Sweet is True Love.

CHAPTER I .- Continued.

This prayer Mr. Blount attended to as than elegant. tastes and inclinations

This same relative, dying soon after, tween her and Katherine Blount. left his nephew two hundred a year- Chartie Charteris, her husband, was delicious in your riding costume! Come known. ably without incurring too numerous tiles and torn, tattered parchments, standing nervously, irresolutely, in the liabilities.

dim the faultlessness of his idol, while heart. he ever dreamed fondly, unceasingly, Such was Katherine Blount's chosen Come," changing her whole bearing spattering of the molten metal in the ence to be held in Brussels in Sp barrier in the present, it was true; but shed soft showers of faded leaves upon in time, if she would only consent to her head, until she arrived at her deswait a little-and something whis-tination, where she made the slightly pered to him that he was surely more disconcerting discovery that, in spile to her than all the other men who of her determination not to do so when thronged around her and basked in her leaving, she had thought of nothing sweet smiles-he would conquer for- but Blackwood Craven's dark, dejected tune bravely, and claim her honorably face the entire way. for his own. So he argued; and not all "Tita, my dearest, is it really you!" Katherine's chilling speeches or hasty cried Mrs. Charteris, running merrily frowns could entirely check the mad down the broad stone steps of the enlonging of his heart.

ness of his project would strike him- saddle without a moment's warning. self, crumbling to atoms all his plea- "I am so awfully glad to see you. sant castles in the air, when he would Come in and spend the day with memake up his mind to fly to the utter- do. Charlie has just got some new inmost parts of the earth, and so escape sect with forty legs, and wings to corthe fascinations of her presence - all respond, so he is lost to me for goodwhich intentions were very wise and ness knows how long, and it will be laudable so long as they lasted, which quite charitable of you to take pity on was precisely until Miss Blount's ir- me. But what is the matter with you, resistible, piquant, brilliant face smiled darling? Are you vexed about anyon him once more, when he would ! thing?" again fling to the winds all his settled | "No, it is only the heat," Miss Blount dreams of flight, and, hugging closely declared. "On the contrary. I have the bright, deceptive present, refuse to good news. Papa - after I had had become of late very frequent be- | gave me money to buy a new dress for tween them-a warfare in which some- the Tauntons' ball; so I am perhaps times one, sometimes the other, came just a little bit put out, you see, at off victorious. To-day, indeed, the having wronged him in my thoughts game was in Miss Blount's small so much." hands, however it might be to-morrow; "Nonsensel" cried Harry, leading and yet, somehow, in spite of her tri- her visitor into an exquisitely-furnishumph, the girl felt a certain heavy ed little boudoir-"you don't say so! weight lying coldly upon her heart, as Well, I am astonished at his amiabilshe closed the library door and walked ity, and a wee bit disappointed, perforward into the hall.

she asked herself, impatiently, pushing indignantly crimson-you are quite inback her hair wearily from her fore- dependent of my impertinent interferhead. "Blackwood's face is haunting ence now. But tell me when it was me, and I seem to have lost all long- your father became conscious of his ing for this ball I was so ready to iniquity?" cry about not five minutes ago. I "More than an hour ago," Miss want air, I suppose, to dispel my Blount answered - "just after Capfancies, so I shall just order my horse tain Barrington arrived about some and go over to Harry Charteris to see partridges for next month's shooting. if she cannot rouse me from this I saw him pass the garden on his way depression," having come to which de- to the square field, where papa was." cision, she gave her orders to a passing | Mrs. Charteris laughed. servant, and went slowly and listlessly "I don't want to destroy the admiraing dress for her habit.

