About five years ago Mr. T. A. Blakely of this place invented a roller bearing which he was sharply done out of while seeking a patent for it. The loss, however, only stimulated his inventive brain to the achievement of something which he believes he has accomplished. For some time he has been studiously working on a roller and ball bearing combined which he has already perfected and is confident surpasses anything yet patented in the roller bearing line. His neat model runs with wonderful ease friction being apparently reduced to the lowest degree possible. Mr. Blakely has submitted his invention to a large manufacturing firm who are so confident of its merits that they have undertaken to have it patented and push it in the United States and Canada. We trust it will prove a large source of revenue to the inventor.

George Bower of Woodstock, has been engaged as foreman in the Wilson sash and door factory here, and took charge on Monday last. The factory is splendidly equipped with up to date machinery for doing all kinds of work needed in modern house building and Mr. Bower being a practical and experienced hand patrons of the mill will doubtless be well served. Mr. Wilson the energetic manager has been for some time in very poor health, but we trust the measure of relief from business he will now experience through his foreman will tend to better his condition.

Mr. David Dow contemplated removal from town, but having purchased from W. A. Armstrong the residence he now occupies will with his family remain here.

Thos. Grainger has purchased Mr. S. Turner's residence, and lots, on Elizabeth street and will remove shortly. Mr. and Mrs. Turner are going to reside with the latter's sister near Toronto and are having an auction sale of their household effects this week.

Building operations now begun are likely to be brisk in the vicinity this season. Among those who are building are M. B. Orr and Wm. Buskin who are building fine brick residences. F. Chard is going to veneer and otherwise improve his residence.

Rev. C. L. Mills was in town a couple of days last week shipping his furniture to Ripley his new parish.

Mr. R. J. Sproule was in Walkerton on Friday attending a meeting of the directors of the Huron and Ontario Railway. Though there has been an apparent lull the scheme for this railway is not being neglected and the promoters are yet confident that it will be brought to a successful issue.

The thunder showers and very heavy roads on Sunday made the attendance at the churches from outside the village very small. The reception of members in the Methodist church was postponed for two weeks. Rev. Mr. Thom was the only minister here who underwent the ordeal of reaching his outside work. Rev's Wilson and Hurlburt remained at home and visited the Presbyterian church in the afternoon. At the weekly meeting in the Methodist church on Friday evening baptism was administered to six children and one adult.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Traitot of Chicago on their wedding tour recently visited the latter's grand-parents Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, east lack line Mrs. Traitot—nee Edith Campaigne formerly resided here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Campaigne.

Mrs. W. J. Bellamy is in Toronto nursing Mrs. W. Barnhouse who was again very ill last week with her former lung trouble, but a change for the better is reported.

Messrs. T. Grainger, W. H. Bunt and C. McMullen were delegates from the Methodist church, Sabbath School and League to the Prohibition Convention in Toronto last week.

Street Superintendent Wilson is again on duty and looking after the comfort of pedestrians by making needed sidewalk repairs.

Dwelling houses to rent are much in demand here now. Mr. Bower who arrived from Woodstock on Saturday came without his wife until a residence can be secured. We understand if one is not obtainable soon he will proceed to build.

Mr. H. L. Douglas of Orangeville and Mr. J. F. VanDuzen of Dundalk were in town on Monday.

Dr. Murray witnessed Toronto's terrible conflagration last week. He speaks of it being in some respects a magnificent sight, but at the same time so appalling that he wishes never to see one like it again.

Mr. M. K. Richardson M. P. was home from Ottawa over Sunday. We are sure Mr. Editor Mr. Richardson's speech in last week's Chronicle was interesting reading for your numerous subscribers.

Varney.

Thos. Allan went to Galt on Monday where he has got a situation.

The Morrison family are all better now. The memorial service will be preached in the church on Sunday next when the family will, we hope, be able to attend.

Mrs. Will McCalmon is sick this week.

At Mrs. Hillis', on Sunday, the 17th April, the wife of Mr. Bartman, of a daughter.

Albert McClinton, from Indiana, is a guest of the Leeson family.

The station caught fire from a passing engine and would have been burned down only for C. Gadd calling out the bucket brigade.

Richard Allan got a kick from a colt leaving him with a very sore hand.

Richard Barbour fell in the cellar and broke two ribs. He is on the mend now.

Mr. and Mrs. John Carson, of Durham, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eden on Sunday.

Top Cliff.

The unused storm door during the winter is now opened, the big drifts have disappeared, faintly we hear the sound of the bugle of the Canadian band as they strike the keynote of liberty after being set free from the stupor they experienced during the cold and frosty days of winter, birds are singing from early morn to dewy eve, the stalled cattle will soon be liberated by being let loose in the barn yard to take their sweet repose in the fresh air during the night. Little boys and girls will be glad to have the privilege of casting aside their winter garments and tripping off to school on shoes not made by Peel the shoeman, of Durham, or Dugald McLean, of Priceville. Fur coats are laid by till another season and straw hats are called for by the plowmen as they go forth turning up the soil preparing it for the seed. Rivers of water are flowing where in a month or two it will be dry and solid soil. Summing up altogether we have reasons for being thankful that we are again in possession of the promised seed time.

Fall wheat was looking rather bare till Sunday's rain gave it a greenish hue.

Some are busy plowing while others are engaged otherwise.

Quite a number of people have been on the move lately. Mr. Hincks moved to Priceville last week. Hugh McKinnon and family moved to Hince's place, as Mr. McKinnon bought the farm. Jack McMeekin rented Pat Sullivan's place and moved there last week. Jack wants to know where he can get a woman. The side road is open now, Jack, and the moon is getting full, there is lots of time to look around after six o'clock so we hope to see a young woman occupying the Sullivan farm before summer is over. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McLeod moved to their own place on the Gravel Road, Glenelg. Donald McKinnon, of Bunessan, and Peter Mair, of this place, exchanged farms and will have different neighbors in future.

Quite a number of young men from Arremesia left for the West this spring. Nowadays young men are in demand nearer home, but far away hills look green.

The World is Going Wrong.

Some days one sits and sadly thinks the world is going wrong; There is a chord of false in every fleeting song; The smiles that yesterday were good and seemingly to his eyes Now curve and wrinkle tauntingly in a deceitful guise; The friendly word seems but a mask for hidden treachery— And all the time it's he that's wrong, if he could only see. Some days the golden sunshine has the tawdry glint of brass. And all the world one sees out through a piece of darkened glass; Where yesterday he revelled in the beauty of the scene. To day there is no prospect but is worthless, crude and mean; The world, he vows, is bitter, and a cheerless soulless place— But all the wrong he grieves of makes his heart its resting place. Some days one sits and sadly says the world is going wrong— But he is showing weakness when the call is to be strong; The world gives laughs for laughter, and exchanges sigh for sigh. It echoes truth to honesty, and banters lie with lie; It gives its wares ungrudgingly—all go where they belong— And if we wish to vex our souls, the wise old world seems wrong.
