She Would Be a Lady

CHAPTER II.-Continued.

Punctually at ten o'clock Eva presented herself at Westbrook Grange, and was shown into a small room, overlooking a portion of the flower gardens and the park. Here she was left alone and her eyes wandered about the apartment, then rested upon the view outside, and she impulsizely rose to her feet to admire its beauty. The gorwindow, but it was not the delicious perfume that attracted her attention. On a lawn, at some distance from where she stood, was a young man with a couple of huge mastiffs, and several puppies of the same breed gamboled about him.

The parents of the puppies looked formidable animals, but Eva thought how dearly she would like to have a good romp, with the little ones, and so absorbed was she in watching them that she hever once noticed their master. He was not so blind to her appearance, however.

Strictly speaking, I suppose, Eva Randolph was not beautiful. Her face was, in shape, a perfect oval; her complexion was of a rich, smooth, creamy tint, but rarely flushed with a rosy hue, and her eyes were large, dark and liquid, with deeply-fringed, curling lashes that were almost black, though her hair was of a warm, rich brown.

People looking at her critically were wont to pronounce her to be interesting and uncommon-looking rather than pretty; and Ernest Westbrook was wondering who she was and whence she came, when he saw his stately mother join her.

"You are watching my son?" asked Mrs. Westbrook, laying her hand on the girl's shoulder.

"No; I was watching those dear little puppies;" was the reply; "I was thinking how much I should like to nurse them. But I beg your pardon, ma'am,' she added, suddenly recollecting herself; "shall I begin my work?" "Yes," replied the lady; "but take off your hat and cape; you will work in this room to-day.'

Eva obeyed, and soon after she was absorbed in repairing some rare old point lace.

pies, or about the young squire, and not a single remark was made or question put to the girl concerning herself or her dead father.

About one o'clock a servant brought her some dinner. A very nice dinner it was, and very unlike what she was accustomed to; but it was served up to her alone, and youth wants companionship even with the choicest viands.

The weather was hot, the day was wonderfully bright and Eva began to feel tired and sleepy and to long for freedom, if only for half an hour, when Mrs. Westbrook again visited her. "How are you getting on?" she asked kindly, The girl replied by displaying her work, but she did so with a half-suppressed yawn which betrayed her weariness, and the lady said sharply:

"You are sleepy!" "It is the warm weather," replied Eva, in an apologetic tone: "and then I am not used to sit at work very long without having to run errands, or mind the children, or do something about the house. If you would let me take a short walk, ma'am, I shall be able to work on till evening."

"We will both go for a walk in the park, and we can talk of something I orphan girl were walking side by side "She will very likely injure her the high road. under the shade of the tall trees. "Five years, ma'am."

'You remember him, I suppose?" ber my own mamma, too."

increased interest.

name was Gordon."

hung round her neck. For some time Mrs. Westbrook look- "What will you give Oi?" asked the The proprietor of the traveling cired it back to the girl. When she spoke rustic.

ed, and she asked, abruptly:

such a question again, or if I talked contract. to other people about it."

ago, and I said I would go to the vicar, | young Moloch. as Willy Harmer did, if he struck me Lilas Lampier, from that day for- and entreated the girl to come back, again, and then my stepmother inter- ward, thought of little but her good and the poor woman painted in vivid fered, and I heard her tell him 'not looks, and of how she could best use colors the temptations and dangers to be such a fool as to kill the goose them to her own advantage. that laid the golden eggs.' I have She was a quick, precocious girl. sought to lead. wondered ever since what she could Her French extraction made her feel Lilas only laughed. Her mother had ough to teach others, but I want to defined inclination for evil, on the con- and admire her, and who could say draw and paint, or even to go as a trary, good and evil were very much that some great lord would not want clerk. There are many things a wom- alike to her mind, provided either to marry her, and that she would not an can' do if she is in earnest, and has would assist her to attain the end she be a grand lady after all? only a little knowledge."

"Then you wish to be a governess?" self-willed children.

ed sweetest odors through the open I believe you mean to work hard, and, ble to himself for his actions, and that and though in learning to ride and therefore, for your father's sake I will the wealth of the rich ought to be leap, and spring through hoops, and > questions, and don't talk to anybody of property, and she longed to get one day to reap. else of what I say-though, by the way, away to London or Paris, where she how old are you?"