CHAPTER II.

naturally she was as unlike Miss And cannot you fancy how eager the place than I ever saw abroad." Blount both in disposition and appear- Tauntons will be to have him at their She was fair, of middle stature, lived wealthy baronet will be for Mr. face of Miss Blount, who was sturdily idly growing demand. about three miles from Blount Manor, Blount's beautiful daughter? Now do and was possessed of considerable at- not look so savage, Tita-it is horribly look and was possessed of considerable at- not look so savage, Tita-it is horribly look and look so savage, Tita-it is horribly loo and was possessed of considerable at not look so savage, Tita—it is horribly tractions, a handsome house, a hus- unbecoming to your style; and do not received. The flame of acetylene is entirely different from ordinary gas, and is much pended by ribbons of black and provokingly pro tractions, a handsome house, a hus- unbecoming to your style; and do not ceivable. male acquaintances, and she flirted a titude, as, but for his providential ar- knowledge that it was a pretty one-quarter foot of gas an hour. have been expected, she hunted.

to see the hounds throw off, and then really the case," Miss Blount began, prettiest thing I ever heard, and so very small quantity of gas the cost of than 15 cents per bushel, and two-years. straight over hedges and ditches, at "No; you would not, my dear, de- rather lost its charm for me, as I am found that acetylene is very little to the market now. the very heels of the men, in the most pend upon it," interrupted Mrs. Charquite tired of being told how extreme- cheaper than ordinary gas. disgracefully masculine manner imag- teris, provokingly, "as he is one of the ly lovely I am." inable. Why, it was only the other nicest fellows I ever met. I know him Mrs. Charteris was aghast. She day, that she actually got a fall jump extremely well, you know, having been had never seen Katherine in such a ing over a high wall, tore her habit to introduced to him last year in Switzer- wayward mood before, and could have pieces, and had every man in the field land, when he took the greatest fancy shaken her heartily had they been you think of my Hamlet, Charley? about her in less than two minutes, to me, and traveled about with us af- alone. But Sir Mark was inexpresswhen, instead of being heartily asham- terward for at least two mouths. I ibly amused at the novelty of her imed of herself, and going home directly liked him extremely, and have kept up pertience, and laughed. to her poor little neglected babies, she a correspondence with him ever since; must needs mount her horse again and besides, he has fourteen thousand a come in second at the "finish."

sex had been strengthening day by day these degenerate days - and is just against pretty, lighthearted Mrs. the very man for you." Charteris ever since her husband had "And is old and ugly, I think you interested in the announcement of a first brought her home to his hand- forgot to add," Miss Blount put in, strange discovery made at Antwerp. some residence, and matters might languidly, without the faintest sus- In that city, a bale of human hair, have come to a decisive climax had not picion of interest in her voice.

