

DOWIE DENIES AID.

He says the Devil Stole into his House and took his Child—Would not Believe Her Pain—An Inquest Ordered to be Held.

The following article is copied from the Walkerton Telescope, and we give it just as it appeared:—

"I am dying. Give me help." "Your father is praying. Peace be with you."

"Oh, I suffer. Help, help, I beg of you." "God is watching over you. All Zion is praying for you. Even now your father is sending forth an appeal. You will not die; you do not die. Conquer the devil."

In her bed chamber in Zion Home, 1201 Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Miss Esther Dowie, eldest daughter of John Alexander Dowie, lay dying Wednesday night.

All but blinded, her face a mass of cruel burns, caused by the explosion of an alcohol lamp, the young woman tossed on a bed of pain, while her father and mother, surrounded by faithful followers, denied her assistance.

"I pray for you, daughter," said Dowie shortly before 9 o'clock Wednesday night.

"Oh, how I suffer, father," whispered the daughter.

"The devils at work," quoted Dowie to his wife. "She will not die, I say it."

More than five thousand followers of Dowie were ordered to pray for the suffering woman. It was a moment of importance to Zion and its cause.

DIES IN SPITE OF PRAYER. Overseer Piper and Captain Stern were called to the bedside of the girl and asked to pray. They joined with Mr. and Mrs. Dowie.

Shortly after 9 o'clock, Miss Esther, who had long been at the right hand of her father, screamed forth in her agony. Her cries for assistance were heard far out in Michigan Avenue. It is said her cries were stifled. She was commanded to have faith. She pleaded and begged for help. At last sweet oil was poured over the burns that had eaten into her face and neck. For a few minutes the pains were stilled.

"She will recover," spoke Dowie. He hadn't completed his sentence when with a frightful effort, the young woman raised herself in bed with her arms raised upward she screamed again and again.

Then she fell back dead. A remarkable scene followed, according to a member of Dowie's home. The self-styled Elijah III, stamped up and down the bedchamber, cursing the devil, who, he shouted, had stolen into his home and taken his daughter from his protection.

"This must never reach the public," he is said to have shouted. "She is not dead. I say it. Who dare say otherwise?"

There was not an answer from the frightened followers. But among the number there was one who said a new light had come to him.

"I now see and understand Dowie," he said the next day. "I have left his home. God forgive me for permitting that poor girl to suffer as she did last night. I saw and heard her cries, but I dared not move. I feared Dowie, who was in a rage."

Nearly twelve hours after Miss Esther had died, and her remains had been carried to another floor, Undertaker Haggart, of 133 South Western avenue, was notified. He followed the instructions of the law and notified the coroner's office.

INQUEST ORDERED. An inquest was ordered and was called for 11 o'clock Thursday morning. Deputy Coroner Senf went to Zion home to seek some information. He learned little. He said he would continue the inquest until such time that he could collect all the details.

To newspaper men, Zion home was more closely guarded than ever. Within the big building Dowie walked back and forth, refusing to eat or to talk to his followers. In little groups they sat or walked about the capacious corridors talking in still whispers.

Miss Esther, who was 25 years old, was curling her hair Wednesday afternoon late, with the aid of an alcohol lamp. Suddenly her hair caught fire and was burned from her head. It is said her eyes were all but burned out. Her neck was burned almost to a crisp.

Her cries for help brought her mother. The flames were extinguished and word was sent to her father at Zion City. He hurried to the bedside and spent hours in prayer. It was said by one of his followers that never in the history of Dowie tapers, did he rage like he did when he saw his daughter dying.

Captain Stern said Miss Dowie had refused to accept medical assistance. This is denied by others, who declare that she begged for help.

Is Your Back Lame. Does it hurt to stoop or bend down? Have you a heavy dull pain at the base of the spine? If so, the best remedy is Nerviline; it will invigorate the tired, sore muscles, make them supple and strong. Nerviline will drive out the pain and make you well in no time. Nothing so good as Nerviline for Lumbago, Stiff Neck, Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Sciatica. Buy a 25c. bottle of Polson's Nerviline to-day, and try it.

CALF FEEDING.

