

REMOVED

You can find us now at Morlock's Old Stand, Calder Block.

C. L. GRANT.

DURHAM CHRONICLE.

JUST ARRIVED

Just arrived, a nice assortment of Perfect Fitting Ladies' Mantles.

C. L. GRANT.

Vol. 34--No. 1754.

Durham, Ont., Thursday, October 25th, 1900.

$1.00 Per Year.

LOCAL NEWS.

WANTED—Housekeeper, at once. This office.

Now is the time to think of Cutters. See big stock at J. Livingston's.

FOR SALE—Pure Bred Jersey Bull Calf, Registered Pedigree. Apply to F. PEEL.

HOUSE TO RENT—Up town. Apply to R. A. Joe, Jr.

TWO GIRLS WANTED—To go to Toronto house maid and cook. Apply to Mrs. Jamieson.

FOUND—A cane with bone handle and silver band, at the Post office. Got it by paying for this notice.

LOST—The first of September, a black Berkshire sow pig, about six months old. Finder will be rewarded by giving information leading to her recovery. B. CRITTENDEN, Varney.

STOCK FOR SALE—Thoroughbred Durham bull calf for sale and also some brood mares and colts. Apply to Wm. Morrison, Edge Hill.

HOUSE AND LOT FOR SALE—Large frame dwelling, good stable, well cistern and other conveniences. Apply to Mrs. Kilmer.

The moving picture show Co. exhibited here Monday night as announced last week, but not under the auspices of the Epworth League, there being some misunderstanding to the bottom of which we have not yet got. Being elsewhere we cannot speak personally as to the merits or demerits of the entertainment. Political meetings outside, another lecture in town, and other counter attractions made the attendance very small, but nevertheless, without a single dissenting voice they honored our account as soon as presented, and paid over the cash in full without a murmur. This goes a long way in giving us confidence in the integrity of the Laing Bros. Moving Picture Show. Our experience goes to prove that not one travelling show in ten but will plead for a reduction when they meet with a night's hard luck as the Laing Bros. did here. We learn that the entertainment was good.

MR. RICHARDSON AT HOLSTEIN

On Monday night last a meeting in the interest of Mr. Richardson, the Conservative candidate, was held in the Agricultural hall, in the village of Holstein. Notwithstanding the fact that the weather was somewhat unfavorable, the hall was comfortably filled some time before the hour of commencing. From about seven to eight o'clock the Italian Harpers, announced to play at Mr. Richardson's meetings discoursed sweet music on the violin and harp, much to the delight apparently of all who were present and who had sufficient love of music to appreciate it.

At 8 o'clock Mr. Richardson called the meeting to order and requested the nomination of a chairman. Mr. Allan, of Egremont, was soon selected, and never did he fill the position better than he did on this occasion. His introduction was brief and to the point, and his remarks between the addresses were in good taste.

Mr. Richardson ascertained upon enquiry that Mr. Wm. Calder, of Durham, had come to represent the cause of Dr. Landerkin, and kindly invited him to take a seat upon the platform, when a program was arranged. Mr. Ramago, of the Review was also present on the platform, but was not one of the speakers.

Mr. Wm. Laidlaw was the first speaker, and on rising expressed his gratification at seeing so many present. He also said that he did not intend to take up much time, as the candidate and Dr. Jamieson were present, and he knew that Mr. Richardson was the speaker whom the people wished to hear. He thought also that it was to be regretted that the two candidates could not have arranged for joint meetings in order that the people might hear both sides of the story from the same platform by the candidates themselves. This, however, was not the fault of Mr. Richardson, as he failed to get Dr. Landerkin to enter into such an arrangement. Then followed a caustic arraignment of the government for a violation of all the promises upon which they secured office; increased expenditure, coal oil combines, broken pledges, etc., etc., but we must be brief.