lar care to be civil to her ever afterward both at home and abroad. er, dying some few years later, had gave it as his own private opinion that Blount. confided the child on her death-bed to the woman who could take "that last Having at length, after a some-carefully as it was in his indolent, sel- This aristocratic intervention slight- Charlie's sanctum, for the express purfish nature to attend to anything un- ly turned the tide in Mrs. Charteris' pose of carrying off its occupant forciconnected with his own personal inter- favor as far as knowing her went bly to luncheon from among his belovests, sending his nephew to school, and though it only heightened private hat- ed beetles, when a horse's hoofs ringfrom school to college, with the money red and resentment. Not that she ing on the hard gravel arrested their intrusted to his care, until the lad had ever did anything to cause this unre- steps. Mrs. Charteris's bedroom, befinished his education, and had come lenting animosity, beyond dressing ing in front of the house, overlooked home at last, only to fall madly in love better and looking lovelier and gaining a great part of the avenue, so, running with his beautiful cousin. Then it is more admiration in a day than her hastily to the window to ascertain bide possessed the property of generathard to say what would have become of neighbors could ever hope to receive in who the newcomer might be, she was the handsome, restless fellow, had not their lives; but then what woman can both startled and delighted to pera brother of his father's come forward ever forgive any of these three things? ceive that is was no less a person than and obtained for him a commission in Certainly Mrs. Charter's' neighbors Sir Mark Warrenne himself. a Line regiment, a profession very were unfriendly to the last degree, "Tita," she said, "who do you think much further because the proper and kota. much suited to the young man's own which was perhaps the primary cause it is? The veritable knight we have of the great friendship subsisting be- been discussing. How fortunate that whereas, he might quite as easily have a confirmed bookworm-a naturalist- down, my dear, at once. I have set left him two thousand - upon which, and spent most of his time in a little my heart upon this match. "Tita"get through his days and live respect- ferns, wingless insects, obnoxious rep- ing anxiously at Miss Blount, who was Here he spent the greater part of his centre of the apartment, her cheek His attachment to Katherine Blount day, and here his wife - whose favor- flushed and her fine eyes full of tears. She was part of his existence. He wor- sion at all hours - seated on the top erine," she whispered, "tell me-is shiped the girl with blind idolatry, of some of his choicest papers, seemed there anything between you andpouring out on her a generous wealth to shed beauty and warmth around your cousin?" of love of which she was scarcely wor- the silent, preoccupied man to perfection, no flaw ever appearing to and who possessed, whole and entire, his stricken sight powerful enough to the deep affection of her warm, pure of the time when this woman, who was friend, and to Castle Park it was that to him a very goddess, should be his she wended her way, riding slowly and meditatively through the green lanes His poverty was an insurmountable and under the branching trees, which trance, to Miss Katherine, as the lat-At times, indeed, the utter hopeless, ter flung herself impatiently out of the look forward into the bitter future. | abused him heartily in my inmost soul Such scenes as that just described for about an hour - relented and haps as I had ordered a dress for you "What can be the matten with me'?" myself. There! You need not get so up the stairs to exchange her morn- tion you are cherishing for your father's unprecedented conduct," she said, "but I almost think I can guess Harriet Charteris was Miss Blount's hear that Sir Mark Warrenne returned ance as it was possible for her to be. ball-and what a desirable match the good deal, besides all which, as might rival at this particular time, you would speech?" in all probability never have danced at "Very," Miss Blount replied, with this that the new light is very much cause of the prospects of a big the Tauntons' ball." Yes, she actually hunted, not like the Tauntons' ball."

year, and a delightful place - quite Indeed, the feeling among her own enough to make Pluto himself lovely in means 'divine.' And, if you are very good little girl, and play cards properly, I will put in such a telling word for you that in the long run he will infallibly be 'thine.'"

"I do think, Harry, that at times you have not a particle of sense," Miss Blount exclaimed, amused at the oth-Lady Florence followed in her moth- er's absurdity in spite of herself; er's footsteps, and declared her to be whereupon the two friends broke into "of all women the most charming don't merry laughter, and went up stairs toyou know," while the duke himself, gether to inspect Harry's dress for His father had died when the boy who was rather a "rough customer," the coming ball, and decide on the was still in his infancy, and the moth- and devoted to "pluck" of all kinds, color most becoming to Katherine her only brother, Archibald Blount, to- fence" so gallantly "must be a trump, what stormy debate, arrived at the gether with a few hundred pounds, and sir, begad! and game to no end," with satisfactory conclusion that Miss gether with a few hundred pounds, and sir, begad! and game to no end, with satisfactory conclusion that in satisfactory conclusion that it is satisfactory conclus the best he could for her little one. same effect, more forcible, perhaps, appearance in white and amber, the two began to meditate a descent on

"Nonsense!" Katherine, answered, utter folly? Do you not know that Blackwood and I have been brother and sister ever since I can remember? wasting valuable time here, when we might be—according to your showing -so much better employed; so take me down stairs, Harry, and introduce me to your handsome hero.""

And as she finished speaking she held out her hand to Mrs. Charteris with a pretty, wilful grace and a sudden assumption of good spirits that ishment immediately combined under State, has the unique distinction of His face shone with triumph through only partially imposed on her quickwitted, watchful friend.

However, she made no further remark just then, but took the girl's proffered hand fondly in her own, and led her down stairs into the tasteful, sunny drawing-room, where Sir Mark offensive young man.

mosphere; so Harriet fondly hoped extremely dangerous. posed to its influence.

good this time, Sir Mark," she began, further experiments soon proved that graduate of the Renssalaer Polyter is coming to avenge its mate and korns presently, smiling in her pretty if the pure gas were used without be- nic Institute, of Troy. friendly manner at the baronet.

good exactly," he answered, pleasantly, by exploding in the gas tank a small ment is making active preparation "but I have at last made up my mind quantity of fulminade of mercury or for the fall demand for currency l to give the old country a fair trial. some other violent explosive. It was crop moving purposes. Shortage a Sweet is True Love.