"I am just thirteen, ma'am." adopt. No don't thank me,' she said, unexpected quarter came in her way.

pieces of lace that required all her much as any of them, said, good naturskill and care in mending, she could edly: not help fancying that she must have "You shall go, Lilas; maybe I'll affallen asleep over her work, and that ford to go another day." must have been a dream. But happily the horses, and the glitter and apit was nothing of the kind, and the next plause intoxicated her, and she detered and somewhat frightened by Mrs. that by some means or other she when the lady talked of getting her all things must have a beginning. dolph's family, and ascertain who was resolution, but to put it in practice if here to-day might be far to-morrow. the girl's legal guardian, they gave a was by no means so easy a matter, hasty, though unwilling assent to the and Lilas for, the next few days spent proposed arrangement.

make her sign some deed that would the career she sought to pursue. Nothing more was said about the pup- leave the property in my hands," growl- Her own carelessness made the oped Mr. Church, when he and his estim- portunity. She was walking along one able helpmeet were left to themselves. morning, pushing the perambulator "If you're wise, you'll let sleeping before her, and looking back to foldogs alone," was her prudent reply. low with admiring eyes the figure of "Sleeping cats," he retorted dis- Mr. Ernest Westbrook when she suddainfully.

> "Well, cats can scratch," returned his better half, "and if ever Eva and and those of the small children who her friends find out that you have been taking her father's money, while you young gentleman and some laborers kept her in rags, they'll make you suf- who were at work in a neighboring fer for it, you see if they don't.'

strong to be repeated, and the wor- taining much damage beyond a good thy couple might have come to blows wetting. but for Eva's re-entrance.

CHAPTER III.

school. Susan Harper was engaged all the girl sharply across the face, and her to his harem. On his death, a few the week in the neighboring town, declared that she would send her away learning dressmaking and hairdressing to find a better home if she could. and the various acquirements neces- The fact of deserving punishment way sold to a young Turk at Bona. sary for a lady's maid, and when she rarely makes us more ready to bear The Turk, when tired of her, disposed came home on Sundays she was much the lash, and Lilas persuaded herself of his property to an Arab Sheik, who Should take with them a supply too important a young woman to be- that she was greatly ill-used, and re- had grown tired of her in turn and stow any notice on Lilas Lampier, and solved to take Mrs. Flood at her word. placed her in the street cage, an artipoor Lilas was very dull, for Emma Without giving herself time to think cle for sale. For some minutes I Bligh was in London, and Mary Mat- of the probable consequences of what stook talking to the poor, imprisoned thews was nursing a sick grandmoth- she was about to do, Lilas ran up to creature, when a passing guard took er. So pretty Lilas had only Mrs. her own room, put on her Sunday notice of the incident and whispered to Flood's children to play with, and as clothes, and taking with her a few me in French to move away at once trifles she valued and a shilling or two Master Freddy, the baby, was becomwhich she had boarded she crept had passed on before I could see his have been thinking of this morning. ing dreadfully heavy, and was too helpless to walk, the task of carrying downstairs, made her way out of the face. The next moment I descried the A few minutes later the lady and the him was anything but pleasant.

spine with carrying that heavy child," "How long has your father been she heard the village surgeon say to neighborhood, and Lilas soon arrived been listening to our conversation. dead? was Mrs. Westbrook's first a gentleman one day, "and that, with at the field where the large booth in When he discovered that he had not such a lovely face, will be an awful

The stranger replied with some re-"Oh, yes, very well; and I remem- mark about the children of the poor shy and timid, now she was desperate. manded, sneeringly, in gutteral Algerwas she?" asked Mrs. Westbrook, with servation had applied to her.

before papa married her, I think her doctor was mistaken, or whether all "Yes, my dear, step this way," he the rest of the world had been blind replied," and so saying he led her to "What! Evangeline Gordon? You when Master Freddy set up a howland a sort of hut that had been knocked have no portraits of them, I suppose?" insisted upon being carried home. | up for temporary occcupation.

