The first call has been issued for payment of shares subscribed to towards the new Furniture Factory, the money to be paid the first of August. Mr. Noah Wenger, of Ayrton, though one of the last to have an opportunity to take stock, was the first man to have his remittance in the hands of the treasurer. This speaks volumes for Mr. Wenger's faith in success and possibilities of the enterprise.

ALEXANDER McDONALD died on
ALEXANDER McDONALD died on Monday last at the home of Mr. G. Boyd, near Gledroaden at the advanced age of 79 years. Deceased was one of the early settlers of this vicinity, a native of Argyll, Scotland, a consistent Presbyterian, and a staunch Grit, having regularly taken the Globe newspaper for over 40 years. His wife and family all passed away before him and a few years ago he settled up his affairs and went to Scotland to end his days there, but soon returned, with the remark that the country he found, "wasn't Scotland at all." He loved his adopted home best and ended his days with friends and neighbors among whom he was highly respected. Funeral took place Wednesday.

A June Wedding.
On Wednesday, June 28th another happy union of hearts and hands took place at the residence of the bride's mother Mrs. Turnbull, Glenelg, when her daughter Miss Maggie A. was united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr. John Milligan of Hampden, the Rev. J. Little of Chatsworth performing the ceremony.

At five o'clock the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march on
At five o'clock the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march on the organ played by Miss Mary McClocklin of Durham announced that the ceremony was about to begin, and the groom supported by Mr. David Smith took his place in the parlor which was one mass of beautiful flowers, and was immediately joined by the bride leaning on the arm of her brother, Thomas, and accompanied by Miss Mary C. Burnett, of Durham, who very gracefully did the honors of bridesmaid.

The bride looked charming in a
The bride looked charming in a marine blue, with cream satin front covered with lace and pale blue shirred ribbon trimming and carried a bouquet of white roses with orange blossoms in her hair.

The bridesmaid also looked hand-
The bridesmaid also looked handsome in cream organdie, trimmed with lace and ribbon to match, after receiving hearty congratulations the happy company which numbered about seventy sat down to an elaborate repast, the tables being tastefully decorated with roses and ferns. The wedding cake, a most beautiful creation of G. Morton confectioner, of Lindsay, and decorated with a bouquet of natural white roses and wreath of myrtle added much to the appearance of the tables, and was greatly admired by all.

Supper being over the evening was
Supper being over the evening was spent in music singing and games, until the "wee sma' hours" arrived when the happy couple left for their home at Hampden amid showers of rice, and the good wishes of all for their future happiness.

The presents, which were both
The presents, which were both numerous and costly, bespoke the esteem entertained for the bride and her husband. Space would not allow us to enumerate them. But we would mention one table which was filled with valuable presents from friends of the bride in Bobcay-geon where she has resided for the last three years. Among them being a ten dollar gold piece, the gift of her employer Mr. Wm. M. Boyd, and many other valuable presents from the family.