I found traveling about by myself just | with perfect safety. the slightest degree in the world slow, so I threw it up after a few months' other during his life, I suppose, and my turn has come now."

"I am afraid, for all that, you will miss the warm Italian skies and the beautiful Italian faces more than you Charteris went on, "and we shall be that it required the use of about five that his has been an absolutely so

"My tastes are not altogether so for- great quantities are turned out daily ideals I have realized. Of course things, to what changed his mind. Did you not eign as you seem to imagine; indeed, by the use of the inexpensive water only woman friend and adviser; and to the hall the evening before last? beauty since my return to the old however, has become so general that eyes fell on the exquisite downcast be almost impossible to supply the rap-

To be Continued.

WHERE IT COMES FROM.

People who wear false hair will be the all-powerful Duchess of Alwyn "No, he isn't," Harriet answered, a railroad station. It was afterward been so struck by her prowess in the gayly; "he is everything your fancy learned that the hair had been clipped "No, he isn't," Harriet answered, a railroad station. It was afterward what will cure a wart? ductions immediately, taking particu- Apollo, but, thank Heaven, by no | victs in public asylums and prisons.

USE OF ACETYLENE

BROUGHT TO PERFECTION BY THOS. L. WILSON, A CANADIAN.

It Is Dangerous to Liquely It-Many Disastrous Explosions Occurred While Attempts Were Being Made to Compress

It was discovered by a German chemist in 1861, that if a mixture of lime and carbon were heated to an enormous temperature the two fused to- constructed at Peoria, Ill. gether and produced what is now further of note was accomplished with this new substance until 1894, when this year will be the best ever known Moissan invented an electric furnace and found that by placing carbon and lime directly in the electric arc an fice. enormously high temperature was available at comparatively little expense, and the resulting calcium caring a new gas very rapidly when brought into contact with water. Moissan did not pursue his experiments economical construction of he came just now-you always look so ectric furnaces was then very little

As usual in such cases, the invention left him two thousand — upon which, and spent most of his time in a little my heart upon this match.

The match of Moissan was perfected in America. prune crop, the size and abundanced and his pay as lieutenant, Blackwood "den" of his own, littered pretty near- with a sudden start—"what on earth of Moissan was perfected in America. Prune crop, the size and abundanced the power of his own, littered pretty near- with a sudden start—"what on earth of Moissan was perfected in America. The next instant for the pay as lieutenant, Blackwood "den" of his own, littered pretty near- with a sudden start—"what on earth of Moissan was perfected in America. The next instant for the pay as lieutenant, Blackwood "den" of his own, littered pretty near- with a sudden start—"what on earth of Moissan was perfected in America. The next instant for the pay as lieutenant, Blackwood "den" of his own, littered pretty near- with a sudden start—"what on earth of the pay as lieutenant, Blackwood "den" of his own, littered pretty near- with a sudden start—"what on earth of the pay as lieutenant, Blackwood "den" of his own, littered pretty near- with a sudden start—"what on earth of the pay as lieutenant, Blackwood "den" of his own, littered pretty near- with a sudden start—"what on earth of the pay as lieutenant, Blackwood "den" of his own, littered pretty near- with a sudden start—"what of the pay as lieutenant, Blackwood "den" of his own, littered pretty near- with a sudden start—"what of the pay as lieutenant, Blackwood "den" of his own, littered pretty near- with a sudden start—"what of the pay as lieutenant, Blackwood "den" of his own, littered pretty near- with a sudden start—"what of the pay as lieutenant, Blackwood "den" of his own, littered pretty near- with a sudden start—"what of the pay as lieutenant, Blackwood "den" of his own, littered pretty near- with a sudden start—"what of his own, littered pretty near- with a sudden start—"what of his own, littered pretty near- with a sudden start—"what of his own, littered pretty near- Craven found it excessively difficult to ly from floor to ceiling with dried is the matter with you, child?"-gaz- Thomas L. Wilson, of St. Catharines, Ont., was a poor boy assisting his mother in the management of a boarding house. When twenty-nine years Office. was the one ruling passion of his life. ite resort it was, and who had admis- A new idea struck her friend. "Kath- old he crossed the border to the United States, where his talent was soon rec- in the United States since the first d ognized, and soon afterward he built the year have a capitalization of $1. a very large electric furnace, for the 370,783,383. thy. In his eyes, however, she was whom she was as a bright sunbeam, almost angrily, "how can you talk such purpose of experimenting in the production of alloys of different metals. While doing so he found that the detailed to attend the medical conferwith a visible effort, "we are only furnace frequently produced a conducting path between the carbons of his arc lamp, so much so as to seriously interfere with and sometimes extinguish the arc. To overcome this he placed in the furnace a mixture of coke and lime, which he found to his astonthe great heat and produced beautiful, coming from a district that never see Is pallor. clear calcium carbide at a omparative- a Republican to Congress. ly low, cost.

