Public Notice!

Attention is called to the fact that the Ogilvie Flour Mills Company, Limited, makers of Royal Household Flour, have for some time past been producing flour in a vastly improved and purified form by the aid of electricity, and having secured control of all the basic patents relating thereto, take this opportunity of advising the public that any unauthorized users of the electrical flour purifying processes will be prosecuted.

The Ogilvie Flour Mills Company, Limited, are the only millers in Canada whose flour is purified by the electric process.

Glenmont.

Mr. Wm. Horusby of Penetanguishine was the welcome guest of his brother John and other relatives and acquaintances in these parts for a week. Mr. Horusby was a resident of this neighborhood some twenty-five years ago, and although getting up in years he still looks quite hale and hearty.

At time of writing some of the family of Mr. Thos. Cherry are ill with some infectious disease. Last week their eldest daughter aged twelve died from the effects of Pneumonia. We extend to Mr. and Mrs. Cherry our sincere sympathy in their sore bereavement and sickness.

Mrs. H. Hooper who has been ill for some time is not improving as rapidly as her friends would wish.

James Black from near Dundalk is engaged with John Horusby for a few weeks. Mr. Black is a cousin of Mrs. Horusby.

The Ebenezer Sunday School Anniversary which took place on the 14th inst. was a decided success. The programme being quite worthy of the delightful night.

Rev. F. W. Roach, occupied the chair, and about 8 p. m. commenced reading from the lengthy programme which consisted of music by the Sunday School children. Several well rendered solos were given by Will Isaac, of Dromore. The duet by Mr. Ramage and Isaac was well appreciated. Misses Ferris and Dingwall from Proton accompanied by Miss Ferguson rendered several pleasing duets which were enjoyed by all. Miss Clara Hooper sang a solo very sweetly. Upwards of twenty recitations were given by the children, also Mrs. W. R. Watson, Mr. A. Watson and C. Hassison. The speech of the evening was given by Mr. Geo. Lothion, Supt. of Amos S. School, after relating a few amusing anecdotes, Mr. Lothion spoke very nicely along the line of Sunday School work. The choir entered and led a few anthems, God save the King.

Indians and Cowards.
John Bradbury, who explored part of the Missouri river country in the early decades of the last century, tells of a unique Indian method of dealing with cowards. The story is retold in the Early Western Travels Series, edited by R. G. Thwaites. Bradbury says: "In our walk we observed what on the first view appeared to be two squaws. I remarked that one of them had more the appearance of a man than a woman. I was then informed that it was a man and that there were several others in the village who, like the one we saw, were condemned for life to associate with the squaws, to wear the same dress and do the same drudgery. I now learned that when the Osages go to war they keep a watchful eye over the young men who are taking their first essay in arms, and such as appear to possess the necessary qualifications are admitted to the rank of warriors. But if any exhibit proofs of cowardice, on the return of the party they are compelled to assume the dress and character of women, and their doom is fixed for life and no opportunity afforded them to retrieve their character."

Mixed.
During a church convention in one of our large cities a lady well known as one of the prominent hostesses of the land was entertaining at her home a number of ministers, delegates to the convention. The second evening, being very tired, she proposed having two hours to herself while her guests were attending the religious meeting announced. One delegate, however, insisted on keeping her company. They sat for a time before the library fire, the minister talking on in a gentle stream, the lady growing more and more sleepy. A cricket was singing on the hearth, and presently a hymn from the neighboring church reached their ears. The clergyman, slowly rocking, slowly fitting the tips of his fingers to one another, commented: How sweet the songs of Zion sound upon the evening air!

His hostess, almost asleep, was still responsive. She fancied he was referring to the cricket. "Yes," she replied; "I'm told they do it with their hind legs."

Aqueous Precipitation.
The general law of aqueous precipitation may be briefly stated. Whatever lowers the temperature of the air at any place below the dew point is a cause of rain. Various causes may conspire to effect this object, but it is chiefly brought about by the ascent of the air into the higher regions of the atmosphere, by which, being subjected to less pressure, it expands and in doing so lowers its temperature. These ascending currents are caused by the heating of the earth's surface by the sun's rays or, in fact, by anything which raises the temperature of the superincumbent air, and it is very obvious that the continual discharge of large pieces of ordnance will have a considerable effect in raising the temperature of the air lying on the earth's surface, which will ascend, expand and discharge in aqueous particles in the form of rain for the foregoing reasons.

Artemus Ward's Sarcasm.
Artemus Ward was traveling on a slow going southern road soon after the war. When the conductor was punching his ticket Artemus inquired, "Does this railroad company allow passengers to give it advice if they do so in a respectful manner?" The conductor replied in gruff tones that he guessed so. "Well," Artemus went on, "it occurred to me it would be well to detach the cowcatcher from in front of the engine and hitch it to the rear of the train, for, you see, we are not liable to overtake a cow. But what's to prevent a cow strolling into this car and biting a passenger?"

Eating One's Boots.
"Rawhide or even leather if boiled for hours will make nutritious soup," says a writer in Country Life in America on the subject of what a man lost in the woods may find to eat. "Many a man has bridged the awful gap by boiling his boots, whence the phrase to express the final extreme, 'I'll eat my boots first.' Mark Twain was once put to this final resort and recorded afterward that 'the holes tasted the best.'"

Malay Superstitions.
You can scarcely ever get your money from a Malay on Friday because Malays believe that if they pay their creditors on a Friday they will be overtaken by penury. Malays never shave or cut their nails on Saturday or Tuesday because these are unlucky days, and if they do part with their hair or nails on these days they believe that they will be always in trouble or will die quickly.

Absentmindedness No Crime.
Judge—Not guilty! Why, the policeman says he actually caught you with your hand in this man's pocket. "Mebbe so, your honor. But once I had a coat of the same pattern, an' I'm a little absentminded at times. Fact, your honor!"

Deceived.
Ethel—You say Algy has been deceived by a young woman. Did she lead him on to think that she loved him? May—Oh, no! She let him believe she didn't care a rap for him, and then when he carelessly proposed she accepted.
