The article on Discipline, found on page three is the paper read by Principal Rowe, of Markdale, at the Teachers' Convention in Flesherton. We omitted giving his name in connection with the article.

MR. J. R. BROWN, of Seattle, and Mr. K. McKenzie, of Port Huron, will accept thanks for remittances on subscription. We regret to learn that Mr. McKenzie is in very poor health.

The Annual Thanksgiving services of St. Mary's Church, Maxwell, were held on Sunday, October 26th. The incumbent, Rev. C. L. Mills, preached both morning and evening. The Holy Communion was administered at the morning service.

We are glad to announce that little Tressa McKay, daughter of Mr. Geo. McKay, of this town, is recovering nicely after a serious illness resulting from a fall which necessitated a critical operation which was performed by Dr. Gun last week.

On account of persistent trouble with his eyes, Mr. J. R. Gun has disposed of his Drug business at Bright, Co. Oxford. He and Mrs. Gun will now spend a few months with Durham friends before embarking again in business.

The "Printer and Publisher" says:—"The Weyburn Herald is the latest addition to Western newspapers. The editor is Mr. T. H. Blackstock. Weyburn is situated about midway between the boundary and the main line of the C. P. R. on the Soo Line." Mr. Blackstock was recently editor and proprietor of the Dundalk Herald.

MR. R. W. DILLON, editor of the St. Mary's Argus, at the recent meeting of the Christian Endeavors in Ottawa, gave an address on "The Church and the Newspaper" in which churches were scored for wanting free ads.—Printer and Publisher. We can heartily agree with Mr. Dillon, as we never could see why a church should get advertising free more than an individual member of the same congregation.—Ed.]

The Bishop of Huron visited St. Mary's Church, Maxwell, October 22. Confirmation service was held when a number of candidates were presented to his Lordship who gave two searching addresses—one to the candidates before "the laying on of hands" and another to the candidates and the congregation,—delivered with his usual fervor. In the evening confirmation service was held at Ceylon, when six candidates there were presented by the incumbent, Rev. C. L. Mills.

The Man on the Street says he was astonished the other day on looking up the alley way between Jack Livingson's implement shop and the Middaugh House stables. There in the mud he saw something which he took, from across the street to be a fair sized squab, but as the thing seemed to move and there was a hat near by, he proceeded to investigate. On going near to the scene he discovered the bald head of our health inspector, who was making his way round to Pascoe Saunders' stable to see if he had cleaned up the manure pile. We know our health inspector is a very efficient officer, and the Man on the Street is a very reliable reporter, but it takes us all our time to believe this story, and we'll just give it for what it's worth without vouching for its correctness.

HIGHEST price for all kinds of raw furs.—F. Peel. tf.

WE want good, plump, live, young chickens for which we will pay five cents per pound in trade. Also highest prices paid for dressed poultry of all kinds. J. H. Brown, Holstein. tf.

DON'T forget Mr. Gaggie's Lecture in the Presbyterian Church this Thursday evening. Subject "Wit and Humor." Admission free. Silver collection.

WE have something extra this year to show in men's heavy fall and winter footwear. Those who want a soft, comfortable, water-tight boot that will wear like iron should see them.—H. W. Mockler.

WE learned last week that Mr. J. A. Hunter sold out his claim on the Mordas Man, Marl deposits. The purchasers are a Chicago syndicate, and they retain Mr. Hunter as general Manager, with Head offices at Winnipeg. Congratulations.

A DELEGATION of about fifty or sixty from Hull, P. Q., came up last week in a special car to see our Cement Works. They were pleased with all they saw, and went home determined to push the mill now being promoted in the East.

AT the council meeting Monday night Councillor Brown was charged by some of his conferees with attempting to "rush" the electric light business. To any one outside that august body, it seems funny to imagine them "rushing" anything. Another councillor felt as big as a house when he told Mr. Brown he "couldn't be driven, but he might be led."

WE don't suppose it makes much difference to the public whether the council is driven or led if the work is done cheaply, economically and well. Personally, we would like to see the town lighted, and we would like to see it lighted by a sufficient number of arc lights, but what is the public opinion in town? how would the popular vote go if an opportunity to vote were submitted? We believe that even yet there are some who would fight against town lighting of any kind, but in this age we should have enough ambition to be as far advanced as our neighboring towns. The method of lighting, whether by municipal ownership or by a company, would be a good subject for discussion.

MR. PATTERSON, of Chicago, son of the old gentleman whom we reported last week dying on the roadside, arrived in town last Friday and after considering the circumstances decided that interment should be made in the cemetery here. The first person to recognize the deceased gentleman was Mr. Martin Huck, of Walkerton, and in a short interview with him we learned the unfortunate man was a quiet, industrious and sober citizen, exceeding unobtrusive, and mingling very little in company unless it would be to attend the walk on the 12 of July.

THE Lacrosse Club has secured the services of Miss LaDell, elocutionist, and Miss Flanigan, soprano, for an entertainment to be given in the Town Hall on Wednesday evening, Nov. 12th. These ladies are highly spoken of by the press, and we feel safe in promising a treat to all who attend the concert. The press notices given below are selected from papers of good repute, and they should enable us to judge of what's coming.

MAIL and Empire—The gems of the evening were the recitations by Miss Marietta LaDell, an elocutionist of rare ability.

TELEGRAM—The feature of the evening's entertainment was the delightful readings of our Canadian elocutionist, Miss LaDell.

