Hardware.

I did not go to Toronto last week to find fault with the working of the National Portland Cement Co. but to buy goods, and can offer you this week some of the greatest bargains in Granite-ware that has been before the public for some time.

Just received another importation of Fancy Lamps which can be sold at prices that will astonish you.

Do not forget that there is one establishment in Durham that makes a specialty of all kinds of Baskets and Mats.

The majority of wise farmers are buying Dr. Hess and Clark's Stock Food and their cattle is showing the improvement.

A few Snow Shovels still in stock.

PETER CALDER.

Rev. Alex. Stewart Dead.

The death of Rev. Mr. Stewart which occurred Monday was not unexpected. For some time he has been lingering between life and death. Had it not been for his rugged constitution he would not have survived so long. We believe he is the pioneer in ministerial work in his part of the country, and during the days of his activity was the best known man in the three counties. The following article which appeared in June last in the Canadian Baptist gives a better obituary notice of the deceased gentleman than anything we could say and we reproduce it here for the benefit of our readers:—

On or about the 20th of May 1813, the subject of this sketch was born in the parish of Mortlach, Banffshire, Scotland. His father was a small farmer in lowly circumstances. At the age of eight years he went to work as a herder of cattle. Some years later he went to school for sixteen weeks. So far as schools are concerned this was the sum total of his education. But our education is not all obtained in schools and colleges. In March 1832, he embarked at Aberdeen and sailed for Quebec. He paid three pounds for his passage and boarded himself. Seven weeks was the length of the voyage. He landed with three pence in his pocket. He at once obtained employment, and spent his first year in Canada in Quebec and Montreal. Then he came on to Western Canada, and, in 1836, he settled in the County of Norfolk. For several years he worked in a saw mill, in this he succeeded till at one time he was entrusted with the oversight of two large mills. In 1842 he was married to Esther Stratton Wilson. No woman was ever a truer helpmate to her husband in personal character, in domestic ability, in Christian devotion, in influence in the home and beyond it she was not an ordinary woman.

In the summer of 1845, Mr. Stewart was baptized by the Rev. D. W. Rowland. He had been reared in the staunchest Presbyterianism, and the step he now took was not taken without struggle and sacrifice. Before taking this step he had come into a personal knowledge of Christ as his Saviour and Lord. He began to do what came in his way as a servant of Christ, and to preach occasionally. He had plans for going to the Baptist College in Montreal, but was persuaded to give them up, and to labor as a colporteur for what was then known as the Baptist Union. In this work he went as far north as Durham, Owen Sound and Cape Rich. The work was done, but somehow the promised salary of $200 was not forthcoming. In a room in a cloth factory connected with Watson's Mill's, in the village of Waterloo, he was ordained on January the 28th 1851. Soon after this he went to Durham, where he had already taken up a lot, cut down the trees, built a single room of a house, and began to labor as a missionary.

Mr. Stewart remained in Durham till the beginning of 1867. He then removed to Teeswater, where he remained three years. After this he spent a year in Goderich Township, Huron Co. Thence he went to the Indians on the Grand River; He lived and toiled among the Indians eight years. Since that time he has been without a regular charge, and has lived in his old home in Durham. There he still lives at the ripe age of ninety, and for his age he is still wonderfully well. His declining years are made comfortable by the presence and care of his youngest daughter, Miss Augusta Stewart, who, on the death of his second wife, nearly two years ago, left her work in the First Baptist Church, Chicago, and came to him.

In the days of his strength he travelled and labored as a missionary all through Grey and Bruce, through parts of Simcoe, Wellington, Waterloo, Huron, Norfolk, and on the Indian Reservation. He did the pioneer work, and led in the organization of the churches in Durham, South Arthur, North Arthur, Mount Forest, Priceville, Hanover, Greenock, Holland, Sullivan, Chesley. He also preached and baptised in Tiverton, and the church was organized there by the Rev. William Frazer. He helped in evangelistic work and in the organization of the church among the Germans in Carrick. He frequently visited Stayner. He organized the church in Goderich township. The church in Durham was organized in 1853 in the room which he built in the forest.

One year he baptized forty nine; another year eighty-five; another, one hundred and seven; another, seventy-five. He almost never held special meetings, but persistently in all seasons, and in all kinds of weather, kept his weekly fortnightly and monthly appointments, on Sunday or week day. Those northern counties were not strangers to severe storms, but almost never did a storm keep him indoors or cause him to miss an appointment. He was a great believer in the efficacy of visiting people in their homes, of personal religious conversation, of reading and praying with families, of holding prayer-meetings and giving away tracts, books, New Testaments, to interesting boys and girls. His influence with individuals was remarkable. Very few of the early settlers in Grey and Bruce could have been unacquainted with him.

For many years nearly all of his journeying was done on foot. Some of his feats in walking would sound almost incredible in these days of convenience. A walk of twenty or thirty miles to his appointments was nothing. Forty miles was a fair day's walk. If he had a hundred miles to go he started off and did it. He often preferred the night for a long walk, and during these long and solitary hours on foot much of his sermons were made. The writer has known him, when eighty years of age, to start off with perfect unconcern for a five mile walk to hold a prayer-meeting. It was never easy years of age he went, in January, to supply a Sunday for a brother minister. On Saturday he slipped on the ice and broke two of his ribs. But he preached morning and evening on Sunday, absolutely refusing to disappoint the people. Then he went to bed for three weeks while his ribs mended.

