Psychine Strengthened My Whole System

Pure Blood in your veins now will save you much in nurse and person before the winter is over. PSYCHINE makes rich red blood, keeps people well and at their best.

"To-day I am enjoying good health, solely through the use of Psychine. When I began using Psychine, I was suffering with a heavy cold in the bronchial tubes, and a cough which seemed to rack me to pieces. The doctors' medicine gave me no relief, and I began to dread consumption working on me. With the second dose, Psychine benefited me and gave new strength. Psychine toned up my whole system, and quickly stopped the cough. I heartily recommend Psychine to persons run-down, in need of a tonic, or suffering with coughs, colds or catarrh. I bless the day I tried Psychine."—Allan Connor, Printer, near Picton, Ont.

PSYCHINE is pronounced SI-KEEN.

AN INTERESTING COW CENSUS.

Figures from Canadian Herds

Some Striking Contracts.

At the Eastern Ontario Dairy men's Convention Mr C. F. Whitley of the Dairy Commissioner's Branch, Ottawa, gave a very interesting account of a cow census which he conducted in the vicinity of Cowanville, Que. during the summer of 1904. Under his supervision seventy-two farmers kept daily milk records of their cows and three times a month took samples for testing from the milk of each individual cow in their dairies. In this way reasonable accurate figures were obtained.

For the month of June the general average of all the herds tested was 652 lbs. of milk, yielding 25 lbs. of fat. In one case twenty-two cows had the yield for the month of 17,845 lbs of milk and 722 1/2 lbs. of fat, an average per cow 811 lbs. of milk and 32.4 lbs. of fat. In another herd of eleven cows, every animal was below the general average the range being as low as 280 lbs. to 305 lbs. of milk per cow, and this herd consisted of Jersey, Guernsey, Ayrshire and Holstein grades and natives. In contrast to this, another herd of twelve cows of similar breeding yielded from 830 to 1115 lbs per cow, so that every cow in the herd was above the average. This shows that the flow of milk depends upon the individuality of the cows even more than upon their breeding.

In the month of July a herd of twenty-seven cows, Jersey, Ayrshire, Holstein and Shorthorn grades, gave 13,760 lbs of milk and 473 1/2 lbs of fat, an average of 509 lbs. of milk and 17.5 lbs of fat per cow. This was typical of several herds consisting of mixed grades. The average record per cow is poor, noticeably below the average of the whole 1120 cows for July. The best showing was made by a Holstein grade, whose record is more than double that of the poorest cow. This dairy had five more cows than that first mentioned and yet produced 4,000 lbs less milk in the month. Another July record showed that one herd of six cows gave 2515 lbs. of milk, while another dairy of twelve cows gave 8,120 lbs. twice as many cows gave over three times as much milk. In September one lot of twenty-three cows gave 8,120 lbs. of milk, and another lot of twenty-three cows yielded 11,200 lbs. These records emphasize the need for knowing definitely the production of each individual cow.

The average production per cow must be improved by weeding out the poor ones, Figuring goes well with farming. With forethought and figures, the production of butter in the average farm herd can be increased at least 40 lbs. per year in five years. It has been done scores of times. It is safe to say that almost every farmer milking twenty cows has three on which he loses money. Until he keeps records he cannot tell which they are. It will pay him to find out.

The wide variation in the total yields of butter by individual animals in the same herd is even more apparent in the records for longer periods. For four months the cows in one herd of fourteen varied from 40 to 114 lbs., the best cow yielding nearly three times as much as the poorest. The average for the herd was 81 lbs. per cow, while the general average of all the cows tested for four months was 98 lbs. Would not this man be better off if he disposed of at least four cows? Another here varied from 51 to 127 lbs. per cow, with an average below the census average. It is probable that both men think they have pretty good cows.

For a period of five months, one dairy made the creditable showing of 190 lbs. of butter per cow, more than double the average of some other herds, and well above the census average of 115 lbs. per cow for five months. Indeed every one of the twelve cows in this herd exceeded the general average, ranging from 147 to 251 lbs. These figures are encouraging. This man's record can be, and should be, equalled on a thousand farms in the next five years. Such results are obtained by using the scales and Babcock tester to detect the robber cow and get rid of her. Then, by the use of a good dairy bred sire, and aiming at a standard of say 6,000 lbs of milk and 250 lbs. of butter per cow annually, a good herd can speedily be graded up. There are hundreds of dairy farmers who have thus raised the butter production of their herds in a few years from 150 to 175 lbs. to 300 lbs. per annum.

