HIS NERVES PLAYED OUT

And Health Broke Down—A Life Saved By the Timely Use of Ferrozone.

Mr. Karl E. Newsome of Rothesay writes: "I owe a debt of gratitude to Ferrozone which saved my life after a severe siege of Nervous Prostration. About a year ago my health gave out completely. I was in such a weak irritable condition that I couldn't work, and found that the doctors did nothing for me but take my money. My druggist recommended Ferrozone as the best preparation for nervous troubles, so I commenced at once to take one tablet at meals. Every box of Ferrozone I took seemed to do me more good than the previous one, and it wasn't very long before I was strong enough to move around again. In three months I was completely cured, and know that I wouldn't be alive to-day if I hadn't used Ferrozone. It braced up my nerves, gave me a strong healthy constitution, and is certainly a marvellous restorer and tonic for nervous people."

The reason Ferrozone is so successful in curing nervous disease is that it contains the very elements that are needed to restore the wasted nerve cells. It is a nourishing strength giving tonic that costs 50c per box, containing three weeks treatment. Six boxes for $2 50. Sold by all druggists or by mail from The Ferrozone Company, Kingston, Ont. Don't fail to get Ferrozone to-day. It assures health.

A Tale of Unrequited Love

Woman Travels from Michigan to Meet Her Prospective Husband in the House of Refuge Here.

(By an Inmate.)

News has been very scarce of late in these quarters. Last week we could not furnish a single item, and this week would have found your cor pretty much in the same predicament had not a peculiar little romance occurred last week which was too good to pass into oblivion, unnoticed. It was a case of unrequited love, the features of which are substantially as follows: Many years ago a present inmate of the House of Refuge, whom for convenience sake shall be named Mr. Little (for certainly he is not very big) was engaged as a laborer on a farm, the location of which we are not precisely cognizant but no matter, suffice it to say that it is at a point somewhere to the north of Markdale and south of Alaska. One day a lady called on the good people of the farm, and as it was the dinner hour was invited in the good old Canadian hospitable fashion to "sit up." The invitation was graciously accepted and during the meal, the guest was casually introduced to Mr. Little as Mrs. or Miss somebody for Mr. L. informs us that being so little interested that he either took no notice or really cannot remember the name or whether she was Mrs. or Miss, and in the course of time the incident entirely faded from his memory. Imagine his surprise a few weeks ago on receiving a letter from a remote corner in Michigan, the envelope of which was literally covered with such a descriptive address which could not have failed to find him in any portion of the western hemisphere. Now, Mr. L.'s stock of erudition is very limited, and after the failure of several of his comrades to elucidate its contents, the "billet deax" (for such it proved to be) was handed to one who is supposed to be somewhat of an expert in deciphering hieroglyphics. It may not be exactly fair to go into details concerning the contents, although it would be no betrayal of confidence as Mr. L. is as deaf as a cornstalk, and it became absolutely necessary to read the missive in an exceedingly stentorian voice, which reverberated through every part of the house, in order to make Mr. L. comprehend the full meaning of the mystic epistle. We may add, however, that the writer signified her intention of coming to Canada in the near future, probably to see how matters stood, etc. Mr. L. was as much tickled as he was mystified, and feeling desirous of knowing who this mysterious female correspondent could be and by what means she became so well acquainted with his former history, concluded to reply to the letter. His reply was brief and to the point. He expressed his astonishment at the tone of the letter and his perplexity in his endeavors to place the writer, who to him was a perfect stranger in both person and name, and he could not give the least consideration to any suggestion until he became better acquainted with the unknown writer.

SEQUEL.—On Wednesday last there arrived at Markdale a boxom widow of probably three score and ten years as judged by her powers of locomotion, which were slow and largely dependent on a stout staff for support, as she approached the handsome dwelling place of her long lost love, and it is quite possible she was touched with awe and wonder at the number of domestics she observed fitting around, or perhaps she tho't they may be poor relatives receiving the generous hospitality of her prospective lord and protector. She inquired for and was granted an interview with Mr. L. The interview was brief, but the conversation was loud enough for her remarks to be heard that she was in want of a home (and badly did her hard appearance show it.) "Well, I guess you can get one here," replied Little. "No," said she, and as she took her departure she was heard to remark, "If you ever make up your mind to do what we were talking about just write me a letter at—"

Away she toddled towards town and Little resumed his job at picking stones.—Markdale Standard.

