The West Huron hotel fines for the past 12 months have aggregated $660, made up as follows: 26 $20 fines, two of $25, one of $40, and one of $50. This is a considerably larger amount than was collected the previous year.—Gorrie Vidette.

The Chesley Enterprise says:—The population of Elderslie Tp. is steadily on the decrease. Farmers sell out to their neighbors and live retired in the surrounding villages or go West. Big farms seem to be all the go in Elderslie. One farmer states that his chief reason for selling out was the difficulty he had in securing suitable hired help at a reasonable wage.

On Sunday some person or persons entered the cellar of the Commercial Hotel and carried off a quantity of meat and a half dozen bottles of beer valued at several dollars. Mr. Beitz asked us to say if there is any person in this town that is so poor that he has to steal, that person's application, will receive a week's board at the Commercial free of charge.—Mildmay

The first barn-raising accident of the season in this neighborhood occurred at John Stoneman's farm, three miles from Shelburne, on Monday, May 2nd. All went well until it came to putting on the rafters. Three were leaning against the barn when something caused them to slide and fall striking Henry Besley, a young man, on the head. He never regained consciousness. He was to be married in June.—Dundak Herald.

At the meeting of the creditors of the sugar company last Saturday a petition signed by all the creditors in this vicinity was presented asking that Mr. T. C. Allan be appointed permanent liquidator of the concern—a position he is well qualified to fill. The petition represented creditors to the extent of nearly $200,000. Decision of the question was reserved by the judge, as the Toronto men made a strong fight to keep the job in the city.—Warton Canadian.

Victimized.—A number of farmers in the vicinity of Laurel have been done up by R. R. Lavery and Son of Toronto, who carried on a commission business. G. E. Gordon, of Laurel, went to Toronto a few days ago, on behalf of a number of farmers, who had received no returns for their produce but was too late. The Laverys had disappeared, said to have gone to Chicago. They are still at large.—Shelburne Free Press.

A family of young black foxes were found by a young man named John Billings, in a hollow log on the farm of Mr. Wm. McNab in Sydenham. John took his precious find home and they are thriving nicely. We are informed that one townsman Mr. P. McConvey offered $30 a piece for them and take his chance of raising them; but the owner expects to realize a much larger sum for them later in the season, or keep them and start a black fox ranch, which should be a better paying proposition than shunk farming.—Chatsworth News.

Complaints are frequently made as to the amount of mutilated and defaced coins in circulation. The law respecting the passing of such coins is very severe. Anyone proved guilty of stamping names or marks on a coin, whether it lightens it or not, is subject to one year's imprisonment. Everyone who impairs, diminishes or lightens any current coin with the intention of circulating it, is guilty of felony, and liable to 14 years imprisonment. A person trying to pass a defaced or mutilated coin is liable to a fine not exceeding $10.

Referring to reports sent from Blenheim, where local option came in force on May 1st, a Globe correspondent says: "It is not true that pumps were locked, at least, not this morning. Besides, if our friends, the former barkeepers, did lock pumps, the town is well provided with the best of water, in the most public place, for man and horses. A pump with the necessary accompaniments, under W. C. T. U. auspices, is found on the town square. There is ample shed accommodation, stabling is not needed, and the basement of the Methodist church is open as a commercial sample room, and first-class as such. There are three restaurants, two of which give good meals or lunches. Thus you will see Mr. Editor, that the great kindness of the hotelkeepers in nailing up their doors is no serious inconvenience to the town. Matters will soon right themselves. It is certain the town can stand nailed-up doors longer than the owners or lessees of the property. Let the commercial men come on and they will find with 'dryness' at least cleanliness and sobriety.

There's an impostor travelling through the country, representing himself to be one of the well-known O'Neill Bros. of Southgate, breeders of Herefords. A few days ago he made his appearance at Mr. W. H. Hammell's farm, but after a few sharp questions were fired at him by Mr. Hammell, he was glad to depart, as he knew he was identified. The Farmer's Advocate has exposed his tactics and it will be a blessing to the country when such a gent is safely stalled behind iron bars. If he comes to your place, farmer reader, let your dogs loose and send them in pursuit of this smart alex.—Beeton World.

