

Flesherton.

(Intended for last week.)
The mysterious disappearance of a customer's caprine from T. J. Sheppard's store on Tuesday of last week led him to secure a search warrant and with Bailiff Wright proceeded the following morning to the home of Mr. James Holley, Meaford Road, where suspicion rested. The missing garment was, however, not found, but a quantity of goods consisting of shoes, millinery, etc., was discovered some of which Mr. Sheppard identified as goods from his store. That evening on the charge of theft made by Mr. Sheppard, Mrs. Holley and her sister Miss May Overland were summoned before Magistrates Vandusen and Richardson here. The accused, who elected to be tried summarily, were found guilty and each fined $10.00 and costs in all $34.70 which was paid forthwith. An order was also issued by the Court for the return of the stolen goods to Mr. Sheppard.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chard, east of the village, gave a party on Tuesday evening of last week for their daughter Nellie and niece, Miss May Fisher who is visiting them for a couple of weeks. There were about thirty-five young people present, and a very enjoyable evening was spent with games and music. The young ladies, who on the occasion each celebrated their birthday, were the recipients not only of congratulations but of many handsome presents.

The Thanksgiving was in behalf of the Bible Society.

Mr. Josiah Gamey, an old resident of Osprey and for many years treasurer of the township, died after a few days illness near Maxwell on Friday last, aged 67 years. The funeral which took place on Sunday and was very largely attended, was under the auspices of Prince Arthur Lodge A. F. T. A. M. here of which Mr. Gamey had been a member for about twenty-eight years. As a token of esteem an appropriate and beautiful floral design was placed on the casket by the lodge. Mr. Gamey was also an Orangeman and his brethren in that Order attended in a body in large numbers. The deceased's pastor Rev. H. E. Kemp conducted an impressive funeral service in the Methodist church of which he had been a member and leading official for many years.

We sympathize much with Mr. and Mrs. Chard in their trouble and trust their son will soon experience relief.

What a Methodist Minister Says.

Church entertainments, suppers, and festivals are a curse, a drain on the community, a burden on the workers and the cause of much spiritual poverty, declared Rev. Wilmer Evans Coffman at a meeting of the Methodist Ministers' Association at Wilkesbarre, Pa. "These festivals and entertainments," he said are dead works because they are used as a means of avoiding larger giving and sacrifices. They appeal to the lower nature and motives of silver and gold. They result from a lack of faith. These are the things the business world seeks. They teach the people to place a low estimate of value upon the ministry of the Word and services of the church. These become a sort of trading stamp adjunct to the suppers and entertainments. They cause the world to lose respect for the church and weaken the influence of the unconverted. They are often the cause of unkind remarks, of jealousy, of mean actions. They rob the community by making the people pay three dollars to do the church one dollar's worth of financial good. They teach people extravagance in their personal expenditures." The Rev. Mr. Coffman concludes that the right method is for straight giving and no begging.

The Best Remedy For Croup.

This is the season when the woman who knows the best remedies for croup is in demand in every neighborhood. One of the most terrible things in the world is to be awakened in the middle of the night by a whoop from one of the children. "The croup remedies are almost sure to be lost, in case of croup, as a revolver is sure to be lost in case of burglars. There used to be an old fashioned remedy for croup, known as hive syrup, but some modern mothers say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better, and does not cost so much. It causes the patient to "throw up phlegm" quicker, and gives relief in a shorter time. Give this remedy as soon as the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by H. Parker.—1.

Sarah Bernhardt's Tact.
An illustration of Sarah Bernhardt's wonderful tact is shown in the following incident: During a performance of "Andromache" the hoots and hisses of the roughest men in the gallery led to their being ejected by the soldiers on guard. But, deaf to the objections of manager and secretary, Mme. Bernhardt insisted on the men being sent for between the acts. So, freed from the hands of the police, the disturbers, to their surprise, found themselves in the beautiful, electric lighted, cream and gold rooms, and lent of the perfume of flowers, and faced by the lady they had insulted, looking beautiful in the glittering gorgeous dress of the eastern princess. "Messieurs," said Mme. Sarah, with gracious dignity, "I have sent for you. You are to go back to your places, and you are permitted to hiss as much as you like." The rough and motley crowd left the room in amazement, and storms of applause burst from the gallery when the curtain fell after the next act.

