We have a first-class stock to select from and can furnish a suit or overcoat as cheap as the cheapest. J. A. Glass, draper.

THAT handsome window in Jno. A. Darling's Drug Store deserves more than a passing notice. Just go and take a look at it.

I SHALL be at the Middaugh House, Durham, for consultation in eye, ear throat and nose cases on Wednesday, October 1st, hours, 2 to 6 p.m. Geo. S. Burt.

WE had six columns of religious stuff last week, and nearly as much this week. As Pete Paterson threatens to stop his paper if we continue such awful doses, we deem it advisable to utter a warning that we're bound to keep Pete on the list, and the next fellow that sends in so big a grist at one load will be ducked in the mill dam sure. No sir-ee, we can't lose Pete.

AN ATTRACTIVE WINDOW.—Hundreds of spectators were delighted on Fair Day at the north window of Mr. Russell's store so artistically decked out by Mr. R. McCracken, the head clerk of the institution. In the back ground was the large native deer, shot by Mr. J. A. Hunter two or three years ago, and familiar to many who have dealt in the store. In the centre was the fierce head of a wild boar, shot by Mr. F. F. Hunter in India while in service there in the British army. On either side was placed the heads of two Indian antelopes, shot also in India by Mr. Hunter. To fill in the view, a fine assortment of winter furs were nicely intermingled. The Palms in the rear were also from India.

A VERY sudden though not unexpected death occurred here on Thursday morning when Mr. John Barker, for many years a well-known resident of this town and vicinity, was suddenly cut off. For some time the deceased gentleman complained of heart trouble and asthma, and a few months ago he underwent a severe sickness of two or three weeks duration. From the time of his recovery he has been unable to engage in any work, but was going round in apparent good health. On the morning of his death there seemed to be nothing unusual the matter, as he got up in good health, took a walk out and on his return partook of a hearty breakfast, after which he walked into his bedroom, fell down, and expired almost immediately. On Saturday afternoon the remains were interred at Huton Hill Cemetery. We express our sympathy for the sorrowing widow and family who are thus bereft. He was 54 years of age.

A TRAVELLER called at our office a few days ago and said he had been out through the township of Glenelg near Dorloch. He said he came to a piece of road improvement, and here he fetched a deep sigh, for such a travesty on statute labor had never before met his gaze. He was of the opinion that the road artist imagined he was putting in a culvert, but at first sight it struck him as the work of the beavers fixing up their winter home, and he began to look round for the architect and builder. As he got down on his hands and knees to look for the animal he met with a revelation which set him thinking of the wasteful extravagance of public money in some of our municipalities. It was certainly intended for a culvert but the ton was made of black ash poles, on the top of which was piled a heap of clay, resembling a turnip more than anything else he could compare it to. He says the thing will rot down in about a year or so, and then the council may explain a claim for damages to a few horses with broken legs. Our informant may have been a little extravagant in his description, but too often we find such things about this season of the year bearing the name of road improvements.

RAIN-COAT left at this office. Owner call.

Mr. MORLOCK is proud of his young baby girl.

SEE ad. of R. McGowan, who is retiring from business at the People's Mills.

THE Fall Millinery Openings will all be held Friday and Saturday this week.

FOR SALE—Pure bred Jersey calf, registered pedigree, cheap. Apply to F. Peel.—tf.

DON'T forget where to go for a good fitting suit or overcoat. Splendid new stock of cloths to choose from.—J. A. GLASS, Draper.—tf.

THE Varney Methodists will hold their annual Harvest Home on 5th and 6th Oct. Rev. W. J. Magwood, of Arthur, is expected to be the preacher.—2pd.

THE Cameron-Kelly Concert was largely attended and fully enjoyed by all lovers of innocent mirth and high class music. Mr. Cameron, as a natural elocutionist and comic singer is hard to excel. Mr. Kelly has a well-trained powerful voice; his selections well-chosen, and his personality good. Such guitar manipulation as he presents is not often met with. Miss Whelpley is, we believe, the most accomplished accompanist we ever had the pleasure of listening to.

