FAREWELL TO J. P. WHELAN.

At the meeting of the Epworth League on Monday night a digression was made from the ordinary program to pay a tribute of respect to Mr. J. P. Whelan who had decided to leave town next morning for Hepworth where he will enter business on his own account. Near the close of the meeting Mr. Whelan was called to the front and made the recipient of a purse accompanied by the address we give below. Without saying anything further than nearly to state that from intimate personal acquaintance we in endorse the sentiments expressed we give

THE ADDRESS.

MR. J. P. WHELAN. DEAR SIR AND BROTHER:—It is with feelings of deep regret that we learned only a few days ago of your intention to remove from amongst us and cast your lot amongst others with whom, we have no doubt, your social qualities, moral virtues and religious aspirations will soon cement a bond of union as strong as the tie of affection which caused so much regret at the intelligence of your removal from our midst.

Banded together as co-workers in various departments of the Master's vineyard—the League, the Sunday School and the Choir—it would be base ingratitude on our part to let the occasion pass without giving expression to our feelings of sorrow over your departure. We know, however, that you are leaving of your own free will, and that your employers have, and ever have had reason for implicit confidence in your integrity, uprightness of moral character, and a willingness to use your time, talents and energies for the interests of those with whom you were employed. These, and other virtues and social qualities, make the separation of deeper moment, and intensify the cause of our regret; yet there is another aspect which gives a silver lining to the dark cloud. We hope you are bettering your condition, and though we would selfishly keep you here we feel we must not do anything to hinder your progress and prevent a fuller development of the higher and better influences you are capable of exerting.

We feel also that our loss will not only be your personal gain, but a gain to the community with whom you become identified. Language fails to express our real feelings, nor can we give any tangible evidence that will be at all commensurate with our feelings of gratitude for the many services you have so cheerfully rendered in every department of church work, but in parting we ask you to kindly accept this purse as a slight token of our esteem and good will, trusting you will appreciate it, not because of its intrinsic value but as a mark of our esteem for your social and moral qualities.

In saying good-bye, we do so with best wishes for your future success and trust you may ever be able to look back to the town of your youth where many remain who are willing to do you honor.

Signed in behalf of THE EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Mr. Whelan made reply expressive of his kind feeling for the people of the Methodist Church who always took an active interest in his spiritual welfare, and did much to assist him in his Christian course. The high tribute he paid to his mother because of her Christian influence was a strong mark of filial affection.

TRAVERTON.

Mr. and Mrs. John Allan, of Egmont, visited the Hastie family last week.

"Last Tuesday was the shortest and brightest day I ever spent" said Tom Glencross. "Though I drove over seventy miles I was not one whit more tired than when I began."

The result of Saturday's convention is most satisfactory to this vicinity. Mr. Jardine is regaining his old vigor. Miss Janet returns to Toronto this week.

Mr. James Morrison, of the 8th, is an ideal pathmaster. By the way, he had a wee girl added to his household a week ago. That's No. 8.

The masons are to begin work on D. J. Cook's barn foundation this week. He has everything ready for them.

And so the Buessan "Raven" has to hustle now, for the young ravens must be fed. Congratulations. Let us hear from the Beaver now.

Mr. E. W. Hunt had a large stable with big loft above, erected last Friday afternoon. The way it went together and its appearance when up, proves clearly that Messrs. Banks and Cook understand their work thoroughly. The boys had a game of football after they had stowed away a monster supper.

There's something mystical in a moonlit night in June, or else Zion has a wonderfully attractive power. Perhaps both combined to bring out the merry throng that gathered from far and near to the Garden Party on Tuesday evening of last week. A score came down from Lauriston, Wauddy sent over every householder and his partner, quite a number of gay spirits were present from away out in Bentinck. Durham was well represented, as was Edge Hill, Buessan and the whole east end of the township. Edibles were at a premium for a while, but Zionites can hustle up more when occasion demands it. The program was a truly enjoyable one. Solos, bright and stirring, were sung by Messrs. John Cook, Herb Walker, R. L. Penfield and Mrs. W. J. Edwards, while Mr. and Mrs. Falkingham, and Miss Ella and Mr. John Cook gave two entertaining duets. The recitations were well rendered. Proceeds $30.