Afraid of Strong Medicines

Many people suffer for years from rheumatic pains, and prefer to do so rather than take strong medicine usually given for rheumatism, not knowing that quick relief from pain may be had simply by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm and without taking any medicine internally. For sale by H. Parker.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

A few evenings ago, a number of the friends of Mr and Mrs Ben Crittenden, of Egremont, met there to express their good wishes before they leave for the West. For a number of years, Mr and Mrs Crittenden have been esteemed residents and good neighbors, whom all admire and respect, and in consequence of their good qualities, there is much regret over their departure. The following is the address:—

MR AND MRS CRITTENDEN, Dear Friends,—As the time is drawing near, when through your removal our relationship as neighbors will be severed.

We take this opportunity of showing our appreciation of your citizenship; you have always been most obliging and ready to lend a helping hand wherever needed, either by night or day, with such cheerfulness as to help alleviate the trials and afflictions of those requiring your assistance. You have always been ready to give and to help all organizations, for the moral and spiritual welfare of mankind. In order that your many years' association with us may not be forgotten, we present you with this purse, not for its intrinsic value, but as a memento by which you will ever give us a place in your memory. In your new home in the Far West, we wish you every success, and happiness, and trust you may long be spared to exercise over others, the same influence for good fellowship you have exercised over us.

(Signed.) J. MACK, J. LENNOX.

What The World Wants.

Men who cannot be bought.
Men whose word is their bond.
Men who put character above wealth.
Men who possess opinions and a will.
Men who see the divine in the common.
Men who will not lose their individuality in a crowd.
Men who would rather do right than be a Premier.
Men who will be as honest in small things as in great things.
Men who will make no compromise with questionable things.
Men who will not think anything profitable that is dishonest.
Men of courage, who are not cowards in any part of their natures.
Men whose conditions are not confined to their own selfish desires.
Men who are larger than their business, who overtop their vocation.
Men who are willing to sacrifice private interests for the public good.
Men who are not afraid to take chances, who are not afraid of failure.

Men who will give thirty-six inches for a yard and thirty-two quarts for a bushel.

Philanthropists who will not let their right hand know what their left hand is doing.

Men who will not have one brand of honesty for business purposes and another for private life.

Clergymen who can hear a louder call than that of public applause, larger salary, or a fashionable church.

Magnanimous souls who do not look upon everybody they meet for the possible use they may be to them.

Men who are true to their friends through good report and evil report, in adversity as well as in prosperity.

Young men who will be true to their highest ideals in spite of the sneer and laughter of their companions.

Single-hearted people who do not look at every proposition from the point of view of "What is there in it for me?"

Journalists who will not write scurrilous, scandalous articles merely to injure an opponent or because they are paid to do so.

Young men and women who can stand erect and independent while others bow and fawn and cringe for place and power.

Men who do not believe that shrewdness, sharpness, cunning and long-headedness are the best qualities for winning success.

Merchants who will not offer for sale "English woollens" manufactured in American mills, or "Irish linens" made in New York.

Statesmen who will advocate what is right because it is right, and who will neither turn to the right or to the left in pursuance of such a course.

Lawyers who will not persuade clients to bring suits merely to squeeze their fees out of them, when they know very well that they have no chance of winning.

Men who have the courage to do their duty in silence and obscurity while others about them win wealth and notoriety by neglecting sacred obligations.

Physicians who will not pretend to know the nature of a disease when they do not, or experiment on patients with drugs with which they are not familiar.

Men who are not ashamed or afraid to stand for the truth when it is unpopular, who can say "no" with emphasis, although all the rest of the world say "yes."

Men who have the courage to wear threadbare clothes and to live simply and plainly, if necessary, while their competitors revel in luxury purchased by crooked methods.

Men who have gained such complete control of themselves that they can pass through the most exasperating situations without doing or saying an unpleasant thing, without losing their temper or flying off their centre.

Men who can stand before a demagogue and scorn his treacherous flatteries without winking."

Startling But True.

People the world over were horrified on learning of the burning of a Chicago theater in which nearly six hundred people lost their lives, yet more than five times this number or over 3,000 people died from pneumonia in Chicago during the same year, with scarcely a passing notice. Every one of these cases of pneumonia resulted from a cold and could have been prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

A great many who had every reason to fear pneumonia have warded it off by the prompt use of this remedy. The following is an instance of this sort: "Too much cannot be said in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and especially for colds and influenza. I know that it cured my daughter, Laura, of a severe cold, and I believe saved her life when she was threatened with pneumonia." W. D. Wilcox, Logan New York. Sold by H. Parker.