Did you ever gentle reader, attend a musical entertainment and have the ill luck to be seated near a giggling, babbling couple, whose snickering and interchange of confidences marred your evening's pleasure and filled you with a burning desire to snatch them out of their seats and deposit them in a back alley where they would cease to trouble. Haven't you wondered at the lack of good breeding displayed, the disregard for the comfort of others and the disrespect for the entertainers? What sort of homes do these ill-mannered disturbers come from? Why don't they seek entertainment in a boiler shop?—Hanover Post.

William McDonald, an employe of the Muskoka Leather Company, Bracebridge, was killed by touching a wire fence connected with the main electric light wire. A length of insulated wire, which the electrician had been stringing as a lightning conductor, was allowed to sag against the electric light wire and the end was thrown across the barbed fence around the leather company's stable. Two men George Perry and Wm. Beardmore, touching the fence, received shocks and mentioned the facts to Mr. McDonald, who at once laid one hand on the wire remarking that the current was not very perceptible. He then placed the other hand on the wire, and received the full current, killing him instantly. Deceased who was forty years of age leaves a widow and eight children.

Chatsworth, May 9.—Chatsworth, the newest village in the Province, incorporated by a special act at the recent session of the Legislature, has in the elections held to-day conferred the honor of being first Reeve upon Mr. Thomas McGill, he having defeated his opponent by a decisive majority. The first Reeve is an implement manufacturer, and one of the most prominent business men and popular citizens, and his many efforts for the success of the village have been appreciated, as evidenced by the result of the election. The Councillors are Charles Ritz, Wm. Crane, James Airth, and E. O. Merriam, who were elected in the order named. Chatsworth commences its existence as an incorporated village under very promising conditions and under the management of a good Reeve and Council.

Two little Walkerton girls have been left a legacy of $10,000. These girls are Jane and Laura Hays, at present residing at Mr. Robert Lockhart's. Their father, H. J. Hays, figured prominently here a few years ago. Owing to a disagreement with his wife, he made a murderous assault on his mother-in-law, for which he had to do a term in the Kingston Penitentiary. An Aunt of his has just died leaving an estate valued according to a Pittsburg paper, at hundreds of thousands of dollars. Hays' father gets $10,000 in cash and a 160 acre farm, but he himself gets nothing. Had he lived a well ordered life, he would no doubt, have been left an independent position. The mother of these little girls is now earning her own living. She is employed as proof reader in a Pittsburg paper, at a salary of eighty dollars a month.—Telescope.

Pills and Piles.

A prolific cause of piles is the use of cathartics and pills of a drastic, violent nature.

Followed by a reaction on account of the resinous, drying properties they contain.

There are other causes, but no matter what the cause or what the kind of Piles, Dr. Leonhardt's Hemorrhoid can be relied upon to cure—stay cured.

It's an internal remedy that removes the causes of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Suppurating Piles.

A guarantee goes with each package containing a month's treatment. It can be obtained for $1.00 at Darling's drug store.

The steamer Wahcondah took out clearance papers at the customs office yesterday morning and at four o'clock after coaling up at the Davis-Smith Malone coal dock, threw off her lines and steamed for Cleveland. The Iroquois and Neeling will probably move out on Saturday.—Owen Sound Times

Inside of three short months the 12th concession of the township here has lost four of the oldest and most conspicuous landmarks. The exits of three have already been announced in our columns, and this week we are called on to chronicle the departure of the fourth—Mr. Valentine Geib. This sad occurrence took place on Wednesday early in the morning. A year ago last October Mr. Geib suffered a stroke of paralysis, from which he partially rallied until the following January, when a second stroke confined him to bed for several months. As time wore on however, he was even rallying from this, and was able to walk about, visit his neighbors, come to town and get around fairly well, though his right side and arm were lifeless. On Thursday of last week he was again visited by that destroyer of life and though medical aid was summoned no relief could be given until Wednesday morning, as stated above, his spirit took its departure to the great beyond. Deceased was a prudent and thrifty farmer and cultivated one of the best 100 acres in the garden of Normanby, the 12th concession. He was upright and honorable in all dealings and got along well with his neighbors and the general public. He leaves to cherish his memory his widow, a son, Daniel, and a daughter Mrs. Frederick Loos in Newstadt.—Aytton Advance.