GLOBE—A Siddons of tragedy, a Pixley in comedy, a LaDell in mimicry. Miss LaDell took the house by storm and received double encores for nearly every number.

SATURDAY NIGHT—Miss LaDell's histrionic talent is of the highest order, and her dramatic action magnetic and exceptionally strong. She is a thorough artist in all that she undertakes.

TORONTO EVENING GLOBE—Miss Flanigan earned the rounds of applause that she received. The numbers rendered by her were quite as well done as anything she has sung in Toronto, and that is saying a great deal. Miss Flanigan has a grand future before her.

MONTREAL DAILY WITNESS—Miss Teresa Flanigan has a very full and clear voice, which she uses to advantage. Halifax (N. S.) Mail—Miss Flanigan is a most pleasing soprano, and she was honored with hearty encores.

GALT REFORMER—The outside talent consisted of Miss Flanigan, the gifted young singer, and her flexible and fascinating soprano voice was heard to delightful advantage, particularly in the "Ave Maria," which she sang with exquisite expression.

People We Know

THE GOING AND COMING OF VISITORS IN THE MONTH OF OCTOBER.

MR. W. R. Rombough is visiting in town.

MR. Fred Glass left for Ingersol Wednesday morning.

MISS Ida Williams, of Toronto, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Williams.

MR. J. D. Cochrane, of Toronto School of Medicine, was in town over Sunday.

MISS Armstrong, of Toronto, professional nurse, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Jackson.

MR. Samuel Arrowsmith is quite ill at present, but we hope to hear of his speedy recovery.

MR. Limin, Sr., left a few days ago to spend the winter with his daughter in New York.

MRS. W. B. Vollet spent a few days with the family of Mr. Chas. Post, below Mt. Forest.

MISS Minnie McClocklin returned home from Toronto accompanied by her sister and Miss Jobannessen.

MESSES. T. G. Holt and W. Calder are the only sports from town who have gone to Muskoka for the Deer Hunting season.

MRS. Lachlan McNaughton, of Hampden, returned last week after spending a pleasant visit with her brother, Mr. J. Muir, of Waterloo.

MISS Flossie Cochrane, of Toronto, who is visiting at Mrs. Jackson's, is recovering nicely from a recent but mild attack of Bronchitis.

MRS. Geo. Fitchell, of Detroit, is visiting her son-in-law, Ye Editor, and family. Though eighty-three years of age she's as smart as a cricket, and we haven't the least doubt of her ability to dance the Highland Fling in good style, yet.

MRS. Kerr, of Hampden, after spending a number of weeks with her son, W. L. Kerr, of Grand Rapids, and her brothers and sister in Detroit, Chatham and Sarnia, returned last week looking quite refreshed after having such an enjoyable visit.

MR. and Mrs. J. T. Collyer, of Guelph, and their son, Bert E. Collyer, of Dawson, Yukon Territory, were guests of Mrs. Collyer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Eva, for a few days last week. They left Monday last, and after spending a day or two in Guelph will make a trip to New York and other American cities.

THERE was quite a sensation last week when it was reported that a boat was wrecked on Georgian Bay and that Ed. Limin, George McKechnie and the whole crew, with four exceptions had gone down to watery graves. There was no truth in the yarn and both gentlemen turned up all right, wondering how it was that their wives didn't hear anything of the report. George thinks the other women in town didn't know anything about it.

MR. PATTERSON, of Chicago, son of the old gentleman whom we reported last week dying on the roadside, arrived in town last Friday and after considering the circumstances decided that interment should be made in the cemetery here. The first person to recognize the deceased gentleman was Mr. Martin Huck, of Walkerton, and in a short interview with him we learned the unfortunate man was a quiet, industrious and sober citizen, exceeding unobtrusive, and mingling very little in company unless it would be to attend the walk on the 12 of July.

THE MAN ON THE STREET.

Who is the young man that with sooty face and rolled-up sleeves came up from work at the cement mill a Sunday or two ago just as people were coming home from church? Any fellow who thus defies law and better feelings of his fellow-citizens, should be placarded in green all over the town—Mark him next time and let us have his name.

A few days ago, what might have been a serious accident, happened at Lambton Street bridge. A young farmer with a fiery team of horses attached to a democrat waggon was driving towards the bridge when his horses took fright, bolted to one side until the front wheel of the democrat struck the end of the ornamental timbers supporting the bridge. It was nearly an upset and a runaway.

Query. If an accident should happen involving loss of life or property in such a case as the above who would be responsible, the municipality or the members of the Council personally, for unduly narrowing the bridge?

Still the sanding of the streets goes on apace. Is there not a man on the Council Board with sand enough in him to sand-bag the sand-man who orders the sanding of the streets with sand. It is hoped the ratepayers will have sand enough at the end of the year to sandwich them in their own sand-piles where the sand-piper pipes in the sands of their own back yards.

Under the Awning.
One Sunday night
In June twilight,
A maid and gallant true;
With love-lit eyes
Breathed out sweet sighs,
Under the awning blue.

Heart talk began
"Twixt maid and man;
Sweet were the words and few;
'Dan loves his Nan,'
'Nan loves her Dan,'
Under the awning blue.

A murmur rose,
A chill voice froze,
A cop with wa id of yew
Called loud to Dan
'Say, do not stan'
Under the awning blue.

Now, Dan and Nan
Join heart and han'
To walk life's journey through.
And Cops no more
Prove such a bore,
Under the awning blue.