The struggle with poverty through those early years in Durham was often severe. There were times when the last penny and the last pound of flour were gone. He never could have gone through it all without the calm, brave woman who was at his side. The strain might sometimes have been a little less had he been less given to hospitality, or a little less generous to needy churches and individuals with the small means at his disposal. For example, when at the first Baptist meeting house in Durham was built, besides his manual toil, he put into it ninety-six dollars and twenty cents of his money.

He held religious services in twenty-eight places where there was no church. At one time and place he baptized four entire households; at another time three households; twice he baptized three generations at the same time. The oldest person he baptized was eighty-five. Once a dirk was pointed at his heart, another time a pistol was levelled at him, twice he was stoned, once he was threatened with a club because he persisted in preaching what he believed was the truth of God. He seemed never to fear man or beast.

These later years have not been idle. In them he has done a large amount of preaching and mission work, and also, in his own way, a large amount of work of charity. He never forgets his friends; not a few of them remember him. His home is open as ever to God's servants and to his old friends and acquaintances. All his friends are not of the godly sort, for he has befriended many a poor man who was the victim of drink or other trouble. These, too, remember him. In comfort and in peace he awaits the Master's call.

Interment took place Wednesday afternoon, the Baptist Chapel being packed with an attentive audience. A very appropriate and thoughtful address was delivered by the pastor, Rev. W. L. Newton, and suitable music was furnished by the choir. On the platform were Rev. Mr. Farquharson, Presbyterian Minister and Rev. Mr. Smith, Methodist, both of whom assisted in the services. At the request of Mr. Newton, Rev. J. Stewart, D. D. of Rochester, spoke a few minutes referring with most filial affection to his father's goodness, and gave a number of reminiscences of his hardships he had to endure in his early ministerial career. He also referred to the losing gratitude with which he looked upon the people of Durham for the measure of respect they had always shown to his revered and aged father. The almost impassable condition of the roads prevented no doubt the attendance who otherwise would have done honor to the aged gentlemen by being present at his burial.

Faulty Kidneys Imperil Life. Don't Experiment With Cheap, Dangerous Nostrums. Get the Un- failing Sure Cure Ferrozone.

Thousands are kept in perfect health and free from kidney complaints by using Ferrozone. Among those who speak in the laudatory terms of Ferrozone is Mr. Chas. F. Olive, of the Gazette, St. John, N. B. "For several years I have had kidney trouble," says Mr. Olive, "until quite recently I suffered torture. A few months ago my condition assumed a very serious form. I consulted several city Doctors, used different pills but without the slightest benefit. I suffered from an intense pain in the groin, and the increasing seriousness of my trouble prompted me to try Ferrozone. It gave me quick relief, and half a dozen boxes cured. Ferrozone I can recommend as a specific for disordered kidneys."—Chas. F. Olive.

Ferrozone not only cures kidney complaint, but also such maladies as Rheumatism, Gout, Sciatica, Skin Eruptions, Diabetes, Lassitude and Nervousness, which are caused by diseased kidneys. It neutralizes and destroys all poisons in the system, cleanses the blood, and invigorates enfeebled energies. It is mild, gentle and certain. Costs 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50. At druggists everywhere, or by mail from the Ferrozone Company, Kingston, Ont. Don't fail to get Ferrozone at once, it will make you well.

A SAD CASE.

The following letter, addressed to the Secretary of the National Sanitarium Association, Toronto, from the Rectory, Norwood, Ont., and signed by Rev. J. McKee McLennan, a well-known Anglican minister of the province, needs no comment of ours. It reads: "I desire to secure the admission into the Free Hospital for Consumptives at Gravenhurst of a young woman, a member of my parish. The case is a very sad one, and if help can be given, a promising life can be saved. Three years ago the mother died of consumption. Since that time it has been my painful duty to bury two of the sons with the same disease. Now Annie, aged about seventeen, and a boy of fourteen, are all that remain of the family. The poor girl has been in Muskoka, boarding at a private home, waiting to be admitted. She returned home last week, and within twenty-four hours of her return her father dropped dead in his buggy while driving into Norwood. The case is surely one that must appeal to the sympathies of everyone, and yet, I fear, only one of the many that are constantly coming under your notice."

[Note.—Readers—and may their number be many—who desire to assist in this worthy work may send their gifts to Sir Wm. R. Meredith, Kt., Vice-President, National Sanitarium Association, Toronto, or Mr. W. J. Gage, Chairman of the Executive Committee, Toronto.]

Is Your Doctor Bill Large?

Best way to keep it small is not to call the Doctor, but use Nerviline instead. For minor ailments like cold, coughs, chills, cramps, headache and stomach trouble Nerviline is just as good as any doctor. It breaks up a cold in one night, cures sores in the chest, and for Neuralgia, toothache and rheumatism you can't get anything half so good as Nerviline. The fame of Nerviline for cramps, colic, and pain in the stomach extends far and wide. Good for everything a liniment can be good for and costs but 25c. for a large bottle at all druggists.
