A Sad Drowning.

JOHN AND GEORGE GREGSON LOSE THEIR LIVES ON SUNDAY WHILE BATHING.

A very sad occurrence took place here on Sunday afternoon last in the drowning of two brothers, John and George Gregson, young Englishmen, somewhere in the neighborhood of twenty-two to twenty-five years of age. The accident occurred in what is known as "Moffat's Hole," a treacherous portion of the river, just in rear of the Agricultural Grounds, receiving its name from the fact that a man named Moffat was drowned in the same place about 45 years ago. Thirty-eight years ago last 24th of May, according to our information, two others, Lachlan McKinnon brother of Mr. Allan McKinnon, of this town, and a young man named Knowles, were upset from a boat and lost their lives by drowning.

The drowning of the Gregson Bros may be briefly told as follows: A number of young men and boys, we are informed, were in swimming and bathing Sunday afternoon, the two unfortunate men being mere on-lookers and taking no part in the exercise. It is said by some that neither of the two could swim, though some again say that one of them said he could swim a little.

The exact way in which the drowning occurred will always remain a mystery, as there was no one present, and nothing was known until Sunday evening when the two suits were discovered on the bank. It is supposed that after the crowd left the two boys undressed for a bath, and not knowing the treacherous nature of the river at this point dropped suddenly into one of the deep holes, which go down almost perpendicularly a distance of over twenty feet. One of them it is also thought may have gone beyond his depth when the other attempted to save him and both sank to the bottom. Other opinions and ideas are advanced, but everything is mere conjecture.

About seven o'clock Sunday evening the news of a suspected drowning accident became general, and it was only a short time till the river banks were lined with spectators and a number of the better swimmers were diving for the bodies. All night long the search continued; all day Monday a fruitless effort was made; Monday night brought no better result. About half past eleven Tuesday the body of Jack, the younger of the two, was brought to the surface and taken ashore. There was now a certainty that search was being made in the right place, and during the whole afternoon the search was again continued. The Fire Engine was brought over and a heavy stream forced into the river, but apparently without result until about six o'clock the second body was secured.

Undertakers Kress and Lenahan took charge of the bodies, and every preparation was made to give them a good decent burial. There was a deep feeling of sympathy on all sides, and though their nearest and dearest relatives were thousands of miles away, we can give them this assurance that nothing was neglected. One of them worked on the Cement plant for a short time, and the boys there gave expression to their sympathy by floral tributes. The chief contributors were R. Benderdorf, D. T. McAlvey, and W. Butcher, of Chicago; G. W. Dadds, of Jackson, Michigan; J. Gilmour, of Louisville, Ky.; and E. J. French, of Owen Sound. Handsome floral contributions were also made by Mrs. (Dr.) Jamieson, Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. H. W. Mochler, Mrs. Hugh McDonald and others.

At the funeral, which took place Tuesday, Revs. Ryan, Farquharson, McGregor and Smith took part in the services, and in a few remarks Mr. Farquharson made feeling reference to the sad death, and urged upon his hearers the importance of looking after the spiritual welfare of those who may come amongst them even though for a short time.

"Jack," the one who worked on the railroad and boarded at Mr. D. McDonald's, is most highly spoken of by the members of the family as a most respectable, gentlemanly, sober and industrious young fellow.

The only positive knowledge we have of their "home" and friends, is gleaned from a few letters found in their possession, two of which we take the liberty of giving in full. These show a high degree of family affection, and solemnize the thought that, though strangers to us as a community, they were "Somebody's Darlings," and the news of their sudden taking off will bring sorrow to more than one household.

We only wish we could give credit to all who spent their time and energies to secure the bodies, but the list would be a long one. Many took part, however, in the search, some of whom were regardless of their own comfort and their own safety.

The following are two of the letters referred to above:—There are others also, but time and space prevent us from publishing them.

Hereford, 14th April, 1901.

