

Get Rid of the Lice

All the food you can give your fowl or animals, will not make them thrive and fatten if they are infested with lice. We have a preparation which is the most effective thing we know of for destroying these parasites.

Our Louse Killer

is in the form of a powder, easy to apply, and while destructive to the lice, will not harm the animal.

Our Poultry Spice

Any one who keeps fowl should not be without this. It is invaluable for chickens, turkeys and geese. It aids digestion, cures the varying diseases to which fowl are subject, develops bone, muscle and feathers, and makes poultry raising more profitable.

DURHAM CHRONICLE

W. IRWIN, Editor and Proprietor.

Durham, Jan. 21st, 1904

SANCTUM SIFTINGS.

The chances are that Premier Ross will become a temperance man again this session.

We expect The Hepworth Journal man will unload his scavenger wagon on us this week.

When a man sells his vote for a glass of beer he generally gets full value from an intellectual and moral standpoint.

And still the readers of the Clarksburg Reflector are left in ignorance of the result in North Renfrew. Surely the organizing Editor has the information before this.

It took a year and a half to bring on a by-election in North Renfrew, but less than a month was sufficient in North Oxford. Voting takes place on the 26th inst. just a month after the North Renfrew avalanche.

It's astonishing to think of the hosts who are looking for promotion, either social political or otherwise, and its fiercely bewildering to think how some can expect favors while they themselves are so small and mean and niggardly that thousands of them could stand in a walnut and leave room for thousands more. These little pigmy souls are often the subject of disappointment to the great astonishment of their self-same selves, and the great unwashed who are always able to furnish the best estimate of human worth are satisfied that justice has not miscarried in electing them to a back seat. It's the essence of hypocrisy to cant to hear some talk of generosity accentuated in their most religious whine while at the time they talk of other people's smallness they skin the proverbial fee for his hide and tallow. There's nothing wrong in economy and thrift, but there is wrong in the picaresque meanness that some are guilty of for the sake of personal aggrandizement. There's no charity in the act of giving a hundred dollars to some good cause if the object beneath and behind the donation is actuated by pure selfishness, as it too often is. Politicians in their campaigns may be some very generous apparently, but for the man whose whole previous life was a life of small trickery and close and questionable dealing, a true estimate of his charitable actions will soon be formed by the general public. How sad it is to think of the vast number of electors who hold themselves open for the highest bidder and how much sadder it is to think that the "loose fish" in most constituencies are so used by political trickery as to prostitute the sanctity of many elections. It's sad but true, and the heads of our governments are largely responsible for the glaring injustice.

The reason why some people never get along in the world is that they are too smart. The clever man rarely succeeds, and that only when he has enough common sense to be clever on a special line. The average intellectual ability of the men who make a failure in life is far ahead of those who come to the top score. The man with ordinary horse sense who plods along and knows enough to use what comes his way will always "make" money. The clever man is usually a faddist, and will theorize while money slips through his fingers. The clever man will write these on "Success in Business" that are models of business classics, but will fail five times while his tortoise neighbor is making a single fortune. Never despise a man with fringe on the bottom of his pants. It is almost unfailing sign of genius. Some extravagant nonsense is written on the clever men who have become "merchant princes" or "political leaders," who have simply known how to coin circumstances into cash or political capital. The late Sir John A. McDonald was not a clever man in the sense of brilliancy or exceptional intellectual ability, neither will the warmest friends of Sir Wilfred Laurier claim for him more than the genius of being able to turn every circumstance to advantage. The men who have made their mark in commercial life have been those who have learned their business thoroughly, and had sense enough to profit by any opportunity that came their way. Beware of being too restlessly, intellectually, overreachingly smart.—Solomon.

When success depends upon string pulling and log rolling let those have it who think enough of the end to adopt the means. Push ahead all your life rather than get mixed up with the cattle who are "in the pul." This degrading principle is leavening our social and business as well as our national life. Pull is taking the place of brains, energy and integrity. Without pull it is impossible to please the god of politics. In business "pull" is making its influence felt, and it is not sufficient that a man shall have means and ability to get the best that is going, he must be able to give the "grip" and take the "signs" to secure all that his money and position ought to bring. Even the church seems to lend its tacit sanction to the doctrine that pull is mightier than worth. As soon as a man with "pull" gets inside the doors the whole church toadies to him. They make him a warden and his wife president of the "Ladies Aid." Even the minister of the gospel is not above bowing the knee to this modern Baal, and not only does he offer incense at the individual shrine, but acknowledges the supremacy of the idol by taking a hand at the strings of the church organization himself. This servile, sniveling homage to the machine is unworthy a being made to stand upright in the presence of the Eternal God. When brains, dignity, honor and industry are prostituted to mere success then is man fallen indeed from his high estate.—Solomon.

Flesherton.

Many here were sorry to learn on Saturday of the death of Mr. George Mitchell locomotive engineer Buffalo, being suddenly killed at Syracuse on Friday by the bursting of the boiler of his locomotive. Mr. Mitchell was for a number of years a partner with the late Wm. Patch in the butchering business here and was well known and highly esteemed in the community. His suddenly bereft wife, daughter of Mr. Donald McLeod, west back line, has been visiting her father, who is very ill, since New Year's. Upon receipt of the news she left for Buffalo at once. Mr. Mitchell spent New Year's with his relatives and friends in this locality and among the numerous callers on your correspondent none gave greater promise of long life than he, for he was a splendid specimen of physical manhood. We regret his untimely end and join the numerous friends who sincerely sympathize with his sorrowing wife.