"Yes, ma'am; I always wear their "I won't carry him; the doctor says "I want to know if you will let me portraits in this locket; it was giv- I'll hurt myself if I do. You carry come with you?" exclaimed Lilas, en to me when my mother died."

him home for mr, Billy Smith," said when she saw Mr. Barman himself; rubies and the turquoise are found to as most of the imitations are highly danged and the turquoise are found to as most of the imitations are highly danged and the turquoise are found to as most of the imitations are highly danged and the turquoise are found to as most of the imitations are highly danged and the turquoise are found to as most of the imitations are highly danged and the turquoise are found to as most of the imitations are highly danged and the turquoise are found to as most of the imitations are highly danged and the turquoise are found to as most of the imitations are highly danged and the turquoise are found to as most of the imitations are highly danged and the turquoise are found to as most of the imitations are highly danged and the turquoise are found to as most of the imitations are highly danged and the turquoise are found to as most of the imitations are highly danged and the turquoise are found to as most of the imitations are highly danged and the turquoise are found to as most of the imitations are highly danged and the turquoise are found to as most of the imitations are highly danged and the turquoise are found to a second and the turqu And so saying, sadly and almost rev- Lilas, appealing to a neighbor's son, "I can dance, and I can learn to share the same sensibility. Pearls gerous. erently. Eva detached a locket which who had just overtaken her and the jump and ride, and I'm not afraid of small brood under her charge.

closed the locket suddenly, and hand- shyness characteristic of the juvenile appeal, and he would probably have ed the girl ..

"I don't know, ma'am, We lived in a Lilas pouted and hung her head, and gravely, and when she had finished large house, and we kept a carriage, pretended to be surprised at the de- he informed Lilas that he would take and I had a nurse, so we could not mand, but she would have given a doz- her as his apprentice for three years, have been so poor as we are now." en kisses to any lad ailve sooner than if the Floods made no objection. "Then what became of his money?" have carried the heavy child after the "If they do, I shall run away to Lon-"I don't know,' replied Eva; "once, doctor's warning, so at length she ac- don,' was the gril's nonchalant reply; when I asked my stepmother she said ceded to the boy's terms, which includ- "and I shan't go back to them again Mr. Church would thrash me to with- ed payment in advance, and then Billy now." in an inch of my life if I ever asked honestly performed his part of the Mr. Barman smiled. Lilas, with

But from this day Mrs. Floods would be a treasure to him if he only "Thrash you! Does he ever dare to trials increased. Lilas would not carry could hold her in check. Freddy, nobody could make do so, and So he sent a note to Mr. Flood, who 'Yes, ma'am, he has done so more after many quarrels a rude peram- came to him in great perturbation of than once," replied Eva, her face flam- bulator, very much the worse for wear, mind, and insisted that Lilas should ing with sudden shame, and anger; was purchased, and in this Miss Lilas return to his roof at once. But "but the last time was several months did condescend to wheel about the Lilas obstinately refused.

mean, for I don't really make much but little sympathy for the Floods, been a dancer, why should she expect while the memory of the life she had led in Paris was as vivid to her mind scornfully; and then finished by deast to death if we hesitate a mom Wife—What's the matter?

The house is on fire, and we will be burnt to death if we hesitate a mom but I've changed my mind since. "No; I suppose not. Perhaps you led in Paris was as vivid to her mind scornfully; and then finished by deent. Run, run for your life! will find out one day. Do you mean as though she had left the gay city but claring that she hated children, and westerday, and had even then been hoped she would never have to purse. I've got "Oh, dear no,' and the girl's face Since she had become so dangerously So the Floods went hime, saddened here.

lessly wished that her father would later Lilas left the town with her new come back and take her away from the protectors. Floods, for she knew that with him | For three years she was bound to she would live in great cities, and live with Mr. and Mrs. Barman and to surely where there was abundant serve them, and after that, for three changed as though a new light had lilumined it. "I am only working to make money to put myself to school."

where there was to give them half years more she was to give them half wealth and many people a girl with a wealth and terms, it would seem, to many but Lilas would not have grumbled had they been twice had a grumbled had they been twice had a grumbled had they be a

