THE GRAND TRUNK
 If Mr. C. M. Hayes, the General Manager of the Grand Trunk Rail way, were desirous of killing the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme, he could not adopt better tactics than he has in the running of trains in Ontario. The condition of affairs that exist on our local line is being repeated all over the Province, and the proposal that the people should vote the gigantic monopoly $160,000,000 or more to fasten the chains still more strongly about themselves is preposterous. The country papers have repeatedly drawn attention to the abuses, and now the independent city dailies have taken the matter up, and will keep up the agitation, it is to be hoped, till something is done. It is unfortunate, but nevertheless true, but the fortunes of the government are closely knit with those of the big railway corporation, and they possibly dare not raise a hand to demand justice for the people whose money built the roads; but if they don't it is certain the electors will not repeat the experience by supporting the new debt. The condition of affairs is a disgrace to our land, and while Mr. Hayes may be a good man for the shareholders, he is no good to the customers of the road—the public—and the government should be made to understand this and be compelled to see justice done. The G. T. R. proposal has brought the question into active politics, and there the issue must be fought out. If the railway is boss, let the people know it; if the government is boss, let it act and give us relief. Mr. Hayes need not care for the press and public opinion, the government cannot ignore either—Wartown Canadian.

Glenroaden.
 Mr. John Cameron was on the sick list for a few days last week and had to call on his old friend Dr. Smith of Dornoch for relief.
 Peddlers are plentiful at present and are very anxious to sell, they are like the empty pot, there is nothing in it for the buyers.
 Miss Eva Banks was visiting her sister Mrs. A. Boyd for a few days last week.
 Mr. John McKechnie is now down to hard pan, keeping batch hall. Now is your time girls to try your luck, Jack is all right and don't you forget it.
 Mr. John Quinn, Sr. took a trip to Durham one day last week to procure groceries and the staff of life (flour) he says flour is up to $2.10 per cwt. and $2 40 per cwt. for Manitoba. Too much by-awd, says the old man.
 Mr. Wm. Ritchie and two sons are busy with two teams getting home a supply of wood, from the farm he lately purchased from Mr. T. Park known as the Lindsay farm.
 Mr. A. Young is bent on having a good time while here, he has hired a driving outfit by the day, week or month, as the occasion may require so that he can go and come as he pleases he thinks taking chances is a poor way to travel especially in a rough country like this.

HIS NERVES PLAYED OUT.
 And Health Broke Down—A life saved by the timely use of Ferrozone.
 Mr. Karl E. Newsome of Rothesay, writes: "I owe a debt of gratitude to Ferrozone which saved my life after severe siege of Nervous Prostration. About a year ago my health played out completely. I was in such a weak irritable condition that I could not work, and found that the doctors did nothing for me but take my money. My druggist recommended Ferrozone as the best preparation for nervous troubles, so I commenced at once to take one tablet at meals. Every box of Ferrozone I took seemed to do me more good than the previous one, and it wasn't very long before I was strong enough to move around again. In three months I was completely cured, and know that I wouldn't be alive to day if I hadn't used Ferrozone. It braced up my nerves, gave me a strong healthy constitution, and is certainly a marvellous restorer and tonic for nervous people."
 The reason Ferrozone is so successful in curing nervous disease is that it contains the very elements that are needed to restore the wasted nerve cells. It is nourishing, strength-giving tonic that costs 50c. per box, containing three weeks treatment. Six boxes for $2.50. Sold by all druggists or by mail from the Ferrozone Company, Kingston, Ont. Don't fail to get Ferrozone to-day, it assures health.

Watches Slower at night
 "You know that the vital energies are at lower ebb at night than in the day time," said an old watchmaker.
 "Would you believe that some watches—especially the cheaper ones—are similarly affected?"
 "You know a good watchmaker always wants several days in which to regulate the timepiece. That is because the only way to regulate it properly is to compare it with a chronometer at the same hour every day. Otherwise the variations in the speed of the watch will baffle his efforts."
 The man to whom I was apprenticed told me this, and I thought the idea absurd. We were working late one night and he called my attention to a lot of watches that were regulated and ready to deliver. It was near midnight, and every watch was slow.
 The better timepieces had lagged behind some seconds. The cheaper watches were a minute or more out of the way. Next morning every one of the lot was exactly right.
 "The fact is you can regulate a watch to make exactly twenty-four hours a day, but we can't persuade it to make just sixty minutes to each of the twenty-four hours. Why this is no one can tell."

