JOHN HOPKINS, JR.,
Prop't, ALLAN PARK.

Opinion of the Bishop of Kimberly an Irish Catholic Ecclesiastic of the South African War.

The part of the letter which is of public interest is as follows:—

"Now for my personal opinion about the matter. I can, with a safe conscience, say that I think that England very seldom had a more just cause for war. The state of things in the Transvaal was a scandal to the nations. That a handful of men, some of them very illiterate, and all of whom were prejudiced and selfish, should be allowed to make laws forever for those who spent their money in buying up property in that country and developing its wealth, is preposterous.

"Chamberlain's indictment of the Transvaal Government was perfectly fair. I have no hesitation in saying so, and I have had thirteen years to study the question.

"I am not an Englishman, as you know, nor are my sympathies in general with England; but in this case I do believe that England will do credit to our common humanity by forcing a small State calling itself a republic to give equal rights to all.

ENGLAND'S TITLE TO INTERFERE.

"What one may call England's title to interfere in this matter, it is certain that in former years most of the Boers, their President at their head, asked England to come to their aid and take over the State. She did so, and then when the debts of the little republic were paid by England, and Paul Kruger received his salary, which was in arrears for a long time, he started a rebellion against the new authority. Gladstone gave them back their country under certain conditions. The fourth clause of the convention conveyed the idea that all who go into the country shall have equal rights. The Boers and their Volksraad did not keep that promise; they did not give equal rights to all.

"When the rush to the Transvaal began there was a very simple law for the franchise. I am writing from memory, I think it must have been a residence of two years and paying taxes. A few years afterwards this was increased to six years, then to nine years, then to fourteen years; and no one could say how many more years might be added on.

"Those who invested their money in the country had no hope of ever having a voice in the government of the country, and yet the Uitlanders were twice as numerous, at least, as the original usurpers. For in my mind I do not give to the Boers the title of nationality. They simply killed the Kaffirs fifty years ago, and they took their places. There is nothing in this that implies proscription for a nation.

"Now comes the question of Paul Kruger and his advisers. He had a clever man for a few years who kept him from committing himself too far; but he has left him, and now the whole Government seems to be the boat without a rudder. Oom Paul is shrewd, but when one considers that the President of the small republic which has only 60,000 inhabitants or thereabouts receives a salary as large as that of the President of the United States, one can imagine that paternalism is not the very first characteristic of his life.

"I cannot enter into the details of a question which, I believe, were most inquisitors regarding the interests of the country, the dynamite question etc., etc. These I do not care to consider.

EQUAL RIGHTS.

"I have always held that a man in any country has the same right as another if he conducts himself as he ought, and that there should be no distinction beyond that which is necessary to test his sincerity. Let the United States be the model for republics in this matter.

"There must not be at the end of the 19th century a government calling itself a republic while it is in reality a close oligarchy.

"Now, I have given you my views in general on the situation. Were I to go into the history of this country in more detail I could make a very much stronger case against the Boers. I only want to set you on what I consider the right line for judging of the struggle, which seems to me is inevitable now.

"The Boer is brave. Of that I have no doubt, he is ignorant and prejudiced to an alarming extent. On that account I do not condemn him, his fathers had to strike out into the desert and live as those who are cut off from civilization. His prejudice shows itself principally as regards the Catholic Church; and secondly, as regards the civilized habits of European nations. The Catholic Church is his bugbear. Catholics areathens to him. They worship snakes and wooden gods.

"I find I might go on forever in this strain but I have no time to give you my ideas fully, and I must wind up by saying that to my mind a war is the best way to end the unrest and insecurity that torment and paralyze the country here at present. We shall all suffer from it, probably we shall suffer a great deal, but in the end the country will gain, and gain immensely.

"As far as you are concerned, do not allow the idea to prevail that the Transvaal is a republic, except in name. Believe me, yours faithfully, A. Gaughran, O. M. I. (Bishop Gaughran.)" membership in order to have funds on hand for minor current expenses.

Dr. Jameson was called away but before leaving the President asked him for a short address which he delivered hastily in his usual free and easy style.

Mr. Laird was next called upon and spoke with his usual vigor for some time denouncing the present government for breaking faith with the people and riding into power on a batch of false promises.

Short addresses were also delivered by Messrs. John McArthur, of Priceville, Henry Brigham, of Allan Park, Chas. McKinnon, Durham, Mr. Ball, of Hanover, Mr. Moffatt, Edge Hill, and Mr. Richardson, of Flesherton.

Mr. Moffatt condemned with no uncertain sound the administration of the present government; and had sufficient time would have made an admirable address. Mr. Richardson went more fully into the matter, and clearly demonstrated wherein the present government had deceived the people, not only in regard to their general policy but in other questions as well.

The meeting closed by a resolution of confidence in the Conservative Leaders and the policy of the Conservative party.

The record of cures established by Dr. Chase's Ointment is unparalleled in the history of medicine in Europe or America. It has never yet been known to fail to cure piles of any description whatever.

The first application stops the itching, and continued use will absolutely rid the system of this torturing and loathsome disease.

There's not a town or village in Canada where Dr. Chase's Ointment has not made many cures. Ask your neighbors about it. Few families are without it in the house.

Dr. Chase's Ointment is beyond doubt the world's greatest cure for itching skin diseases. It is invaluable to women as a cure for the itching to which they are subject. It drives away pimples and blackheads and beautifies the skin. It stands pre-eminent as the only guaranteed cure for piles. 60 cts. a box, at all dealers, or EDMANSON, BATES & CO., Toronto.