Mr. Calder was the next speaker, and after an effort to rattle the people he followed the points that had been touched by Mr. Laidlaw. He first started out to show that the present policy of the Government was not the N. P. of 1896, and after considerable muddling he figured out that during the past four years an all round average reduction of two per cent. had been made. A magnificent point was gained in the interest of the Reform party, when he pointed out that coal oil, binder twine and cream separators had been put on the free list. During the eighteen years of Conservative rule only 3762 cattle were sent into the United States, and since 1896, under Liberal rule they sent in the enormous number of 354,503. If the people of Egremont possess half the intelligence Mr. Calder gave them credit for they could have no difficulty in seeing that the self-constituted political stumper was "far beyond his depth."

Dr. Jamieson was next called, and indulging a few minutes in his usual pleasantries, he turned his attention to Mr. Calder, whose address he ridiculed so fully that not a vestige of it remained. He gave a true version of the American quarantine regulations, and the circumstances by which their removal was brought about, demonstrating beyond the shadow of a doubt, that no credit should be given the Liberals. The debt at the present time he showed to be seven millions in excess of what it was in 1896. The question of cold storage and rapid transportation, too, had its origin during Conservative rule, and the negotiations that had been entered by the Conservative party before leaving office, for a fast line of steamships to the old country was set aside by the present administration and the commerce of the country is still suffering from inaction.

Mr. Richardson was the last speaker, and on rising to the platform was cheered to the echo. He regretted, he said, that union meetings could not have been arranged for, and explained the course he adopted but without success, in trying to bring about such meetings. A few minutes were next spent on the democratic character our government was supposed to take, after which a review was made of the various circumstances which led to the advent of the present rulers. The hard times, all over the world, of which Canada bore a share in the last years of Conservative rule was not the work of any government more than is the good time now enjoyed with the returning wave of prosperity. A brief reference was made to the Manitoba school question, which he regarded as the cause of the Conservative overthrow. The return of prosperity, the discovery of gold in the Yukon, the Queen's jubilee and other circumstances, ushering in just after the Liberals came into power had no doubt a good effect on the party. The Yukon Scandal, the Preferential trade question, the violation of the pre-election pledges, scandalously ignored, were gracefully portrayed by the speaker, and believed by the great bulk of the people present.

Mr. Richardson frankly admitted that some acts of the Conservative government should be condemned, but his comparison between free investigation and subsequent punishment of offenders under Conservative rule, and the attempts on the part of the Liberals to screen the wrong doings of their own party was well received portion of Mr. Richardson's address, and the frank way he put the matter could not fail to win the respect if not the support of some of his political opponents. The reference made to Sir Wilfred's ability as a polished speaker, his loyal talk at the jubilee in London, and his subsequent dallying inaction in sending the contingent when the empire was in danger was appreciated by his audience.

In concluding his able address he referred to the ever friendly personal relations between himself and Dr. Landerkin, but with regard to his political career he had no knowledge that the Dr. had ever cast an independent vote, but was always a slave to the party with whom he voted, under all circumstances, whether right or wrong. If right it was all right; if wrong it was all wrong, but right or wrong Dr. Landerkin voted with the party. Independence in the exercise of his own judgement in all questions was a right he claimed, and if the party wished to be represented by a mere voting machine he was not the man to elect, as no party would bind him to support every or any measure, only as he saw it to be for the welfare of the country. He believed, too, that the electorate of this country was possessed more than ever before of a true spirit of independence, and turning to the chairman paid him a magnanimous compliment when he said he regarded the Patron movement as largely instrumental in bringing about this healthy condition of political independence.

The meeting was closed with cheers for the Candidate, the Queen, and a hearty vote of thanks to the chairman, Mr. Allan. It was a most orderly meeting and every one got a respectful hearing.

FOR SALE—Fine Bell organ, walnut case, a bargain. Mrs. J. A. Darling.

T. P. SMITH, Eye Specialist, at Knapp House, Wednesday, Nov. 14. One day only.

The Bogus Globe.