The Ventilation of Farm Buildings.
 At the recent Ontario and Maritime Winter Fairs, Mr. A. P. Ketchen, of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, gave some valuable information on the subject of ventilation, and his remarks are worthy of careful study by every farmer. He said in effect:—No one attempts to deny the importance of ventilation. The removal of foul gases, and a constant supply of fresh air, is just as necessary to the thrift of cattle as food; and yet, the best means of bringing this about remains, to a great extent, an unsolved problem. I do not think I have yet seen an ideal system of ventilation for farm buildings. The requirements of a good system of ventilation are:—(1) A constant change of air in the stable (2) The introduction and distribution of fresh air without drafts. (3) The liberation of the fresh air at the window near the heads of the cattle in such a manner that they may breathe at before it is diluted with foul gases. (4) The removal of foul air without condensation and consequent dripping.
 There is a striking similarity in many respects between a stable and a furnace. The necessity for drafts in a furnace arise from the fact that in the process of combustion, oxygen is being continuously used up, and carbonic acid and other gases given off. Heat, of course, is produced, so that the gases given off in the process of combustion are warmer than the elements entering into it, and they rise in obedience to natural laws, until they are cooled to about the temperature of the surrounding air. When this temperature is reached, they tend to diffuse and mix with atmosphere. So it is in the stable.
 A ventilation system to provide for the fresh air inlet, the floor of the feeding alley is elevated twelve inches above the level of the stalls. The inlet may consist of a ten inch tile, or a wooden box, about ten inches square, running under the floor the whole length of the feeding alley. This will admit enough fresh air for fifteen cattle; if more are to be supplied, a conduit placed on each side of the feeding alley will be generally sufficient. The main inlet is tapped opposite each pair of cattle by the distributing pipes. These lead into the mangers, and are placed closed against the parting blocks, their open ends being prevented from plugging with dirt by a leather flag, or some other device. The foul air is carried off by means of ventilating shafts, leading from the ceiling of the stable out through the roof. Most farmers now run the parline post straight from the floor to the parline. Beside these posts is a very convenient place for the ventilating flues, they are out of the way, and they are not so readily chilled as when placed against the side of the barn. Excessive chilling of these foul air outlets not only reduces the convection current, but condenses moisture, causing it to drip.
 The foul air outlets should be of good size, and should extend well up beyond the ridge of the barn. If they are not carried far enough above the roof, the current will often be in the wrong direction and instead of acting as outlets, the wind will sometimes force a strong draft of cool air down onto the backs of the cattle; just as a chimney that is too short will sometimes cause a stove to smoke.
 It will be seen by this method, the fresh air is admitted, as in the furnace below the heating area; it is distributed evenly and without drafts; it is liberated at the heads of the cattle, giving them a chance to use it before it has been diluted with the poisonous gases of the stable; as it is heated by inhalation, and by the heat radiating from the bodies of the animals, convection currents are sent up towards the ceiling, and out through the foul air shafts. This system is automatic in its action; the more stock in the stable, the stronger the convection current, and the more fresh air introduced.

The Growth of Winnipeg.
 The growth of Winnipeg is the keynote of a special edition of the Winnipeg Telegram just issued. The paper undertakes to show that there has been more building done in Winnipeg during 1903 than in any other city in Canada; that the increase in Clearing House returns in Winnipeg shows the largest percentage of increase of any city in Canada; that Winnipeg is the second largest wheat market in America and also the largest in the British Empire; and that Winnipeg will have the largest railway yards in the world when the Canadian Pacific will have completed its present work of reconstruction.
 Statistics are published which show that building permits to the amount of nearly $6,000,000 were issued; that the bank clearings have passed the $200,000,000 mark; that the amount of wheat inspected at Winnipeg between September 1, 1902 and August 31, 1903, was greater than either Duluth-Superior or Chicago.
