During the last twenty-five years a large number of these swamps have been cleared and drained the vegetable matter is well decayed and not too deep, good crops, even of cereals, may be matured after the soil has been cultivated for two or three years. The best results are obtained where the subsoil is clay and some of it has gradually become mixed with the top soil; but where the vegetable mould is deep, or the subsoil sand or gravel, the results are asually not satisfactory Crops such as hay and roots which are not matured before harvesting very of ten do well, while wheat and oats will fail to produce seed There are still other soils which fail to produce remunerative crops of any kind. The rank growth common on swamp soils is doubtless due to the excessive amount of nitrogen which is derived from the decaying vegetable matter, and the poor seed production is probably caused by the small amount of mineral matter present. In most cases, where a drained swamp soil dries out too much in the summer, the organtic matter is not sufficiently decayed to form a close soil.

In recent years so many letters complaining of the unproductiveness of these soils have been received at the Chemical Department of the Ontario Agricultural College that we The White "Challenge" Separ- have decided to investigate the matator and new and second hand ter and see if any remedy can be suggested to increase their usefulness For this purpose nearly 1,000 circular letters have been sent to farmers who store. own swamp soils. From the information contained in the answers received and the results of the analyses of a number of typical samples and from pot experiments, we hope to be able to suggest some remedy and next year to undertake co-operative experiments to test the efficiency of these remedies.

MAD DOG.

"The Family Physician." published in 1883, says, for the bite of a mad deg: Take ashcolored, ground liverwort, cleaned, dried and powdered. half an onnce of black pepper, powdered, a quarter of an ounce. Mix these well together, and divide the powder into four doses, one of which must be taken every morning, fasting for four mornings successively in half an English pint of cow's milk, warm. After these four doses are taken, the patient must go into the cold lath, or a cold spring or river. every morning, fasting, for a month He must be dipped all over, but not stay in (with his head above wa'e) longer than half a minute if the water is very cold. After this he must go in three times a week for a fortnight longer. He must be bied before he begins to take the medicine."

It is very difficult to know just what is the best thing to do when a person is bitten by a mad dog, but my advise would be to kill the dog After that feel the part of the leg where bitten and ascertain how serious the injury has been. Then go home and put on another pair of pantalooms, throwing away those that have been lacerated. Parties having but one pair of pantalooms will have to sequester themselves or excite remarks. Then take a cold bath, as suggested above, and do not remain in the bath (with the head under water) more than half an hour. If the head is under water, you may remain in the bath until the funeral if you think best.

When going into the bath it would he well to take something in your pocket to bite, in case the desire to bite something should overcome vou. Some use a common shingle-nail for this purpose, while others prefer a personal friend. In any event, do not bite a total stranger on an empty stomach. It might make you ill.

Never catch a dog by the ail if he FURNITURE has hydrophobia. Although the end of the dog is considered most safe. you never know when a mad dog may reverse himself.

If you meet a mad dog in the street do not try to quell him with a glance of the eye. Many have tried to do that, and it took several days to separate the two and tell which was mad dog and which was queller.

The real hydrophobia dog generally ignores kindness, and devotes himself mostly to the introduction of his justly celebrated virus. A good thing to do on observing the approach of a mad dog is to flee, and remain fled until he has disappeared.

Hunting mad dogs in a crowded Scattered here and there through. street is a great sport. A friend of mine, who was a practical joker, once sought to tie a tin can to the tail of a mad dog on an empty stomach. His widow still points with pride to the marks of her late husband's teeth on the piano. If mad dogs would confine themselves exclusively to practical jokers, I would be glad to endow a home for indigent mad dogs, out of my paivate funds.
