THE farmers are so busy this fine weather in getting in their crops that the town seems to be deserted.

PAY UP.—As I intend leaving town sooner than expected I must ask all accounts settled by cash or note immediately. Apply at The Big Store, J. A. Hunter.

THE walls of the Laboratory at the Cement Works are now nearly completed. They are built of cement blocks, rock face pattern, and give a very substantial appearance.

MISS DICK has engaged a Miss Lemon, of Toronto, as trimmer this season. Miss L. comes very highly recommended, having had experience in some of the larger cities of Ontario.

WE were informed last week that Mr. Con. Knapp had sold out his business at Wetaskwin, N. W. T., and that he and his family had returned as far as Toronto, Ontario, we presume, is good enough for Con. and we wouldn't be surprised at seeing him back to Durham again.

A NUMBER of young people from town drove out to Hayward's Falls on Labor Day, and spent a most delightful time in viewing the famous falls and caves under the guidance of Mr. Allan Bell, who is hard to beat in travelling over rocks and "squeezing" through small spaces. Before returning the party was photographed.

LAST week Mrs. Wm. Laidlaw was taken seriously ill, and the case was diagnosed as appendicitis. A consultation among the doctors was held and an operation decided on at the earliest possible moment. A nurse was provided and on Friday afternoon the operation proved a correct diagnosis. The case was a very critical one and for the next forty-eight hours the family and citizens had grave apprehensions as to chances of recovery. Monday morning, however, a decided improvement manifested itself, and we are pleased to report favorable conditions this Wednesday morning. In an interview with Mr. Laidlaw yesterday he gave high praise to the attending physicians and expressed belief that promptness of action was the only thing that saved his wife from death.

JUST as we are about to go to press a very pretty wedding is being solemnized in the Presbyterian Church, Mr. James E. Williams, of Regina, and Miss Alexandra MacRae being the contracting parties. At eleven o'clock the groom accompanied by the groomsmen entered the church from the Vestry and took their places in front of the altar. As the wedding march was played by Miss MacKenzie the bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Harris, Miss Mary Rutherford and Miss Georgia MacRae passed slowly up the aisle from the front entrance. Closely followed the bride beautifully dressed in white satin, with flowing veil and carrying in her hand a shower bouquet of chrysanthemums, leaning on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Thos. A. Harris. A brief solemn ceremony proclaimed the happy couple man and wife after which they passed down the aisle and repaired to the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. MacRae. We tender our congratulations.

WHAT might have been a very serious accident occurred here last week nearly opposite the post office. Mr. George Smith was bringing his traction engine through town. Behind the engine was a wagon and water tank, George is an exceedingly careful young man and handles his engine in a way that no one should be hurt. Hitherto, the boys have been in the habit of climbing up on the engine and wagon, several times he asked them to get down for fear of danger. On the occasion referred to a little fellow of three or four years got between the engine and wagon while in motion. While trying to climb up on the tongue he slipped and fell. The front wheel, it is said, passed over his arm and the hind wheel over his body. A number of spectators saw the accident and those who claim to know best give opinions, of which the above is substantially correct. The boy was carried into Dr. Gun's office, but was found very little the worse. It is hoped that this will be a good lesson for boys and girls in teaching the danger to which they expose themselves nearly every day.

READER has another communication this week, but we had no time for it. We have requested A. B. to hold off till he gets through, when a chance will be given him to answer all arguments.

A YOUNG daughter of Editor Ramage had the misfortune to get an arm broken last week while playing with a number of other little girls on the sidewalk near her own home. The child, we hope, will soon be all right again.

THIS week a very handsome monument of Quincy Granite, carved and cut in the most artistic manner, was erected by Messrs. Robinson & Corbett in the cemetery here, on the joint plot belonging to Mr. A. C. McKenzie, of Montreal, and Rev. Mr. Stewart here. We are informed that the purchasers are delighted with the work, and the appearance of the material.

WE regret very much to learn the misfortune of Miss Marion Morton, of Aberdeen, who had one of her legs badly broken through an accident which occurred while driving a hay rake. The young woman had just passed her Part II Examination and intended to go to the Model School, but owing to the unfortunate occurrence it will be several months before she can leave her bed.

THE publisher of the Godefrich Star sued a delinquent subscriber for arrears on subscription recently, and the judgment of the trial judge will perhaps be interesting to some of our readers. In the words of the Star, the delinquent "had been receiving the Star from its first publication, and when billed with an account for four years' subscription he refused to pay on the grounds that he had never ordered the paper, and had notified the former management some eight years ago that he did not want it. The paper had not been discontinued then, and his name still appeared on the subscription list assumed by the present publisher. The judge held that as the defendant had given no notice to the plaintiff, but had still received the paper, he was liable for the four years claim, and gave judgment accordingly."

TWICE requested to make his sermon brief, Henry Gillingham, pastor of the Methodist Church at Atlantic, a village near Houghton, Mich., preached one of the shortest sermons, if not the shortest on record, the other evening. No one in the copper country has heard a discourse so brief so pithy as this was. When he arose to announce his text he remarked that he had twice been asked to make his sermon short and he would try to do so. If this should seem too long he would stop next time with the text. Then he delivered this sermon: Text, Luke 16, 24. "And he cried and said: Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water to cool my tongue, for I am tormented in this flame." "Three persons—Abraham, Divies, Lazarus. It was hot where Divies was. He did not like it. He wanted to get out. So do we. Let us pray!"