SAFE HOME—Last week saw the return from a trip to Scotland of our esteemed citizens, Mr. R. Macfarlane, Sr., Mr. J. H. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Jackson and Mrs. J. P. Hunter, who were absent about two months in the land of the Heather. From the healthy appearance of all we know they enjoyed their trip and fared sumptuously every day. Messrs. Jackson and Hunter also took in Old London and Paris, and realize now, no doubt, that the sights of the World's Metropolis and the World's Centre of Fashion are in themselves a liberal education. Mr. Macfarlane has renewed his youth and looks much younger than when he went away. We welcome them back again.

HYMENEAL

A pleasing event took place on Wednesday, Sept. 17th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wiggins when their youngest daughter, Miss Hattie, was united in marriage to Mr. William Bell, of Toronto, youngest son of Mr. Alex. Bell, of Glenelg.

Miss Jennie Smith, of London, played the wedding march as the bride entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father. She was very prettily dressed in white organdie, trimmed with lace and ribbon, and carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas. Her only ornament in jewelry was a beautiful gold bracelet, the gift of the groom. Mr. Allan Bell, of Durham, assisted his brother, while Miss Irene Smith, niece of the bride, very prettily officiated as maid of honor. She was dressed in white taffeta silk and wore a gold ring, the gift of the groom, and also carried a bouquet of pale blue sweet peas.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wray Smith in the presence of about forty of the friends and relatives of the contracting parties, after which they repaired to the dining room where they partook of a dainty repast. The wedding gifts were numerous, many being from Toronto and London as well as from friends in Durham and surrounding neighborhood, showing the esteem in which the young people were held. The bride's travelling dress was a blue broadcloth tailor-made.

The newly wedded pair took the afternoon train en route for Toronto where they will reside amid showers of rice accompanied by the good wishes of friends and relatives for a long and happy life. Com.

MISS DICK LAMBTON STREET

HITS AND MISSES.

Out in Kansas a newspaper editor wrote a nice little puff for a milliner in which he stated that he was glad to see her "stocking up." Meeting the editor on the street later on she soaked him with her umbrella, breaking three ribs threatened to tell his wife. The unsophisticated editor is yet unable to tell what is wrong with the item.

An advertisement was inserted for some one to take charge of the choir and play the organ at a village church. The following was among the replies: "Sir, I noticed your advertisement for an organist and music teacher, either lady or gentleman. Having been both I offer you my services."

It is not often a newspaper editor has testimonials showered upon him. He don't ask for them. He is generally satisfied if a few of his readers drop in once a year and pay in advance even if they do say, "O well, we must have the local paper anyway." But the editor of a Western paper felt so good last week over the following short eulogy on his paper, he could not keep it from his readers. Here it is: "Dear Mr. Editor, After reading your valuable paper for two years we had twins at our home last night. Please do not send the paper to me any more as I am a poor man and can't afford to raise a large family."

CHURCH NOTES.

METHODIST.

On Sunday morning the members of the Sunday School will meet in the church, and an illustrated sermon will be preached by the pastor. Special music will be rendered by the pupils. The friends of the Sunday School are invited to be present. Service at 11 o'clock. The Sunday Schools will be closed in the afternoon.

The Rev. Wray R. Smith will address the young people of the Arthur Methodist Church on Tuesday evening, Sept. 30th.

The Monkman Bros., Song Evangelists, will begin a series of special services in the Methodist church on the first Sunday in October. The Monkman Bros. are especially noted as sweet gospel singers.

The Senior League are preparing a treat for their friends at the social evening to be held in the basement next Monday evening. A debate on the subject of "Matrimonial blessedness and single bliss" is to be one feature of the program. The public are invited to spend a pleasant evening with the members of the League. No charge for Admission. A free will offering taken for the funds of the Society.

The open meeting of the Junior and Senior League on Monday evening was a service of pleasure and profit. The choruses by the Juniors were especially good, and much credit is due the two young friends, Misses B. Sparling and R. Irwin for the efficiency displayed in playing the accompaniment on the organ. The distribution of rewards for punctuality and regularity in attendance for the past year was a matter of more than ordinary interest. Nearly forty had made an average attendance, entitling them to the beautiful badge of the Society.

TRINITY.

Harvest Thanksgiving service will be conducted next Sunday morning and evening, and at Allan's school-house in the afternoon by the Rev. Wm. Henderson, Rector of Warton. Trinity church will be suitably decorated with fruits and flowers.