EXPLOSIVE AT FIRST. Capital was at once interested in Mr. Wilson's discovery, and it was not long rebellion. He intends presenting it is Jove! I thought you were never go-Warrenne was introduced to Kath- before companies were organized in ev- the State Historical Society. erine Blount, and where Miss Blount ery State to control the Wilson patmade herself as disagreeable as she ents, but it was also only a short time very well could to that exceedingly in- when it was discovered that acetylene gas, under certain circumstances, was descends from a Huguenot family Mrs. Charteris was provoked beyond of a highly explosive nature.

measure—how could Katherine show | Contrary to the advice of Mr. Wil- put in a plea for him as De Wey. herself in such an unfavorable light? son, many of the companies undertook and set herself with laudable persever- to place the gas upon the market in ance to turn the conversation into a a liquid form. In order to do this it more congenial channel, finally sug- was compressed until it became liquid, gesting luncheon as a last resource. almost in the same manner as liquid This was always a pleasant meal at air is produced. It was found, however Castle Park, servants being strictly ex- that during compression the explosive cluded, and a general air of uncon- qualities of the gas increased rapidly ventionality pervading the whole at- until when, in a liquid state ,it was that Katherine might thaw if ex- In using the gas in this manner many disastrous explosions occurred, and the "I hope that you have come home for public quickly denounced the gas, but ried an American heiress. He was ing compressed there was only one way The United States Treasury Days "I cannot say whether it will be for of causing an explosion, and that was also found quite possible to burn the currency, if it should develop, will a You see, after you left, Mrs. Charteris, electric arc within a tank of pure gas met with $5 gold pieces.

It was decided that the gas would have to be used without being com- South Carolina, won a scholarship longer wandering. A fellow does feel pressed, and this action was quickly Washington and Lee University the want of friends at some time or indorsed by insurance underwriters, who will not now permit the use of acetylene gas under pressure.

PRODUCED AT SLIGHT COST.

Calcium carbide was first sold at a losing you again in a few months or hundred horse power for twenty-four cessful life. "Everything I have the hours to produce a single ton, but there for I have got," he says. "All these works will soon be doubled, and And involuntarily as he spoke his even then it is expected that it will brighter and richer than the incandes- low, the Maryland colours, band, two charming sons, and as many make up your mind—as I see you are "There! what a compliment to our cent lamp. It is a solid flame of twenadmirers as any woman need care to doing—to revenge all this on the poor dear old England!" Harriet exclaim- ty-five candle power, about one inch in the Reina Christina. count; she was "fast" she talked a lit- young man himself. He is totally un- ed. "I feel quite proud when I recol- height and one inch in width, and is tle slang, she was adored by her hus- conscious of the whole concern, you lect you are just fresh from the "Land controlled by a specially designed Kansas, covering two-thirds to band, and by at least a dozen of his know, and you owe him a debt of graband, and by at least a dozen of his know, and you owe him a debt of gra- of Beauty.' Tita, will you not ac- burner, which only consumes about abominable coolness, and without less expensive than the old, but while crop. Stockmen of the south-west deigning to raise her ever "crop." most girls, who go to the meet simply "If I believed what you said to be deigning to raise her eyes—"quite the acetylene burner consumes such a lieve that corn will not be bushed, and original. But unfortunately, it has the carbide is still so high that it is it will not pay to send two-years

