CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR MEETING.

He put his audience into thoroughly good humor by relating the story of a colored brother who prayed the Lord to bless all that was done and said at the meeting and especially the last speaker. It had taken four speakers to welcome delegates and now he was to reply for all.

Next in order was an address from Mr. Shaw entitled "Lessons in Religious Work the Nineteenth Century Ought to Teach Us." He had come into the Christian Endeavor work when a very young man and was glad to know that one of the first lessons the 19th century ought to teach us that there is a place in the work for every young man and young woman who has the love of Christ in his or her heart.

Another lesson was that of organization. Organization is power. The politician knows it, the business man knows it, to day the church is touching the ends of the earth with its organization. Still a third lesson and it was this that the church of Christ had not lifted up the Christ enough as an ideal. The call for the coming century was a raising of the standard.

At the close of this first session the Guelph Local Union gave a social reception and luncheon to the visiting delegates.

WEDNESDAY MORNING. Wednesday morning opened with a quiet hour service from 8:30 to 9:30 following was an interesting business session. First a report from Junior Superintendent, Miss Whitworth, of St. Marys. Then a report from Dr. Dickson, of Galt, and then a report from our Secretary, Mr. Cooper, of Clinton. I wish all could have heard Mr. Cooper. In an address filled with energy he referred to the marvellous spread of the C. E. movement through the world. The reports from the Union in Ontario received during the year showed decrease in both active and associate membership. There were, however, 90 new societies making an increase in total membership of 3,500. Contributions to missions 25,000 and 1,800 members had joined church in past year.

Presentation of banners then followed, these going to Lambton for increase in membership and York for the largest amount contributed to missions. York has 112 societies, but only 38 reported. But what do you think their contributions were? $1,467.95.

Rev. A. N. McLeod, of Ottawa, closed morning session with an address on "The Holy Spirit."

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

In the afternoon of Wednesday we had Denominational Rallies. Of course being a Presbyterian I went to our own rally which was held in St. Andrews church. Rev. Dr. Dickson presiding. In the absence of Dr. McIntosh, of Toronto, Rev. Mr. Farquharson kindly consented to give us some thoughts on the Endeavorers devotional life. Mr. Farquharson said first and foremost the Endeavorer should be a devout Christian. It was all very well to have social and literary work part of the programmes, but the first care should be for the Christ following of every member in his or her daily life.

Rev. Mr. Geggie, of Toronto, gave an address on the Christian Endeavor in the Church.

He said the trouble with the C. E. Society meetings was that too many of them thought their duties were confined to their Society, that their work began and ended with the weekly prayer meeting. The prayer meeting should inspire us for work through the week. If the devotional life does not help us in the work of the world then there is something wrong. The vineyard is the Church we attend and we should try and get out of the realm of self and try and make some one come under the Christ influence and thus work in the general extension of the Gospel.

WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Wednesday evening I went to Norfolk St. Methodist Church to hear Mr. Geggie again and after his address went over to Chalmers where we heard the end of Rev. Mr. Wilson's address, standing room in the church being at a premium.

Mr. Geggie's address on the Mission and equipment of the Endeavor was again inspiring. First a thought from him before we pass on to Thursday's meeting. He said a life without a definite purpose has no real effectiveness in its service. If the saloons are to be destroyed and young men saved it is by getting down to work.

THURSDAY MORNING.

Thursday morning as Wednesday opened with a quiet hour service led by Rev. Mr. McKenzie, of Stratford. The first address was by Rev. Geo. S. Clendenen, Brockville, on the subject "The Achievements, present position and significance of Missionary Movements among the Young People throughout the World." He declared that the Young Peoples' Societies would be to the forces evangelizing the world what the colonial forces had been to Lord Roberts in South Africa. He thought the outlook particularly bright for the spread of the Gospel by the agency of young people.

Our own Foreign Mission Secretary Dr. McKay, of Toronto, next spoke on "How to Foster and Utilize Among Members of Young Peoples' Societies a Missionary Spirit Adequate to the Opportunities of this Generation." He spoke of the opportunities of this generation as greater than ever. It was easier today to do missionary work than it was fifty years ago. The growth of missionary work in the last ten years had been very rapid. The facilities were improving so that in a short time we would be able to reach China in ten weeks by the Siberia Railway. We should get the Societies to see that this field was their work. To get them to read the Bible intelligently, study some missionary books and keep in touch with movements of the time.

Round Table Conference, led by Rev. Mr. Crews came next. The morning session concluded with an address by Canon Richardson, London, who gave an interesting account of the World's Endeavor Convention in London, England, in July last at which he responded to the welcome to Canada.

The afternoon session opened in Chalmers Church with a business meeting where we elected the officers for the year. Then we went over to Norfolk to a splendid rally of the little folk and their teachers the Junior workers.

We now adjourned to the Junior Banquet in the Congregational Church.

Now for the closing of this most successful of all the C. E. Conventions. All through the Convention there had been a little uncertainty as to whether we were to hear after all the Rev. Chas. Sheldon, the great author of "In His Steps." But all doubt was cleared away at 6 o'clock when a telegram was read announcing his arrival in the city. He was to speak at Chalmers church first and then go over to Norfolk St. Methodist as of course one church would not hold the crowds who came in to hear him from all the surrounding towns and cities, special trains being run. As he ascended the platform at Chalmers we all rose and sang "Blessed be the Tie that Binds." Mr. Sheldon received another greeting as he stepped forward to address the audience. He is not a pretentious man in any respect and his address was more after the conversational style. His discourse was simple and practical and had behind it the power of a consistent life. Addressing the congregation as brethren and Christian friends he said in the last two or three years he had almost forgotten to what devotion he had been since the cordial greetings he had received in England and the hospitality shown him while there. He did not appear before the Convention he said to make any unreasonable appeal but to ask only the young Endeavorers to try to live up to the standard of life set up in the words of Jesus when he said "follow Me." I bring you simply an idea, follow Christ. The call to all is to follow Christ. There is no law that says, I begone I am a minister, must live higher than the man or woman who works in the shop, the store or any other occupation. It is not man who says "follow Me" it is God. In my writings I did not give you any command but repeated what God said generations ago. It is not alone because God has commanded me to live the ideal life, I am striving to do so, it is because I love to do so. It is not enough to be honest because it is the best policy. If we live on a second standard we will soon drop to a third.

"In my Church," said Mr. Sheldon, "there has been organized a What would Jesus do Society. They are pledged to do as Christ would have them do. None have kept that pledge. No one can say he have attained it. It is our duty to strive after it. If we do not have a standard in life and try to reach it we will drop away altogether."

HITS AND MISSES.

Most people hate to lend their pumps.

Did you ever see a town without a Smith or a Brown?

Who'd be bothered with electric lights when you can get a lantern for 60c?

Some people leave their religion all week in the pocket of their Sunday coat.

Tell that neighbor of yours to subscribe now for THE DURHAM CHRONICLE.

It seems that politics and religion have about as little affinity as oil and water.

A girl is always pretty if she has a rich dad, but the rich dad isn't always pretty.

If a man's word isn't to be depended up, it is hard to trust him under any circumstances.

Some of our delinquents are as mad as hornets since we set the collectors after them. We have been mad four years waiting. Turn about is fair play.

If it can be at all suspected that a man is moved by self interest, he'll never be likely to get full credit in spending his money so as to build up the appearance of the town he lives in.