Kerosene Oil.

A common kerosene lamp, with its chimney of glass, its varied forms of beauty, its shades modified to every grade of vision and of taste, suggests the relation of man to light. The oil, natural, cheap, brilliant and volatile, was long known to civilized humanity as a crude outflow from the earth. It was not until about 1845 that the iridescent scum seen floating on the surface of a stream near Pittsburg suggested to thoughtful men to dig for a greater supply. Indians came from a distance and soaked it from the water with their blankets, which they wrung out into vessels in order to secure a quantity for some secret purpose. It was not until 1890 that time it has driven every form of wax, grease, fluid, camphine and whale oil lamp from the common use of mankind.

Great Guns of Old.

We are accustomed to think of large cannon as a very recent invention. Yet as long ago as 1543 a certain Ralph Hodge of Buckstead, in Sussex, cast large guns, and a pupil of his, Thomas Johnson, in 1585 made for the Earl of Cumberland "forty-two cast pieces of great ordnance of iron." These weighed 6,000 pounds—three tons—apiece, and, we are told, showed very fine, smooth workmanship. All the smelting was done with charcoal, of which it took three tons to smelt each ton of iron. Also all the ore was carried from the mine on pack horses, which took a load or about 300 pounds each. The immense amount of labor and consequent expense may be imagined.

The Horseshoe as a Mascot.

The superstition that associates the horseshoe with good luck is very old. It is said to prevail not only among English speaking people, but in all races of Europe and Asia. Antiquaries are undecided whether its origin has to do with the material from which the horseshoe is made or with its shape. Some writers on this subject have surmised that the lucky qualities attributed to the horseshoe were derived from its "ancient resemblance to the halo pictured about the heads of saints, but this connection is highly improbable, as it is known that the superstition certainly antedates Christianity.

How Baraboo Got Its Name.

Indians gave Baraboo its name, but the word is not Indian. Baribeanu or Baribault was the name of an old Canadian French trader who at the age of seventeen sought the then wilderness of Wisconsin to secure pelts for the Hudson Bay company and later for the American Fur company. He established a post where the town of Baraboo now stands. Being the first white man in those parts, the Indians named the place after him, but as they had not had the advantages of a French education could not get the pronunciation of the name nearer than Baraboo, and Baraboo it remains to this day.

Lone Star States.

In the course of conversation at a club the other evening a man referred to "the Lone Star State."
"What state do you mean?" he was asked.
"Why, Texas, of course."
"Well," he was told, "do you know that there are no fewer than five independent sovereign states which use a lone star on their national flags today? They are Turkey, Chile, Cuba, Liberia and the Kongo Free State."

A Black Eye.

In the treatment of contusions where there is extensive discoloration of the skin if olive oil be freely applied without rubbing the discoloration will quickly disappear. Absorbent cotton may be soaked in the oil and applied. If the skin is broken a little boric acid should be applied over the abrasion. A black eye thus treated can be made normal in a few hours, especially if the oil be applied warm.

She Had Cause For Fear.

"Mamma," said the cannibal beauty to her maternal ancestor, "I am really alarmed at Mr. Kinkey's intense passion for me."
"Why, my dear?"
"Only last night he declared I was sweet enough to eat."—Buffalo Times.

Answered.

A physician finding a lady reading "Twelfth Night" said, "When Shakespeare wrote about Patience on a monument, did he mean doctors' patients?"
"No," she answered. "You don't find them on monuments, but under them."

The great bulk of the people are honest. If they were not, this world indeed be a poor world in which to live.—Boston Herald.