HIS RESEMBLANCE TO IRVING.

Dear Friend. Immense! In one part of the play you are equal to Irving. Amateur Actor. In what part was that, Charley? Dear Friend. Where Polonius gives his parting advice to Laertes.

Amateur Actor. I was behind the scenes then. Dear Friend. So is Irving.

NO CASE ON RECORD.

Brooks, asked Rivers, do you know could possibly paint him-'lovely' as from the heads of lunatics and con-said Brooks, without looking up from his writing.

GAS. MILIT

ITEMS OF INTEREST ABOUT THE BUSY YANKEE.

Neighborly Interest in His Doings-Mann of Moment and Mirth Gathered from its

An automobile gun carriage is being

It is a noteworthy fact that in Utal

It is expected that the cotton cree New York District Attorney Watte $30,000 more next year to run his at Farm labour command; high rwan in Nebraska this year than ever is

A syndicate is being formed to control the next United States cotton Hailstones destroyed nearly 2,000 bushels of growing wheat in North la Russell Sage, according to the New $20,000,000 to $50,000,000. Califlornia reports an unusually fue

Miss Ellen C. Witter, of Denver, is the only woman authorized to practise before the United States

The trusts which have been formed

Surgeon Eugene Wasdin, of the United States Medical Corps, has been Rear Admiral Bartlett J. Cromwell had the honour of being the first naval cadet appointed from Nebrash He was graduated as a midshipma on June 1, 1861. Congressman-elect Gordon, of Cha

Governor Joseph D. Sayers, of Tem

The French have laid claim to be miral Dewey on the ground that he named De Huoy, and the Belgians have owns the first Federal flag capture

Out in the "bad lands" of Dakott a man from Maine has just best tle brands, and this emphasizes the to get the noose."

The assassin of President Heurent tion in the United States and mar hair on end. Pandu's mahogany Miles B. McSweeney, Governor the age of 16, but could not complete his course because he was at it time alone in the world, and unable pay his remaining college expenses Russell Sage, at 83, says he can is

I have to improve things, to right on and carry on my work. But am satisfied."

The medal to be presented city of Baltimore to Capt. N. M. Dyer, of the cruiser Biltimore, be bar in which is set a bit of sail Despatches from twenty locality

State, say that there will be a At first glance it would seem from crease in the shipment of cattle his that the new line of the shipment of cattle his that the new line of the shipment of cattle his that the new line of the shipment of t

Dr. Max Breuer, a former sure of the German army, now practise in Buffalo, has just been decorts Amateur Actor, to Friend: What did with the Cross of the Legion of Bouthink of my Hamlet Charles and with the Cross of the Legion of Bouthink of my Hamlet Charles and with the Cross of the Legion of Bouthink of my Hamlet Charles and a second secon our for saving the life of a free seaman. While on a German res the doctor heard that the French was ill on a British ship which no surgeon on board, attended the and restored him to health.

Ex-Governor Hogg, of Texas, is charge shaven now, but once had a be from which he could not be ind to part. While on a visit to New I he wanted to have this beard trimb but the French barber knew p English, and shaved him clean the Governor was angry, but to like the effect, and decided to more hair in his face.

An Adventure in the Jungle "Tigers very plenty here, Sahibs," of mid Pandu; "all sleep now. When the dark they creep out." "That's a pleasant prospect," Lu- pos cius muttered to me. "The fellow is doz right, though. This is where the ing Rajah bags most of his big game. I tig didn't think we had come so far. We and must get clear of the jungle before the

We relieved Pandu of our heavy- to bore rifles, and started briskly back, The Then we emerged on the brink of a day glassy pool of water.