It seems, though we have not seen one, that a "bogus" Globe, has been circulated among some of the Dominion Electors, and of course the "genuine" Globe and other Liberal organs speak of it as an effort on the part of the Conservatives to damage their party by unfair means. Now we do not know how such a dissemination of campaign literature had its origin, nor can we speak definitely in the matter. If the Conservatives, as a party or as an individual clique did it, it was a flagrant wrong; if the Reformers did it, it was not a whit better, but rather worse. Our opinion is that the fraud was the work of unprincipled Liberals, because honest ones wouldn't do it in the hope of bringing odium on the Conservative party. Springing such a fraud on the electorate two or three weeks before the election, would be a piece of lunacy on the part of any Conservative, and sure to work like a boomerang to the detriment of the party. The Conservatives, as a party, are not foolish enough to be caught in any such game. It may serve the Grits as an election cry, but we'll venture to say an investigation will not be forced.

An Artful Dodger.

In an effort Tuesday, in front of his own residence, Mr. Thomas Allan, Principal of our school, had a narrow escape from injury, and a short experience he will not soon forget. A runaway team was seen approaching, and to stop them he rushed out on the street with a fishing rod, which he endeavored to use to stop their progress. But the team paid no attention, more than to separate so that Mr. Allan was in a line between the two horses without time to escape on either side. With wonderful presence of mind he dropped down on the road and the horses and wagon passed madly on. Mr. Allan occupying the line directly between the horses and the wheels came off without a scratch. Though the experiment was a success in this case Mr. Allan wouldn't recommend the practice just for the mere fun experienced.

Our Opinion of Mr. Richardson.

For fifteen years we have known Mr. Richardson. We have known him intimately. We have known him as a gentleman. We have known him as a business man. We have known him as a member of the Municipal Council. We have known him as a member of the County Council. We have known him as a member of the School Board. We have known him in every relation and walk of life and in every case we have known him as a success. In every case we have known him to be honorable and upright in his dealings. In not a single instance have we found the slightest deviation from the path of rectitude. The more we know of Mr. Richardson the more we respect him, and should it be the good fortune of the people of South Grey to elect him as our representative in the House of Commons, we will stake our reputation he will soon be known throughout the Dominion as a wise legislator worthy of the confidence of any people.

FLESHERTON.

It affords your correspondent great pleasure this week to chronicle the marriage of our esteemed townsman, Thomas Carter, M. D., who, on Wednesday of last week, was joined in wedlock to Miss Eliza Pye, third daughter of the late Charles Pye, Esq., of Meaford, in which town Miss Pye has, for a number of years, adorned the teaching profession, and will be greatly missed from the Public School staff. The marriage took place at the home of the bride's mother, Elder C. J. Lister, of Owen Sound, officiating. The drawing room decorations, amidst which the ceremony was performed, were artistic and in harmony with the season, being chiefly of evergreens and autumn leaves. The bride was prettily attired in a travelling suit of brown cloth, and was attended by her niece, Miss Fulton, of Woodstock, who was gowned with Tuscan silk lisse over white silk, with touches of black velvet. At the conclusion of the ceremony and congratulations a dainty wedding repast was served after which Dr. and Mrs. Carter left for their new home here, arriving at 9 p. m., and were given a cordial reception by a few of the ladies who had luncheon awaiting them. The happy couple were also given a splendid musical welcome by the I. O. F. Band, who, at the conclusion of their program, received generous treatment at the hands of the Doctor. The esteem in which the bride is held by her numerous friends is betokened by the array of very beautiful wedding presents, among which may be mentioned the following:—A beautiful silver tea service from Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Pye, of Clarksburg; a beautiful marble clock from Mr. and Mrs. Tobias, Toronto; a costly and handsome cabinet of sterling silver from Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Foxon, of Woodstock; and a very handsome upholstered oak chair and silver toast rack from the Meaford Public School staff and scholars. The Chronicle scribe joins with hosts of other friends in extending to Dr. and Mrs. Carter the customary congratulations, hoping that life to them may be long and as bright as was their wedding day.