"No, I don't,' said Eva, resolutely; Not that Lilas had any actual inten- She would be dressed in gorgeous desired to reach. She had heard her So her foolish little brain wove felt convinced she should find some wonderful fortune. But her father did Thirteen; well, I will pay for your not come, the fortune was far away, education, and I will then give you suf- and she had become both reckless and ficient to start you in any calling you impatient when temptation from an hurriedly, as the girl caught her hand One never-to-be-forgotten day Mr. and gratefully pressed it to her lips. Flood announced his intention of tak-"I am but paying a debt, nothing ing the children to the circus, that had been opened in a field not very house maintaining a reserve and sil- go, and it was just a question whether ence which Eva was too timid to break. Lilas or the childs mother should re-When the girl got back to the small main at home, when Mrs. Flood, who room, and was bending over the costly would have enjoyed the dissipation as day Mr. and Mrs. Church were surpris- mined, before the evening was over, piration for a girl who meant to be At first they positively refused, but a lady, but then, as she assured herself, most of her time in wondering how denly found herself and the child struggling in the river. Her shrieks had lagged behind soon brought the the baby were rescued without sus-Mr. Church growled out words too field to her assistance, and she and very great; it was nothing but care-was erected.

Ar another time she would have felt "Oh, yes, very well; and I remember mark about the children of the poor and the two passed on. But Lilas understood at once that the surgeon's observation had applied to her.

"Ah! What was she like? And who cases he?" asked Mrs. Westbrook, with more ased interest.

"She was very beautiful, ma'am, and effore papa married her, I think her decreased interest.

"She was very beautiful, ma'am, and effore papa married her, I think her decreased interest.

"She was very beautiful, ma'am, and effore papa married her, I think her decreased interest.

"She was very beautiful, ma'am, and effore papa married her, I think her effore papa marrie anything, and I can speak French.'

ed at the two faces steadily, then she lad, with a mixture of boldness and cus was not a little surprised at this Though this delicate stone lives longer answered it somewhat roughly, but again her tone and manner had chang- "I ain't got nothing to give, pout- for the singular beauty of the girl "Was your father a poor man when "Give us a kiss, and I'll car' he for her story without gloss or reticence.

Mr. Barman listened patiently, her beauty and her reckless temper.

Then Mrs. Flood came, and begged that would beset her in the life she conscious of her beauty she had cease- and self-reproachful, and a few days surely where there was abundant serve them, and after that, so them half was to give them half believed by the sold in poor, we alth and many people a girl with a serve them, and after that, and after that, and the sold in serve them, and after that, and the sold in serve them, and after that, and the sold in serve them, and after that, and the sold in serve them, and after that, and the sold in serve them, and after that, and the sold in serve them, and after that, and the serve them half serve them, and after that, and the serve them half serve them half serve them, and after that, and the serve them half serve t

"I don't think I shall ever know en- tion of doing wrong, or any clearly attire, and crowds of people would see

"I am glad you think so, my dear; father say that man was only responsi- wonderful fairy castles for the future, taken away and given to the poor, and risk her neck on the trapeze, she more "You knew my father?" said Eva, she had accepted these pernicious doc- than once only barely escaped with timidly. "Was it before I was born?" trines as her father had accepted them her life, she still held fast to the "Yes, before I was married, and my before her, with the ready belief of belief that what she now had to go son is seven or eight years older than one who has everything to gain and through was all necessary to bring to you can be. But don't ask me any nothing to lose by the redistribution perfection the harvest which she hoped

To be Continued.

CAGED BEAUTIES.

Mr. William Shark describes in London Literature a visit, while in Algeria, to a street of caged women. It seems it is forbidden to Europeans after dark, but he wandered in, partly Then she turned her face toward the far away. Freddy was too young to through incident, partly through curiosity. He writes:

"Some women were in barred rooms and some in cages, offered for sale. "The woman in the first cage I passed was rather pretty, and, though her GRISTING AND CHOPPING DONE. hair was dark, she had pale blue eyes. that walk and conversation in the park | So Lilas went, and the tinsel and Her long, loose tresses were everywhere clasped with little blue brooches, and I noticed that her lips, the end of her ears and her finger tips were ed and somewhat frightened by Mrs. that by some means or other she Westbrook coming to see them and would join a troupe of traveling perstained a dull red. She accosted me Westbrook coming to see them and would join a troupe of traveling perstained a dull red. She accosted me if I offering to take the girl off their formers. Not a very anbitious as- in Moorish-French, and asked me if I would not like to take her away from these jackals of Moors and Arabs. I lawyer to hunt up the late Mr. Ran- It was not difficult to come to this said I was a stranger, a wayfarer, and LUMBER, SHINGLES AND LATHS She told me she was not an Arab, 'Allab be praised!' and not a Moor, either, "I wish she was of age, for then I'd she should take the first step to enter but a Koulourli-that is, the child of la Moorish woman by a Turkish fath-