MY DEAR BROTHER GEORGE,— It gave me much pleasure to get a letter from you. It was almost more than I expected, as I didn't scarcely think my letter would have found you, but I am so glad to hear that you are quite well. You asked me if I had got a photo of myself but I have not had any taken, but I will have it done soon so as to send you one. I am longing to have your photo to have a look at you. You will be pleased I know to have the photo I am sending you of poor mother. I had it copied from an old one that Aunt Bessie had, as that was the only one of her. I had six copies done, one for each of us, as I was in the hopes of finding you and Jack. I have sent one to Fanny and Jim and Hugh. Now if I could find dear Jack I would send him one. He hasn't answered my letter yet. I am glad to hear that you are growing so tall. I wonder if you will ever be as tall as Jim and Hugh. Jim is, over 6 feet and I believe Hugh is, as two years ago when he came to Hereford to see me he was then six feet high. You asked me if Jim had any family; no he has not got any yet. He has been married four years, but of course he goes away a good deal. He has gone away now on the Cphir to Australia. I dare say you might have heard of the Royal tour. The Duke and Duchess of York have gone there, and Jim is one of the stokers. Poor Hugh is still in South Africa. I heard from him this morning. He keeps quite well and is in very good spirits. You ask'd me how Aunt Ellen is, she is dead. She has been dead a good many years now; and so is Aunt Polly dead. You wou'nt know any of us when you come to England, but if I am well I will meet you the day you land and take you to the day you land and take you to Weymouth. I am going to send your address to all friends so you will get a nice lot of letters before long. Three years seems a long time to wait for your arrival to England. I hope you have got a nice kind master. Do you live with him. Next time you write please send your full address to me. I wonder if you will be able to find Jack. I am putting in his address for you, the only one I know. I wish you had not been neglected for so long, but now I have found you I am sure I am not going to let you slip away again. So going to let your dear George I will close and now my dear George I will close and send all friends' love to you, and with lots of love and kisses from myself, I remain

Your affectionate Sister,
ANNIE GREGSON.

Stoner House, Petersfield, Hants,
May 20th, 1901.
DEAR GEORGE,— I am answering your letter which I received this morning and was very glad to get it. I am pleased you are getting on nicely. You say there is plenty of money out in America. Don't you think you could get me a place near you. I should not care how hard it is or whether it is right in the wilds of Canada. What work do you do out there, and excuse me asking how much money you get a year. Are the people nice. Who do you live with, and who is your master. You see I ask all these questions because I know nothing about you. Well, dear Hugh is getting on all right. He has met Uncle Bob out at the war, and he went to dinner with him twice. Jim is also all right, and Annie and Aunt Bessie are much better. I am sorry you do not hear from Jack. I hope we shall not miss him for ever. I have not got a photo of myself, but when I have it taken I will send you one. I expect you forget what I am like. I will be jolly glad to see you in three years time, though it seems a long time. It will soon slip by, and then I hope you will stay in England always. I would very much like to have your photo for then I could look at it and would not forget you. Well, dear George, if you answer my letters I will always write to you every month or perhaps twice a month. And now this is all with fondest love. I remain ever your loving sister,
FANNIE GREGSON.

P. S.—Good-bye, and God bless you and keep you safe.

Messrs. J. W. Crawford, Timothy Moran and others spent all Sunday night in the search.
Willie Lavelle was the first to discover a body in the bottom of the river. We are told he dove down 22 feet and brought up earth from the bottom.
The double funeral was a very sad one though no relatives were present.
It is now over 38 years since the last drowning took place there.

A committee, consisting of R. Benkendorf, Geo. Dodge, Joseph Godfrey, John Gilmour and Ed. Butcher, workmen on different branches of the Cement Works, were constituted a committee, and on Wednesday collected enough money to pay $68 funeral expenses for the Gregson Bros, and still have a small balance on hand. This pays for interment, lot, grave digging, etc. The lists will be held for a few days to receive contributions from persons wishing to assist in procuring a small monument to be erected at the graves. Any member of the committee will receive the money. Later a detailed statement of all receipts and disbursements will be given for publication. The deed of the plot purchased is made out in the name of one of the sisters of the deceased in England and will be mailed to her. Such acts are highly commendable, and reflects much more creditably on the community than to bury the poor unfortunate young men in the Potters' Field.

MacLeod Medicine Co.,
Goderich, Ont.

For nearly one year I was in terrible distress, could not sleep any night with nervousness. I would often get cold and powerless. My heart would stop, cease to beat, and as often I thought I would die. When the coldness passed off my heart would palpitate and the blood would rush to my head. Then I would think I would choke to death. I tried medical aid and persevered in different treatments, but got no benefit. A good friend advised me to get some of your medicine. I am happy to state that I did get your System Renovator, which did me a world of good, and I am sure your Protein Resurgam saved my life. If it had not been for it I would be dead or out of my mind before this. I would advise any one who has like trouble or troubles to give these remedies a fair trial. Anyone wishing to hear from me can write to me. I will be only too glad to give them all particulars, &c., about my case. I am thankful I can never forget you, and if ever I or any one belonging to me should need your aid I know where to write.