As we instinctively halted, we heard low, furious growl. Glancing to the three left, we saw a sight that chilled the he blood with horrow. Twenty feet lown the shore of the pool, in the shade of a rock and overhanging reeds, ing rouched a monstrous tigress. Beside her was a playful, six-month-old cub. The beast had seen us, and was mak- dron ng ready to spring. Up went my rifle, and with a hasty aim I pulled actu the trigger. Perhaps my arm trem- ches bled a little-anyway, the ball hit the In enb in the breast and stretched it life- his York T mes, has a fortune of tro less beside its mother. The rage of paw the tigress was fearful to see. Her follo eves grew like living coals, and she ner he launched herself forward-straight twee toward me. I was actually fascinated w the sight. My limbs seemed to fierd have lost the power of motion. though in a dream I heard Lucius Com-

> "Down! down! Jump to one side!" open I think I moved a few inches, that unconscious act saved my life. The in or long, tawny body of the tigress struck of be me sideways and pitched me head foremost into the muddy pool.

> As I staggered to my feet, covered with filth and water, I heard the roar a rifle. Then I saw the tigress quivering in her death agonies on the circle round. She was quite dead before I reached the spot. Lucius stood over her with a smoking rifle in his hand.

"That was a splendid shot!" I ex-

"It was a deuced lucky one," he reby the Confederates in the war of the plied. "You had a close shave of it. ng to get out of the way. Where is

I remembered that it lay at the botm of the pool. "I'l' soon get it," I said, and startd back to the water.

My legs were a little shaky, and on the y back felt bruised. I waded out The of see deep and bent over to grope for is fear e weapon. But just then a low cry hanged for being colour blind on the from Pandu brought me stiffly erect. heard a threshing noise in the dry adage, "You must go away from home leeds. It was yet at some distance. astily rejoined Lucius, and we lookin the direction of the sound. second later a deep, awful roar echoed distant of San Demingo, received his edge through the jungle. It fairly stood ce turned livid. "The tiger, Sahib!" he gasped. "It Ther His teeth chattered with every word. plantin

There, Pandu," exclaimed Lucius, on men ave me your rifle quick! It has a This ki handed his own gun to the steps of hkaree, but before he could take the ing ma her in exchange, the angry roar the oth out again, and we had a glimpse a row the tiger as it bounded toward us your bo over the reeds. It was less than thir- and use The sight was too much for Pandu, remove hunter though he was. He had four he ever been considered a coward, but the twinkling of an eye he turned d fled down the shore of the pool, oking both rifles with him. Come back, you rascal!" roared William Pandu never faltered. With a gun linging from each hand he bounded o the tall reeds and vanished. We breaking consciously dashed at the pool, and wrist. oundered across, side by side. The fore a ster came only to our knees. Withlooking back we plunged up into reeds. After a few steps the arshy ground gave way to iirm footand we were again in the faston the jungle. A dismal roar The the rear, full of blended grief rage, spurred us to greater speed. furious roar woke the jungie G.T.R. Stat od hele seemed at our very backs. AVENUI help us!" cried Lucius. I shivd and nearly fell. He took my arm dragged me along. Again an aw-roar that made the ground trem-But just when a horrible death seemminent we staggered into a bit the space amid the jungle, and Eli For of the scant light revealed the pro- had been tions of an iron cage, about eight square! We gained the strange ked open a dizzy rush, and Lucius recently open the sliding door. I rember falling inside in a heap and about his it fast clang of iron as the door shock ar fast. And then came a mom-with a stupendous roar, a great tiger it has be in made against the cage, and ratti madness at the bars until rattled and creaked. Again and Lucius had dragged me to the very end shivered while the beast spat hally, he drew back and prowled the cage, peering in at us every steps.

The plucked up courage and examination shelfer. The result was not our shelter. The result was not

Railway. F