'One girl's face and manner impressed me greatly. She was not beautiful, hardly pretty, but she had a singularly winsome face, with large, fine, gazelle-like eyes. She was a European, a Spaniard from one of the Balearic Isles. Strangely, she was very fair, with blonde hair full of a dusky gold sheen. She had been taken to Oran, at the extreme western end of Algeria, by a Spanish naval officer, and there in a few weeks been deserted. For some months she was a derelict in that old Hispano-Mauresque town. After her child was born Mrs. Floods anger, however, was she had gone inland, to hill-set Tlemcen, the old Moorish city that stands lessness and dislike to little Freddy, within sight of the frontier of Mo-Eva Randolph had gone away to she vowed, and in her rage she struck rocco. There a rich Moor had taken months later, she had been purchased by a Jew from Algiers, and straighthouse unobserved, and soon reached evil countenance of a Jewish-looking Moor, behind the cage of the Oran wo-Thr traveling circus was still in the man. He was her owner, and had which the performances took place a purchaser to deal with he came forward brusquely.

"'Do you want her or not?' he de-

Real jewels,, scientists now assert, take chances of spoilpossess organic life. It has long been outing through neglect of putting a bottle known that opals and pearls grow dull of this great diarrhoea doctor in with your when worn by invalids, and latterly supplies. But see that it's the genuine rubies and the turquoise are found in the formula of the formula are more indicative of the condition of than a flower, it seems to have a form of life, which, like that of the flower years. The young man one day said who made it. His questions elicted by dies. Nor is this property unfoundloses color and brilliancy and actualed in reason. Science has latterly learned much concerning germs and their influence in the propagation of health and disease. Those invisible said she. If folks know that it's thee emanations which emanations which surround the per- as has given me up, I shanna be able son wearing gems penetrate the in- to get another chap; but if they think terstices of the james to get another chap; but if they think terstices of the jewel and act- that I've given you up, then I can ually increases ually increases or decrease its get another chap. So we'll have bands brilliancy. The inference is a published, and when the wedding day true one that rings and sile or the be laid aside by the investigation of the laid aside by the laid asid be laid aside by the invalid. Even in 'Wilt thou have this woman to be thy good health it is better to give them | Wilt thou have this woman of I will as rest. To inclose them in the wedded wife? and the must say I will thou and put them away is to in their cases Aind when he says to me, wedded bus and put them away is to insure an ac- have this man to be thy wedded buscess of luster. Even clothing should band? I shall say I winna. wonderfully the frock or words. It freshens up The day came, and when the minister wonderfully the frock or wrap to shake said, Wilt thou have this woman to aand brush the garment and hang it be thy wedded wife? the min and

THE RULING PASSION.

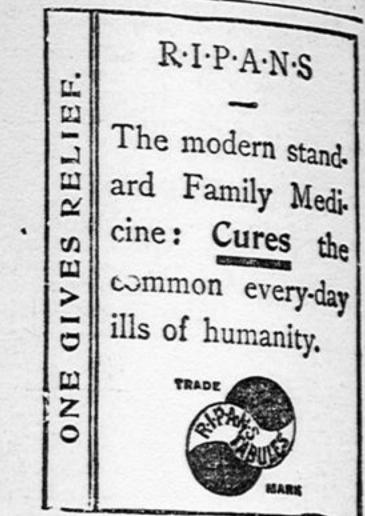

Husband, rushing into the room,-Come out, quick!

Wife-What's the matter?

to content yourself with making and yesterday, and had even then been hoped she would never have to nurse to tidy up the room a little, so that it will look descent when the firemen get

EDGE PROPERTY FOR SALE IN THE TOWN OF DURHAN

Mortgages taken for part purchase money Apply to JAMES EDGE

DURHAM

on shortest notice and satisfaction guaranteed.

FLOUR, OATMEAL and FEED

We ar now prepared to do all kinds of custom work.

alway on hand.