A large congregation listened with deep interest to Rev. J. G. Shearer on the work of the Lord's Day Alliance in the Presbyterian church on Sabbath afternoon last. Mr. Shearer's excellent address will, we have no doubt, awaken interest here in the work of the Alliance in their noble efforts to preserve the sanctity of the Sabbath throughout our fair Dominion.

Union Thanksgiving service was held in the Presbyterian church on Thursday last. Rev. J. Ward preached an appropriate sermon from Ps. 105:1. The thank-offering was in behalf of the B. & F. Bible Society.

Revs. J. Ward, of this place, and W. P. Brown, of Corbetton exchanged pulpits on Sunday last.

On Saturday last Fred Bunt, driver of the egg wagon, and Mr. Pooley, pickler in the eggery, were on the wagon near Thompson's corner, on the Meaford Road, and descending the hill at that point, they were thrown forward from the box on which they sat and fell beneath the horses feet. The team began to kick and run, but were captured at the corner without damage to the wagon. Mr. Bunt received several severe bruises from the horses feet and had one rib fractured in two places. Mr. Pooley fared better but considerably shaken up. Both had a narrow escape from very serious injury.

Editor Thurston took an outing to Eugenia on Thanksgiving Day, and after wearisome climbing over rocks and debris secured several gems of views of the gorge below the falls. He also secured an excellent picture of the main waterfall. The editor has an eye for the artistic, and has become an expert with the Kodak. On the same day several of our citizens visited the gas well drillers in Osprey and were much interested in their operations. The depth then was over 1400 feet, and there was a strong odor of gas.

The young men of town have opened a club-room in the old Advance office, and on Thanksgiving evening gave a supper to their young lady friends, after which the evening was spent in social enjoyment.

Mr. E. P. Lawrence, of this place, expects to move his family this week to Darnoch, where he has purchased a large quantity of timber and is going into the saw and shingle mill business. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence are citizens whom we are sorry to lose.

Mr. R. Mathewson, who lives a mile west of the village, held a successful sale of farm stock, implements etc., on Monday last. Auctioneer Noble, of Markdale, conducted the sale. Mr. Mathewson has sold his farm for $3000 to Mr. W. Burnett, near Flesherton Station, and is, we understand, about to remove to Maple, York County, to live.

Among those who took advantage of Thanksgiving holidays to visit friends were Mr. R. J. Sproule and Mrs. W. A. Armstrong at Toronto; Mr. R. Trimble and Miss Zilla Trimble at Owen Sound; Master Bert and Miss Ella Barnhouse at Toronto.

Miss Patterson, of Kleinburg, visited her cousin, Mrs. W. H. Bunt; Miss Lena Rankin, teacher Mayburn, visited her sister, Miss Sadie Rankin; Mr. Archie Gibson, Dundalk, visited the parental home; Dr. Emerson Henderson, wife and niece, Toronto, visited at Mr. B. N. Henderson's; Mr. W. Neil, Toronto, visited his sister, Miss Mary Neil; Mr. J. Mills, Toronto, visited at Mr. J. Sullivan's.

Mr. Wm. Strain returned from Ann Arbor, Mich., last week, and is looking after business matters and spending a short time with friends here.

Mr. Geo. Mitchell spent a few days in Alliston last week with his mother, who is very ill.

Miss F. H. Beaton, of Toronto, is visiting her brother, Mr. M. K. Beaton, for a couple of weeks.

Mrs. Drinkwater, of Guelph, and Mrs. Thorne, of Toronto, visited at Mr. M. K. Beaton's over Sunday.

Mr. R. Parslow, of Swinton Park, visited his daughter, Mrs. E. P. Lawrence, on Saturday last.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Inspector and Mrs. Campbell visited in Toronto last week.

Miss Maud Davidson returned a few days ago from a visit to Toronto. Rev. Mr. McGregor was at the Baptist Convention in Woodstock last week.

Dr. and Mrs. Hutton moved to town last week. We extend them a cordial welcome.

