Free, to any Woman who bakes her own Bread

Thousands of women are writing in every week for the "Royal Household" Recipes—they explain the new and easier way of making bread. Make a trial with the new Royal Household Flour, which is purified by electricity—you would not believe there could be such a difference in flour—these recipes are certainly worth asking for. Send a postal card to-day.

HERE IS JUST ONE TESTIMONIAL OUT OF MANY THOUSANDS RECEIVED.

SAVANNAH, THREE MILE CREEK, B.C., November 28th, 1904.
 I have been using your flour exclusively since I came to Canada, fourteen years ago, and have been using "Royal Household" since its introduction. To show you how I value it, I sent to Kamloops, twenty-five miles away, and had it shipped to me per C. P. R., preferring to pay the railway charges rather than use an inferior brand. In fact, if I could not get it otherwise, I would ship it direct from the mills. I can always rely on having good bread when using it and nothing tends more to keep harmony in a home.

At the regular meeting of Court Flesherton No. 995, I. O. F., held on Friday evening last, installation of officers took place, the ceremony being performed by Installing Master Wesley Buskin, who was assisted by W. A. Armstrong as G. M. . . . At the conclusion of business the members indulged in their annual oyster supper, after which an enjoyable impromptu programme was rendered on which a couple of songs each by Master Tommy Hett and Mr. Ben Wilson were very taking numbers. Altogether a very pleasant evening was spent in the I. O. F. Hall.

While waiting for the election returns on Wednesday night, those who assembled in the town hall were entertained with music on the violin by Mr. James Patton, accompanied by his little daughter Edna, on the organ.

Misses Florrie and Jossie Richardson gave a party to about twenty-five young people on Friday evening last, in honor of their guest Miss Bessie Brown, of Durham.

In our budget last week we over looked a painful accident which befell Editor Thurston's four-year-old son Frank, who slipped from a chair, into a Gordon press, which was running. His left leg was caught below the knee in the gearing, and the flesh was torn from the bone for about four inches. We learn that the little fellow is doing well; but it will be some time before he is on foot again.

Word has been received here of the death on Friday last at Hespeler of Mrs. . . . nee Miss Waugh, formerly in the post office here. During her time of service here she was very popular and made many friends, who regret to learn of her early decease.

"Every year," said the professor, "a sheet of water 14 feet thick is raised to the clouds from the sea." "What time of the year does that happen, professor?" asked the freshman. "I should think it would be a sight worth going to see."

GOOD POSITIONS.

The Mount Forest Business College

Has placed all its graduates in good positions and has several good positions in view. Its courses are the most up-to-date and the best that can be obtained in Canada or the United States, and, as its examination papers are read by a board of examiners specially appointed, its diplomas are an excellent recommendation in both these countries.

Good positions present themselves to every person, and young people with a business training are always in demand. We are now prepared to receive any young ladies and gentlemen who wish to accept good positions in April and May. All our students are taught separately at their own desks, and do their work independent of one another. In this way, they receive special attention in such subjects as are difficult to them, and are enabled to accomplish considerable in a short time. They may also, begin the course at any time.

KEEP UP THE BLUFF.

Send her flowers, even if you are married.

Take her to the theatre with as much eagerness as in the days of your courtship.

Remember some of the most successful tricks you resorted to to entertain your sweetheart and see if they won't entertain your wife.

You were mighty careful what you said to your sweetheart for fear of losing a wife. Be as careful of what you say to your wife, for fear of losing a sweetheart.

Sometimes, especially if you courted favor, you gave your fiancée's mother a little gift. It pleased your fiancée, try it on your wife.

You played checkers by the hour with your sweetheart's father because it delighted the "little girl." It didn't destroy her father's delight in checkers when you became his son-in-law and the "little girl" still delights in what you do for her father.

Before you married her you told her that nothing was too good for her. Remember that before buying her furs.

If you pretended to be better than you were just to get her, keep up the bluff to the end of the chapter.

My pa, he didn't go down town, Last evening after tea, But got a book and settled down As comfy as could be. To have my pa about To answer all the things I had Been trying to find out.

And so I asked him why the world Is round instead of square, And why the piggies' tails are curl'd And why don't fish breathe air, And why the moon don't hit a star, And why the dark is black, And just how many birds there are, And will the wind come back?

And why does water stay in wells, And why do June bugs hum, And what's the roar I hear in shells, And when will Christmas come? And why the grass is always green, Instead of sometimes blue, And why a bean will grow a bean, And not an apple too?

And why a horse can't learn to moo, And why a cow can't neigh, And why do fairies live on dew And what makes hair grow gray? And then my pa got up an', Gee! The awful words he said, I hadn't done a thing, but he Just sent me off to bed.

The election made things stirring the past week, more especially when our favorite, Dr. Jamieson, succeeded in gaining the position. The result affected some of our young men's pocketbooks.

A number of the young people enjoyed themselves at the home of S. McNamara the other evening, and had some nice fun, although one sweet sister was left out.

Mrs. Mort was the guest of Mrs. Swan the past week.

We think the young people must have been testing the merits of Brown's hill from the joyous shouts which reached us a few evenings.

When the mother returned from shopping, the first thing that met her eyes was the lump on little Willie's forehead.

"Good gracious," she said, "how did he get it?"

"'Tis from the boom he got" the new nurse explained, "Ye tould me ma'am, to let him play on the pianny if he wanted to, an' once, when he was sliding on top, he slid too far, ma'am."

"Mister," said the small boy to the druggist, "give me some of those pills you sold father the day before yesterday. They're just about right."

"Are they doing him good?" asked the chemist, looking pleased. "I dunno whether they're doing father any good or not, but they're good for me."

"How's that?" "They just do my new air-rub."