N., G. & J. McKECHNIE.

probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Oldest agency for securing patents in America. We have a Washington office. Potents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, heautifully illustrated, leggest circuistion of any scientific journal, weekly, terms & Ma fear; $1.50 six months. Specimen copies and HANG BOOK ON PATENTS sent free. Address MUNN & CO.,

361 Breadway, New York.

. of Dr. Fowler's Ext. of Wild Strawberry.

Those who intend with them Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Straw-Getting wet, catching cold, drinking water that is not always pure, or eating food that Mal disagrees, may bring Prompt treatment

SHE ALSO CHANGED HER MIND. A young couple in a Lancashire village had been courting for several to the woman:

Sall, I canna marry thee. Hows that? saked she.

I ve changed my mind, said he. Well, I'll tell you what we'll do,

Then the parson said to the woman: Wilt thou have this man to be thy wedded husband? and she said:

Why, said the young man, furicus'y, you said you would say I winna.

Nearly all the omnibus horses in London are imported from the United States and Canada.

EVERY THURSDAY MORNING IT THE SHRONICLE PRINTING HOUSE, CARAFRAXA STREE DURHAM, ONT.

SIBSCRIPTION THE CHRONICLE will be sent to any RATES year, payable in advance-$1.50 may be charged if not so paid. The date to which every subscription is paid is denoted by the number on the subscription is paid is denoted by the number on the subscription is paid is denoted by the number on the address label. No paper discontinued until all arrear are paid, except at the option of the proprietor.

DVERTISING For transient advertisements 8 cents per RATES . . . line each subsequent insertion-mini measure. Professional cards, not exceeding one inch 54.00 per annum. Advertisements without specifi directions will be published till forbid and charged a cordingly Transient notices—"Lost," "Found,
"For Sale," etc.—50 cents for first insertion, 25 cent for each subsequent insertion. All advertisements ordered by strangers must be pa

Contract rates for yearly advertisements furnished application to the office.

All advertise nents, to ensure insertion in current week, should be brought in not later than Tuesda

DEPARTMENT all NEW TYPE, thus affording facilities for turning out First-class work . . .

THE JOB : : Is completely stocked with

W. IRWIN. EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR. The Chronicle

Contains Each week an epitome of the world's news, articles on the household and farm, and serials by the most popular

Its Local News is Complete authors.

and market reports accurate

FURNITURE UNDERTAKING Prices Cut.

A FIRST CLASS HEARSE IN CONNECTION Embalming a specialty.

JACOB KRESS.

J. SHEWELL Dealer in all kinds of Furniture

Undertaking and Embalming A SPECIALTY DURHAM, - ONT

Farmers, Threshers and Millmen

AT THE BRICK FOUNDR -- WE MAKE --

Furnace Kettles, Power Staw Cutters, Hot Air Furnaces, Shingle Machinery, Band Saws, Emery Machines, hand or power; Cresting, Farmers' Kettles, Columns, Church Seat Ends, Bed Fasteners, Fencing, Pump-Makers' Supplies, School Desks, Fanning Mill Castings, Light Castings and Builders' Supplies, Sole Plates and Points for the different ploughs in use. Casting repairs for Flour and Saw Mills. -- WE REPAIR --

Steam Engines, Horse Powers, Separators, Mowers, Reapers. Circular and Cross-Cut Saws Gummed, Filed and Set. I am prepared to fill orders for

CHARTER SMITH, DURHAM FOUNDRYMAN

o representation FINEST TEA

IN THE WORLD PROM THE TEA PLANT TO THE TEA CUP

IN ITS NATIVE PURITY. "Mensoon" Tea is put up by the Indian Tea "B tase. Therefore they use the greatest care in the self section of the Tee and its blend, that is why they due stellings, thereby securing its purity and excellence has sold iff to the ib., I ib. and 5 ib. packages, and never original sold iff to the ib., I ib. and 5 ib. packages, and never original sold iff to the ib., I ib. and 5 ib. packages, and never original sold iff to the ib., I ib. and 5 ib. packages, and never original sold iff to the ib., I ib. and 5 ib. packages, and never original sold iff the ib., I ib. and 5 ib. packages, and never original sold iff the ib., I ib. and 5 ib. packages, and never original sold iff the ib.

ALL GOOD GROCERS KEEP IT. Your grocer does not keep it, tell him to write to STEEL, HAYTER & CO. Trant Street Fort Toronto.

adv

and

The Chronicle is the most wide ser by read newspaper published in the County of Grey.