"For a number of years I have had most of my cows drop their calves in the late fall, or early winter," says Duncan C. Anderson of Rugby, Ontario; "and I have come to the conclusion that there is a decided gain in so doing. The milking season is lengthened; cows coming in fresh before Christmas, by liberal feeding in winter, milk nearly as well in the early summer when the pastures are at their best, as cows that come in fresh in March. We milk ten months, giving the cows two months rest. They are rested in the early fall, when the pastures are at their poorest. At that time the grass is generally dry, parched and burned up. As we raise on the skim milk one calf to each cow, it is very important that the cows should have two months rest out of the twelve. When the cows are milked to within a couple of weeks of calving they get no chance to recuperate. The calf generally comes with a weakened vitality, and does not make as rapid or satisfactory a growth in the first six months, as when the cow has had a fair period for rest and recuperation. After a long term of experience I have come to the conclusion, considering the increased price of winter butter, the long milking season, resting when the grass is poor, that in winter dairying, cows give at least 25% more milk in the season than if they came in fresh in the spring months. Again an early winter or fall calf is quite as heavy at two and one half years as a spring calf is at three years old. There is a gain of six months in the age of the calf, the reason for this being that it is weaned off the milk in June, goes on the grass, is fed a little grain or meal all summer, and in the fall it is a good strong lusty yearling, and winters much better than a spring calf, which is just weaned in the fall and goes into winter.

When a calf is dropped it is not good practice to allow the cow to fondle and lick her offspring. When the separation does take place there is always a disturbance in the cow stable; the mother gets excited, and some nervous cows remain so for the best part of a week. Better results are obtained by removing the new born calf without allowing the mother to lick it. Rub it dry with a wisp of straw, put it into a roomy dry, warm pen, free from frosts and drafts, and give it no milk for the first twelve hours. When a calf is hungry it is not nearly so much trouble to teach it to drink. The first two weeks it should have a quart of whole milk three times a day, care being taken that the noon milk is warmed to new milk heat. For the next three weeks half a quart of Skim milk should be added to the whole milk at each meal. When the calf gets to be five weeks old, discontinue the noon milk, and the whole milk, giving about three quarts of skim milk twice a day. By this time the stomach will be strong enough to assimilate and digest other food. The noon meal should then be pulped roots, chopped oats and well saved clover hay. If a separator is not used and the milk is set in shallow pans or deep setting cans, it should always be warmed up to new milk heat before being fed. If it is fed cold or too hot it is apt to produce bloating and scours. When through careful feeding, scouring is allowed to become chronic, there is no remedy. When a calf is not doing well break an egg into the milk; this acts as a tonic and adds strength to its ration.

To supplement the loss of butter fat in milk, take for 12 calves over two months old four cups of flax seed, put it into a common stove pot and fill up with water. Do this after dinner and allow it to simmer all afternoon and evening. Next morning boil smartly for about one half hour, stir in some wheat flour, until the mixture is about the consistency of thin porridge. A calf three months old will take a cup full of this flax seed tea porridge in its skim milk. The flour is used to counteract the loosening effect of the flax seed. Care must be used at first not to overfeed but to work up gradually to what I have mentioned, with skim milk, flax seed tea, roots, chopped oats and clover hay, and with comfortable warm pens kept clean and well bedded. Calves can in this way be raised much more profitably in winter than in summer. When a separator is used it is best to skim the froth off the skimmed milk and not feed it to the young calves, especially those under three months. It has a tendency to disturb the normal action of the stomach, and set up scours. Whenever a calf is scouring reduce the quantity of skim milk. Be careful to have the pail from which the calves are fed as clean as possible. With skim milk at the right temperature fed out of pails as clean as your milking pails, in not too large quantities, and fed regularly, there will be but little trouble from calves scouring.

In warm weather calves should be kept in during the day time, and turned out during the evening. Thus they will avoid the hot sun and flies. Whole or chopped oats should be fed. A mixture of whole and chopped oats, about a cupful twice a day for an ordinary sized calf on good pasture, will be sufficient. For fall feeding until the roots are harvested, there is nothing equal to green corn run through the cutting box and mixed with some chopped oats.

The main point in calf feeding is to never allow them to stop growing, and in the case of beef animals keep them in good flesh. In feeding calves as in every system of feeding the extremes of over and under feeding are to be avoided. Continuous, regular, liberal feeding always brings the most profit, and the best practical results."

LETTER FROM MR. W. J. GAGE. $30,000 Needed to Maintain the Free Hospital for Consumptives.—An Urgent Call for Help.—"No Needy Consumptive Debarred Admission."—A Great Work of Faith.

