The following points of connection with this well-known school:

1. A building, gymnasium and grounds that for beauty, equipment or comfort cannot be surpassed in the province.

A record of 53 Junior Leaving and 21 Senior Leaving certificates besides several matriculations and Commercial Diplomas in the last 3 years. 11 of the Junior Leaving students who were successful spent only one year of their school life in a high school, and that, at Meaford, and some of them at their entrance knew nothing of Latin, French, German, Algebra or Euclid. 4. This school is doing successfully every form of work done by the largest Collegiate Institute in the province. Personal attention is given to each pupil. Beautiful medals and prizes are open for competition in each form. Public speaking, debating, singing and athletics are encouraged.

5. The high stand taken by graduates of the Meaford High School at the Normals and the Universities and the excellent record many of its graduates are making in the teaching profession, prove the efficiency of the work done.

The Englishwoman's Latchkey.

Talking about the British aristocracy, a woman who has met it on its native heath tells me that the feminine section of it never stirs out without a latchkey. We carry latchkeys over here, but we don't do it in the British way. The American woman ties her key in the corner of her handkerchief or hides it under the mat or puts it into her purse along with cold cream recipes and car tickets and samples. The Englishwoman parades hers. The woman who knows her tells me that she has seen latchkeys set with precious stones and fastened to long chains. She has seen them gilded and strung from belts; she has seen them with pins on the back of them, worn as brooches. She tells me that the Englishwoman would no sooner leave her latchkey at home than her husband would his bath. The thing is possibly new to the Englishwoman and, being new, is paraded. With us over here it is an old story. Possessing the reality, the symbol is of small moment to us. We are content to leave the latchkey under the mat.

A Philosopher as a Fisherman.

Herbert Spencer once won a curious wager. He was staying for a fishing holiday in the house of Sir Francis Powell, the president of the Scottish academy, and while angling for trout he happened to drop his eyeglasses into a deep pool of the river. In the evening he related his misadventure to his host and the guests, and said that he was prepared to bet that he would recover the pince-nez from the bottom of the pool. His friends declared that this was an impossible feat, but Herbert Spencer still offered to make the bet. His challenge was accepted by one of the visitors. Upon the following evening Spencer returned to the house with the missing eyeglasses. He had fastened a strong magnet on the end of his fishing line and fished for the glasses until it came into contact with their steel rims.

Floating Targets of the Sea.

Even the French and British warships that patrol the Newfoundland coast during the fishery season do not escape the danger of icebergs, crowded with men and carefully navigated though the vessels are. The ice masses serve a novel purpose for the fleets all the summer through, being used as targets for big gun practice. When a specially formidable one drifts along past St. John's a cruiser slips her moorings and runs to sea after it, pelting it with projectiles until she fires away her allowance. It is one of the sights of St. John's, the endless procession of icebergs of every size and shape that drift by day after day, charming the eye and cooling the summer atmosphere. Sometimes they ground in the harbor mouth and prevent ships entering or leaving.—P. T. McGrath in McClure's.

Palestine.

When one thinks of the great events that have taken place in the Holy Land, the multitude of cities, villages and towns, the countless millions who have been born there and whose bones now lie in its rock ribbed hills, the small dimensions of Palestine are almost startling. West of the Jordan, where most of the historic events took place, there are only 3,800 square miles, including all the geographical divisions now called Palestine. Including the land both east and west of the Jordan, the total area is 9,840 square miles. The length of Palestine from north to south is about 150 miles. It varies in breadth from twenty-three to eighty miles.

Wanted None of His Art.

At a dinner in London, Theodore Watts-Dunton said: "It isn't generally known that Turner, the painter, and Dr. Augustus Pritchard once lived together for a year in Cheyne row. The painter and the physician had a fine garden, and they took a good deal of pride in their flowers. But the garden did not work well, and one day Turner, because it wouldn't open, pettishly gave orders that it be nailed up. It was thought that this odd act would enrage Augustus Pritchard, but, on being told of it, all he said was, 'Oh, well, I don't care what Turner does to the gate, so long as he doesn't paint it.'"

Colds.

Every one knows when he contracts a cold on the chest. Not so with cold in the kidneys and bowels. The kidneys, however, are the weak point in many men and women nowadays, and they may be well protected by wearing a roll of white flannel, which should be about a foot wide and go twice around the waist for winter and once for summer. Try it, reader, if you have any tendency to bladder or kidney trouble.—Exchange.

A Mean Bank.

"Madam, you've already overdrawn your account."
"What's that?"
"You haven't any more money in the bank."
"The idea! A fine bank, I think, to be out of money because of the little I've drawn! Well, I'll go somewhere else."

A Philosopher.

Rivers—What do you do when you wake up in the night with jumping toothache? Brooks—I try to be thankful it isn't galloping consumption.

Trying to Forget It.

Mifkins—Hello, old man! What do you think of that cigar I gave you last night? Bifkins—Don't ask me to think. I'm trying to forget it.

Let those who complain of having to work undertake to do nothing. If this does not convert them, nothing will.

Pale Faced Nervous Women

Always Grow Strong and Have a Rosy Complexion by Using Ferrozone.

Ferrozone is by long odds the best tonic for pale-faced girls and exhausted women. It forms the right kind of blood and tissue for rebuilding the system. It replaces tiredness by energy and vim, and adds nerve force and staying power. Miss D. E. Leduc, of Chester, gives the following convincing evidence of Ferrozone's power.

"My work compels me to rise early in the morning and work ten hours daily as a saleslady. Last Spring I was run down, lost my color and fell off in weight. I seemed to lack ambition and the life was out of me. A friend recommended Ferrozone and I took one tablet after meals with wonderful results. Ferrozone soon brought back my complexion and has given me new strength and abundance of energy and spirits. I would advise all young ladies to use Ferrozone."

Go to your druggist to-day and get a supply of Ferrozone. Price 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from the Ferrozone Company, Kingston, Ontario.

Southampton has had a sensation in the shape of an alleged elopement of Mrs. J. Cook, a farmer's wife, with a teamster named Schuler. The latter was arrested at Hamilton on a charge of stealing belongings of Mr. Cook, had a preliminary hearing before a magistrate at Port Elgin and committed for trial, which took place before Judge Barrett at Walkerton and Schuler was discharged, the judge holding that no evidence had been produced to prove that Schuler had stolen the goods. Mrs. Cook denies that there was any elopement. She happened to go to Guelph the day before Schuler went to Hamilton, and that caused the talk. It is now said that J. Cook will enter action against Schuler for $10,000 for alienating his wife's affections, and Schuler will enter a counter action against Cook for the same amount for illegal and unjust arrest. Schuler has returned to his wife at Southampton, and Cook says he is willing to welcome his wife home again. In the meantime she is visiting at Guelph.—Harriston Tribune.
