PRIN. ALLAN is round again after a rather tough siege of sickness during the past couple of weeks. Though he wasn't sick long, it has left him a few pounds minus, but with the help of the bracing spring air, we hope to soon see him his old self again.

It is reported round town that one of our local Pedlars went out "girling" Sunday evening after church, and lost his bearings, in the west end of the city. He wandered round a while, but finally got on the right trail and arrived home safely, though he had a most exciting adventure.

A LITERARY and social evening will be held in Calder's Hall on Monday, April 17th, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Guild. A programme of Shakespearean songs, and a short drama, with Shakespearean characters, will begin at 8.15, after which refreshments will be served. Admission 15 cents.

We are sorry to learn that the Rev. Mr. Aitchison, of Dornoch, has been laid up for the past week with an attack of la grippe. Owing to his illness he had to get Mr. Farquharson to take the wedding at Glenroaden. His many friends will be pleased to know that he is now quite recovered and ready for all the weddings that come.

If this issue of "THE CHRONICLE" does not appear to be as newsy and up-to-date as previous editions, we hope our readers will bear in mind the fact that the editor has unavoidably been called away to the bedside of his sister who is very ill. We shall do the best we can, however, and trust our readers, many of whom have had experience with sickness, shall overlook any irregularities which may occur.

On Tuesday morning last, Mrs. Anthony Turner, her sons, Norman, Ross and Kenneth, and daughters Lottie and Beatrice, left for Invermay, in the Northwest. A large crowd was at the station to start them on their long journey across the continent. A week ago, Mr. Turner left taking with him a car load of household effects and some stock. Mr. and Mrs. Turner and family will be greatly missed in Durham and vicinity, and THE CHRONICLE joins their many friends in wishing them success in their new and far away Northwestern home.

In this issue appears Chapter One of our new story entitled "The Wings of the Morning" by Louis Tracy. This is a thrilling story of adventure and should be read by everyone. On another page we have "Famous People" by Fanny M. Lothrop, which will be run every week for one year, at least. Don't fail to read them. Tell your friends about them, and at the same time don't forget to tell them that they can get THE CHRONICLE for the balance of the year for only 60 cents, or THE CHRONICLE for the balance of the year and Daily News for $1.40, if they don't already take them. Subscribe early and get the full benefit of our "Famous People."

EXECUTOR'S SALE.—A Clearing Auction Sale of the effects of the late Wm. Wilder will be held at Lot 5, Con. 20, Egremont, on Tuesday, Apr. 11. Squire Wilder, Executor, John Clark, Auctioneer.

On Monday morning last the Editor of this paper received word by wire that his sister, Miss Annie Irwin of Clarksburg, who has been ailing for some time, had suddenly taken a turn for the worse, and was not expected to recover. He and daughter Rita left immediately for Clarksburg, driving across the country. At time of writing we have no particulars and can only hope for the best.

Committed for Trial

On Thursday last an interesting case was tried here before Police Magistrate Telford and Mayor Hunter. The parties concerned were from Holstein, the plaintiff being Mrs. Kerr, a widow, who entered suit against A. D. Prior for alleged forgery. The circumstances leading up to the trial date back to April of 1904. At that time Mrs. Kerr kept boarders, one of whom, a Mr. Trace, left with an unpaid board bill of $7.00. Prior, whose wife was in Toronto, was also a boarder with the handsome young widow, for a time. In April last year Mrs. Prior returned to Holstein, and shortly after this Mrs. Kerr went to Toronto where she remained till some time in July. It seems from the evidence that Prior claimed some right to transact business for Mrs. Kerr, and sought to collect the $7.00 board bill from Trace, presenting an order for the same claimed to have been written and signed by Mrs. Kerr. Trace paid the amount of the claim about July 6th and supposed it had been handed over to Mrs. Kerr. Subsequently Mrs. Kerr demanded the $7.00 and this led Trace to make enquiry into the matter, and later on an action against Prior who is alleged to have forged the order on Trace was entered by Mrs. Kerr. Though Mrs. Kerr and Mr. Prior had evidently been on friendly relations previous to the time she left for Toronto to the evidence she gave was diametrically opposite as regards the authority of Mr. Prior to collect the money. Mr. Prior swears she gave him the order, and on the other hand Mrs. Kerr swears she gave him no authority either by order or by word of mouth. Mr. Dunn of McKay and Dunn, acted for Mrs. Kerr, and Mr. Murphy of Listowell had charge of the case for Mr. Prior. The defendant was committed to stand his trial in Owen Sound on May next.

MILLINERY OPENING

MISS DICK

In every millinery salesroom is one brilliant spot as though all the sunshine of some glorious autumn day had been paid in advance for dreary spring showers. That spot is the Red-Hat show case, and all day long it is constantly surrounded.

Green—the lovely Reseda Greens, and those baby leaf greens that are so charmingly fresh and delicate are seen with the rich Bronze Greens.

Lavender—has been called down from the cedar chest, and all the lilac shades running to purple are on display.

The Onion Browns—Three beautiful golden brown shades with the lovely yellow lights in them, are everywhere popular.

Champagne—Is incessantly called for, and Ecu in four or five shades, from a dark cream to a wood brown, is extremely fashionable.

Bluet Blue and Navy are very much worn again. Black sells well, as it always does, and Pink, Light, Blue and White are beginning to be strongly called as warmer weather signs.

One of our most leading styles was the Napoleon, made in wood violet in two-tone effect. The brim is upturned all around, forming a slight point in front and a decided point on the sides. The back turns up sharply off the hair, giving a short line at the back of the head with rosettes or quills. Another was a shape with front rolled slightly and with a very high back coming over the dome crown in radium straw, with shaded flowers and ribbon in radium shades. One type of toque is the polo, trimmed simply with a crush of ribbon, tuft of flowers or small paradise plume. Mause, in all tones from light helio to dark purple, Mullberry Burnt Onion.

S. F. MORLOCK.

Exclusive and charming the spring Millinery display of S. F. Morlock, was an interesting and attractive event of Wednesday and Thursday last, giving as it did a delightful glimpse of the coming seasons models and what the dictates of season call for.

For the last three weeks Miss Hall and her four assistances have been busily engaged preparing for the eagerly and anticipated event, which is invariably of fascinating moment in the feminine world.

The small hat is much in favor but many of the large dress hats are still shown. A few of the hats we noticed was a very pretty toque of resida green, folds of fancy straw and chiffon trimmed in front and taffeta ribbon, also a large dress hat in black, all over lace with tucked chiffon edge, large black feather caught on the crown in front and falling over the hair at back. The children were not forgotten and we noticed a number of pretty hats for them in the poke bonnet—one made of pale blue and cream straw braid and trimmed in pale blue satin ribbon and shered face of pale blue silk.