The following letter, above the signature of Mr. W. J. Gage, chairman of the National Sanitarium Association, is being sent out to the public, and carries its own explanation and importance. Mr. Gage says:

"On behalf of the Trustees of the National Sanitarium Association I wish to sincerely thank the many friends in all parts of the Dominion who have so generously responded to the appeal of the Association for funds to equip and maintain the Free Hospital for Consumptives at Muskoka—the amount so far received totalling nearly $8,000. An appeal for $10,000 was made for the purpose of equipment and maintenance of the Free Hospital, and although only about three-quarters of the amount, up to the present, has been secured, we began to receive patients in April, the applications for admission becoming so urgent. It costs over $8.00 a week to maintain each patient. This includes board, medical attendance, nursing, etc. Accommodation will be provided for one hundred patients, which will mean an outlay for maintenance alone of more than $30,000 yearly. The building is the gift of two Toronto citizens. You have generously provided the money to furnish and equip. There is no endowment. The Trustees rest solely on the big-heartedness of the Canadian public to provide money for the maintenance of 100 patients yearly, and in this faith they are receiving patients, allowing no needy consumptive to be debarred admission, however poor his or her circumstances, who can meet the medical requirements of the institution. Applications for admission are not simply pressing but absolutely distressing, showing the importance of the work and emphasizing, what we believe to be the case, that this is the greatest charity before the Canadian people to-day. It is the only Free Hospital for Consumptives in Canada—other hospitals, and even private homes, refusing accommodation for those suffering from this dread disease. The letters that we are receiving daily give evidence of the terrible need there is for just such an institution. The Trustees have faith that the people of this prosperous Dominion will furnish the Association with the required amount to meet every call upon it—that none may be turned away—and in this spirit the doors have been opened and the work is being carried on."

Subscriptions may be sent to Hon. Sir Wm. R. Meredith, Kt., Chief Justice, 4 Lampart Ave., Toronto; W. J. GAGE, Esq., 54 Front St. West, Toronto, or to the NATIONAL TRUST CO., LIMITED, Treasurer, 22 King St. East, Toronto.

The Evils of Constipation. This dangerous condition causes sick headache, abdominal pains, piles and in severe cases insanity and apoplexy. The most agreeable and satisfactory remedy is Ferreroze, which makes the bowels so well ordered that natural and unassisted action is established. It is mild and certain in action and never causes distress or inconvenience, and may be taken as long as required. Pains in the stomach and intestines, piles, biliousness and headache disappears at once when Ferreroze is used. Recommended and sold by Druggists, price 50c. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

CORNER CONCERNS. Amongst the many other holidays that people have booked themselves for is the launching of the big cement boat when completed. That sort of thing will be new to many, and it is of sufficient size, 64x60 ft., to make it interesting.

If the old saying be true, that dishonest gain will bring honest pain, how those old rag gatherers must suffer, or else the old truck they cart away from the farmers' places must be worthless for the tin dippers they give in exchange are much complained of by housewives.

All who attended the Normanby picnic from this place express themselves highly pleased with the day's enjoyment, and quote the old time expression that Normanby can do it.

Dave will likely quit the cement works soon and commence the erection of a Bell fry, as we think he is about to procure one. Present actions seem to point that way.

The hub of the township will be the centre of attraction on Dominion Day. Holstein is bound to come to the front, and the demonstration is expected to be one of their greatest efforts.

Our picnic is to be held on the 27th at the old stand, Mr. Joe Lennox's bush. All will be made welcome.

Mr. Wm. McFadden's horse on Saturday ran away at sight of the train. The horse and rig received little damage, but Wm. got a slight shaking up, as also did a large basket of eggs.

Football seems to be a very popular game in Egremont this summer, and a number of contests are soon to take place between the many different teams.

SPRIGHTLY AT 69. Mrs. Geo. Boutin, Harrington Street, Arnprior, Ont., says: "I have had so much benefit from using Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets that I do not hesitate to recommend them. Since I used them I am free from that constant backache that quite unnerved me and robbed me of all energy. My kidneys have been so invigorated that there now remains no annoyance or inconvenience from the secretions. I wish you could see my father. He is sixty-nine years of age and before using Pitcher's Kidney Tablets suffered acutely from rheumatism in his back. Now he is sprightly and nimble as a young man. He says never anything before did him as much good as Pitcher's Tablets. I am confident that those who have failed heretofore to obtain any relief from bad backs and sluggish kidneys will find themselves well rewarded by using Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. See 50c. a Box, at all druggists or by mail, The Dr. Zena Pharmacy Co., Toronto, Ont."

Old Folks' Backache. When people get past the meridian of life they are liable to be troubled more or less with kidney complaint. Pains and aches, stiffness and soreness of the back, difficulty in urination and frequent rising at night are some of the troubles that seriously afflict the old.

There is no remedy brings such relief and comfort to those advanced in life as Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. They soothe all irritation, tone up and invigorate the urinary organs, clear away all sediment, take the ache and pain out of the back and permit undisturbed rest at night.