The shadow of a great sorrow fell upon the home and family of Mr. Jas. C. Garner, of Lamlash on Saturday last, the 7th inst., when the sad intelligence was received of the sudden death of his beloved wife, Mrs. Agnes Stewart Garner, at the Cottage Sanatorium in Gravenhurst. Deceased had been under special medical treatment for the past year and fond hopes had been entertained of her recovery almost until the last, but she died suddenly of hemorrhage of the lungs on Friday night the 6th inst. She was 32 years of age. The remains were brought to Hanover on the noon train on Monday and interred in the cemetery here. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Leach of Hanover at the grave and was largely attended. Very great sympathy was felt for the bereaved husband and family of four children. Deceased was a daughter of the late Benjamin Stewart, Esq., of Britannia, and was married to him who now mourns her loss about eleven years ago, and resided the whole of that time at Lamlash. The funeral was attended by Mr. John Stewart, of Britannia, and Miss Stewart, of Chicago, brother and sister of the deceased, and Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Rodwell, of Markdale, brother and sister-in-law of deceased, and a large circle of her neighbors and friends and also many of the leading business men of the town. The late Mrs. Garner was a universal favorite, of a bright genial disposition, very devoted to her husband and family, and best of all a sweet spirited Christian. She will be sorely missed in the home and social circle of Lamlash and by her numerous relatives and friends. It is very important that we all should remember the command of our Lord to be watchful as we know not when the Lord cometh. It is the consolation of the bereaved husband, family and relatives to know that the departed was ready for the Master's call. And we entertain the blessed hope of a glad re-union in the home celestial. A memorial service will be held at Lamlash as soon as arrangements can be completed.—Hanover Post.

Speaking of the crowded condition of the Hanover, it is just possible that there are too many mothers in town who send the youngsters to school to get them out of the way for a time. To be relieved of them for a period and at the same time have them acquire a little knowledge if possible is probably the basis that a good many parents work on. There are other points to be considered, however. At this tender age the child is most susceptible to influences of one kind and another, and at this age he or she should be given all the attention that a good and loving mother can bestow. There is nothing gained either in crowding children too fast. An exchange boasts of a little girl aged ten having passed the high school entrance examination almost at the head of the list. This little girl must have done a lot of studying, and brought to bear on her lessons a precocious mind. No doubt she is also well up in her music lessons, has read the newspapers that enter her home, and read some of the books that nowadays are cheap and plentiful. Altogether she will have had a busy time for the past five years, for a girl of but ten years of age. The success of this little girl will probably inspire other parents and teachers to drive other children along so that they, too, may "pass the entrance" at ten, or eleven or twelve, and the general consequence will probably be very bad on the bodily health and the mental vitality of the children subjected to such treatment. Prof. G. D. Roberts once said that he had lived in the backwoods of New Brunswick and was proud to say that he did not go to school until he was fourteen. In the end he got an education and is making some use of it. The schools should not try to turn out infant prodigies—hurrying children along into studies they cannot rightly comprehend. There is a story well authenticated, of a child named Christian Heinecher, born in Denmark, nearly two hundred years ago who at the age of ten months could repeat any word that was said to him, at twelve months could repeat the principal events at the Pentateuch in his second year he could repeat the greater part of the Bible; in his 3rd year was an authority on geography; and before he was four was well read in history and theology. At this time he was taken to the court of Denmark, where he made a sensation. On returning home he was taught writing, but sickened and died at the age of four and a half years, and the chronicler says "he showed but little meanness at the approach of death." We should think not, indeed! If ever mortal gladly died, surely it would be that unfortunate child, who found this world one indigestible mass of words, facts and figures, which he had to take into himself, beginning while nursing in his mother's arms. The young Dane must be the model some parents and teachers have ever before them.
