a dangerous place. It is reported that one of the Council visited the place for inspection a month ago when 60 ft. wells were dry and reported it all right. Many of those who have narrowly escaped drowning in it think differently.

After church Sunday night Miss Mary Allan received kisses from the ladies and babies and parting greetings from the young men, possibly both from the favored ones. She is leaving this week to spend the winter in Guelph.

The Rev. Mr. Campbell, of Dro-more taught the Holy Book in the School here Sunday night.

Mr. Chas. McKinnon has put a handsome wire fence in front of his property.

The young men of this line arrayed for and attended a dance at Mr. Yantz' on Friday night. The heavy rain was a damper on their fun.

Mr. Nicholas Klein's neighbors showed their sympathy for him in his illness by digging his potatoes and ploughing 20 acres for him last week.

Misses L. Matthews and L. Johnson, who are assisting Miss M. Mack, dressmaking, holidayed last Friday back at the Lake. They have since been boasting of the pleasure and attention received in sailing by the Allan Line.

The threshing and straw housing down the line was done in a spirited way—strong spirits in some cases and cider in others. Of course the work went merrily on.

Two fair ones and a horse and cart gave an amusing performance the other morning. The horse wanted to leave half the load, but the lady got a ride part of the way home anyway.

Mrs. S. Wright, Henfry, returned to her home this week after spending a fortnight with friends in this neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Edwards, of Traverston, visited the Mack family the first of the week.

Miss Melinda Grasby, of Scarboro', who spent the past month with her mother, returned last Friday.

Mrs. Siscoe, of Galt, who spent the past month with her brother-in-law, Mr. Jas. Vessie, returned home this week.

Mrs. Emmerson, of Missouri, in company with Miss Martha Queen, of Orchardville, spent a few days of last week visiting friends along the line.

We hope it won't reflect on our home to mention that two or three runaway boys have recently taken place in front of it. The first caused only slight damage to the cart and a scare to the occupants and friends who witnessed the event. But more recently Mr. Wm. Horsburgh's team ran away and made a complete smash up of waggon, harness, etc. The wagon he borrowed to take him home gave out on the road and left him on terra firma once again. [Our Corner Cor. must have been working near the road, and by flapping his wings caused the scares and runaways. —Ed.]

HOLSTEIN.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Roberts returned Saturday evening after their honeymoon trip with friends near Guelph. They are now fairly settled down in married life. We extend to them our hearty congratulations.

Death has again entered our vicinity and has taken another of our citizens in the person of Mrs. J. Troupe. She has been a sufferer for about a year from the dreaded disease Consumption. On Sabbath evening she quietly passed away to join the great majority.

Messrs. R. E. and W. Mickleboro' returned from the West and are well suited with the country.

The Rev. J. G. Daniel, a native of Persia, delivered an address in the Presbyterian Church here on Wednesday evening of last week on the "Manners and Customs of the Persians" one custom, a set forth by the speaker, is highly commendable and should serve as a very strong hint to those living in pretentious countries. He said that drunkenness is almost entirely unknown in that land. The young ladies abhor drunkenness. Drunkenness is so popular that if anyone is found intoxicated he has his nose pierced, a cord inserted and he is led through the streets in utter disgrace.

Mr. Wm. Main, after an absence of two months in the West, returned Thursday. He gives glorious accounts of the prospects for the future of that great country.

Mrs. W. F. Brown, who took advantage of the cheap rates to Michigan returned Monday. On the way home she stopped off at Stratford to visit her sister Mrs. Lamont of that city.

Our wood king, W. J. Brown, is now busily engaged in shipping his stock of wood.

Our local Nimrods had a great day's sport on Monday. They were under the direction of the invincible Joe Blyth. They returned in the evening with twelve rabbits and one partridge.

The young people of the Epworth League are taking steps to form a "Reading Circle" in connection with the society here.

OUR VALUES ALWAYS PLEASE.

That is usually the way with many people who visit this Store, they look at our goods; get our prices, then go around and see all there is to see outside this store, but, after making comparisons they invariably come back and make their purchases here. How could it be otherwise? Buyers as a rule prefer spending their money where it can be used to the best advantage; where they can depend on goods being exactly as represented, and where they are sure of getting new, up-to-date, dependable merchandise. Considering these facts, is it any wonder then that this business grows and that the people continue to come here in increasing number?

Dress Goods.

Our Stock of Plain and Fancy Dress Goods is exceptionally large and complete. Here you will see every new weave and color represented, and the number of Dresses we are daily selling is convincing that our Styles are Correct and values pleasing.

The bed on which the granite walks on the hill is to be constructed will be protected by a stone wall before further work is done. Experience soon taught the necessity of a solid foundation.

Mr. Geo. SPARKLING, our popular and enterprising flour and merchant has shipped during the few days several car loads of flour to Liverpool and other English ports. We hope the venture may be successful.

A good story is being told at the expense of an angler who spent several weeks in Muskoka. Having enjoyed an unusual measure of success one day, he wired his wife to get one, weighs seven pounds. "It's a beauty." In reply came a drawing, signed by his wife: "I weigh ten pounds. He is a beauty—looks like you."

Messrs. J. A. Hunter and Co. are on a hunting tour to the Peninsula. We hope when the gentlemen return they'll write up a nice racy account of their trip. Mr. Knapp, we know, can't be so descriptive and if we can't get an account on him, our readers will be pleased with a nice little item which accounts are always interesting. We've had 'em before.

Wm. Mr. Atkinson, milk vendor, talking to one of his patrons on Halloween, the boys opened and allowed several quarters to escape before discovering the boys, we understand, have been sent to answer in the matter. Town magistrates are not very lenient with perpetrators of such offenses, and it is to be hoped their strictness will stamp out such a nuisance. But it's a bad business to occupy too much of the work on the fairies are out.

The people of Orchardville had a treat on Friday evening last in the form of a concert given under the auspices of the Foresters of Durham, however, was furnished by Durhamites, supplemented by choice solos by Dr. Bro. Johnston. Mr. Davidson, our minister, and the honored district of occupying the chair, and after singing himself of a short piece, Mr. J. A. Hunter, Captain G. and Dr. Brown sang capers which elicited rousing applause. Mr. G. W. Jones was the band wagon, and on various instruments delighted the audience. The new gramophone added to his curio, was a very attractive and entertaining.