Real estate transfers have recently been made here as follows:—Mr. R. Smith has sold his residence on Collingwood Street, occupied by Dr. Bibby to Mr. Samuel Colquett, of Osprey, who will shortly retire from the farm to reside here. The Andrew Bentham 50 acre farm, east of the village, sold some time ago to Mr. Patton has been purchased by the Boyd Bros. who will find the timber on it a very valuable feeder for their mill.

We have to thank the Editor for a copy of the first issue January Number of a new religious 8 paged paper published monthly at Clarksburg at 50c. a year, evangelist F. D. Goff, editor. The Holiness Worker is the organ of The Holiness Workers Church and the first issue is replete with deeply spiritual matter.

The Methodist Sabbath School held their annual business meeting on Monday evening of last week and elected officers for 1904 as follows: Supt. W. H. Bunt; Asst. Supt. M. K. Richardson; Sec. Miss Mabel Boyd; Asst. Sec. Miss Ella Karstedt; Librarians, W. H. Heard, H. Alexander; Treas. T. Balmer; Teachers M. K. Richardson, (Bible class) F. G. Karstedt, Miss W. A. Armstrong, Mrs. W. H. Thurston, Miss Kate Bellamy, Miss Clinton, Miss Minnie Joy, Miss Ethel Trimble, Miss Christine Richardson, and Mrs. Hickling.

The Baptist congregation have decided now to hold their service alternately morning and evening each Sabbath. Next Sunday Service will be in the evening.

The very bad roads again prevented the ministers of this place from reaching all their appointments on Sunday. Not since the big storm of 1875, says some of the old residents, has travel been so difficult nor so many Sunday services cancelled on account of snow blocked roads.

Mr. W. Bentham of Thornhill, Man. is on a pleasure trip to Ontario and is visiting his cousins Mr. Andrew Bentham of this place and Mrs. W. Wilcox, back line.

Mr. W. Barnhouse of Edmonton left for the West on Friday after a few weeks visit with his parents here.

Mrs. Jas. Walton, of Stonewall, Man. and Mrs. A. Riddell, of Rainy River, visited the past week with their uncle Mr. Joseph Blackourn and other relatives in this vicinity.

Miss Bertha Hurd of Dominion City Man. is on a three months holiday in Ontario, and is now visiting her aunt, Miss Park, here, and her uncle, Mr. R. A. Park, Eugenia.

Mr. Andrew Boyd, near Saskatoon, N. W. T. is visiting his brothers J. A. and W. J. here, also his sister, Mrs. C. Patterson.

Miss Ireland, of Teeswater, was the guest of Mrs. J. A. Boyd, last week.

Mr. J. R. Hogg, of Manor, N. W. T. was in town last week calling on old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Loucks, of Meaford, visited Mr. and Mrs. P. Loucks last week.

Mrs. Niddrie, of Forest was the guest of Mrs. A. Bentham last week.

Mr. J. Strain, of Great Falls Mont. was in town Sunday and Monday visiting old friends.

Mrs. W. J. Douglas and children who have been visiting here for three weeks returned to their home at Collingwood on Tuesday.

Mrs. Geo. Mitchell entertained a number of friends at a party on Tuesday evening.

Sackett's Corners.

Well, Mr. Editor, here we are again and the snow is still being piled up just as high as when we wrote our last budget. But surely there'll come a time when we won't have to dig ourselves out every morning.

A surprise party from the north line spent a pleasant evening at Mr. Malcolm McCannel's this week.

We are sorry to learn that John McDonald is under the weather at present with a severe pain in one of his arms.

We understand that Sandy McDonald, of this place, intends going to the North West in the spring. He will rent his farms here.

G. Witter disposed of a load of pigs at a fair price this week.

S. McCardo has purchased a fine span of horses at a fair price. He will farm 150 acres this year and has engaged his brother Steve to assist him.

The Brownville correspondent in his last week's issue to the Durham Review stated that the last consignment of goods for the Corner Store was delayed on account of the goods being sent to Proton Station instead of Holstein. Being acquainted with the facts we would say that the travelling salesman made a mistake and sent the goods to Preston, consequently they had to be reshipped to Proton Station, hence the delay.

Findlay Clark intends leaving here for the North West. Our young men will all soon be gone to seek honors in other parts. We wish them success.

WANTED—SEVERAL PERSONS OF CHARACTER and good reputation in each state, one in this county required, to represent and advertise old established wealthy business house of solid financial standing. Colonial, 522 Dearborn St., Chicago.

"I've just learned a new charm to tell whether or not a man loves you," says the girl with the bulging pompadour. "What is it?" asks the girl with the diamond ring. "Why, you take four or five apple seeds and give each of them the name of a particular man, and place them—the apple seeds, I mean—on the stove and the first one that pops he loves you." "Humph!" mused the girl with the new diamond ring, absent-mindedly twisting that piece of jewellery about her finger, "I know a surer way than that." "You do?" "Yes, indeed. You take one particular man and place him on the sofa in the parlor, and sit close to him, and the light a little low, and look up to him attentively, and if he doesn't pop you know it's time to put another man on the sofa."