J. H. McConnell, of Toronto, representing the British Chemical Co., gave us a call Tuesday.

Rev. Mr. Hamilton, of Palmerston, will exchange work Sunday next with Rev. Mr. McGregor.

Mr. Brad Jamieson spent a few days at home, returning to resume his studies Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Jackson, of Clinton, spent a few days with old friends in town last week. We are pleased to see they are looking younger than they were years ago.

Mr. B. B. Moore returned Monday from British Columbia for which province he left here a couple of weeks ago taking with him his poultry, a cow and a lot of furniture. About Saturday next he intends leaving again, and will this time be accompanied by his wife and Mrs. Stephen, his sister-in-law. We wish them all a happy trip and a prosperous future.

SEE the King quality goods at the Shoe Store.

PEEL's hand-made are the boots for this time of the year.

GET the well known Granby rubbers at the Shoe Store.

SEE our top draft stoves before buying any other heater.—At John Livingston's.

ANOTHER large shipment of top draft stoves just to hand at John Livingston's.

HITS AND MISSES.

Many a good kiss was nipped in the bud by a young four-year-old urchin coming into the room with a lighted lamp in his hand.

It's a good thing not to have too keen an ear for music, if church choirs furnish as much poor music as some of the critics say they do.

After seeing a glass of beer analysed, some of the old beer tasters conclude they have been drinking too much froth for the quantity of alcohol, and they'll start out on straight brandy.

Before a man is married he knows all about how to manage a wife, but afterwards he has all he can do to manage to keep out of her way.

Was there ever a lamp chimney broken when somebody wasn't ready to give advice to "save the pieces?"

When cheese can be led home by a string it may be pronounced strong.

It's handy to keep a dog. In case burglars come around all you have to do is to go down stairs and wake up the dog.

It's easier to talk of "training up a child in the way he should go" than it is to make the young rascal go.

Is the twenty-three cent Canadian coal oil any better than it was before the huge combine when it was sold at fifteen cents?

When a fellow has cheek enough to think he can do a little political stumping he should be thick enough in the hide not to get mad on hearing of a plaster bust.

The presence of a lady at a young men's banquet will always destroy the grandiloquent orations, specially cut and dried for such occasions. It's a Dick-ens of a fix the boys were in if we McCaul it such.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

For week ending Oct. 20, 1900.
TEMPERATURE.
Oct. 14	Max. 70	Min. 45
Oct. 15	" 72	" 43
" 16	" 45	" 36
" 17	" 50	" 25
" 18	" 58	" 35
" 19	" 50	" 27
" 20	" 50	" 30

Rainfall for the week, 0.3 in. Hours of sunshine during the week, 57.6. General direction of the wind, S. W. to N. W., and light, save and except on the morning of 16th, when it blue hard. First frost of the season on the morning of the 17th, when the temperature fell as above, to 25 degrees—being seven degrees of frost.

J. G. HUTTON M. D. C. M. Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario.

Office hours: 9 to 12 a. m. 2 to 4 p. m. Residence and office, Old Bank buildings, Upper Town, Durham. Will visit Priceville Tuesday and Friday of each week from 9 p. m. to 4 p. m.

Fancy and Printed FLANELETTES and Welt Suitings.

Just Opened Out

- 1 Line Printed Flannelette, regular 15c., at 12½c.
- 1 Line Fancy Wrapperette, " 15c., at 12½c.
- 1 Line Extra Value at 12½c., now 10c. per yard.

We expect to move shortly, and are anxious to clear out as many Lines of Dry-goods as possible. To do this, we have decided to quote prices for the next three weeks that will make it an object for you to buy.

WE ARE SOLE AGENTS FOR BLUE RIBBON TEA.

A few more Waterproof Coats left Going at $3.50.

J. & J. HUNTER.

The Busy Store on The Street.

REMOVED

We removed last week to our new store opposite Mill Street and while we thank all our old customers for their past favors we ask for a continuance of their patronage in our new quarters.

S. F. MORLOCK.