Cuban Diarrhoea.
U. S. soldiers who served in Cuba during the Spanish war know what this disease is, and that ordinary remedies have little more effect than so much water. Cuban diarrhoea is almost as severe and dangerous as a mild attack of cholera. There is one remedy, however, that can always be depended upon as will be seen by the following certificate from Mrs. Minnie Jacobs of Houston, Texas: "I hereby certify that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cured my husband of a severe attack of Cuban diarrhoea, which he brought home from Cuba. We had several doctors but they did him no good. One bottle of this remedy cured him as our neighbors will testify. I thank God for so valuable a medicine." For sale at Parker's Drug Store.

He Wanted Rain.
Rev. Livingston, of Georgia, tells this one:
"A friend of mine down in one of the small towns of Georgia," said Mr. Livingston, "has many proteges among the mountain country near. Several years ago there was a long dry spell in Georgia. At about the beginning of it the wife of one of the mountaineers died. The disconsolate husband followed her to the grave, and was the last to leave the burying ground. His foot prints remained, large and distinct in the clay beside the grave. Six weeks afterwards my friend drove out to see how the widower was doing. He was found sitting at the door of his cabin, staring hopelessly at the cloudless sky. "Ef hit would only turn an' rain," he said, "I wouldn't ask nothin' of nobody."

"The dry weather is bad for the crops," the visitor remarked.
"The crops," said the widower, "hit's Miss Seliny Johnson. She swears she won't marry me till it rains."
"She 'lows hit wouldn't be showin' proper respects for my first wife to marry before my tracks in the grave yard is wash'd out. I shore do wish hit would turn in an' rain. I been courtin' her six week. Good Lord a man can't wait on the weather forever."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Just What Everyone Should Do.
Mr. J. T. Barber of Irwinville, Ga., always keeps a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand ready for instant use. Attacks of colic, cholera morbus and diarrhoea come on so suddenly that there is no time to hunt a doctor or go to the store for medicine. Mr. Barber says: "I have tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy which is one of the best medicines I ever saw. I keep a bottle of it in my room as I have had several attacks of colic and it has proved to be the best medicine I ever used." Sold at Parker's Drug Store.

A Flour Crook.
Recently a well dressed and suave man waited on Mr. John H. Wilson, proprietor of the Alloway Roller Flour Mills here, and purchased a $700 carload of flour, asking ten days credit and giving his address as Ottawa. Mr. Wilson, believing that everything was square, shipped the flour to Montreal. Duly at the end of 10 days the usual draft was made, and was returned with the information that the man was away from home and would not be back for three weeks. Mr. Wilson then tried to trace the carload of flour on the railroad, but could get nothing. Everybody seemed silent, so Mr. Wilson struck for Montreal. There he found the flour in the Grand Trunk store house, where it had been unloaded by the railway company, but no trace of the buyer could be found. There is no man of the name given in Ottawa. The whole business seemed to be a game to steal Mr. Wilson's flour, and if the crook is caught it will go hard with him. Mr. Wilson made arrangements in Montreal to have the flour sold. Millers will do well to look out for this man, for he may try the trick again. If Mr. Wilson had not been sharp in looking after the flour he would have lost the whole thing.—Tribune.

Throat, Lungs

Ayer's Pills greatly aid the Cherry Pectoral in breaking up a cold.

The very severe storm that raged on Wednesday afternoon of last week was accompanied by a sad fatality, the victim being Mr. Isaac Orvis, sr., residing near Corbetton. He went out about three o'clock to drive some sheep into shelter, and not returning his wife became alarmed and went to see what was keeping him. She found him lying in a field where he had been struck down. Mr. Copeman, a neighbor, was notified, and he carried the body into the house and respected the relatives. The lightning struck deceased on the head and passed down to the ground, burning the back of his neck and raising great blisters on his back. He carried a walking stick and it was still retained in the hand, though a small silver was peeled off the full length, showing that the current had passed along it, too. The deceased was seventy-one years of age, and was an old and respected resident of that section.—Dundalk Herald.

MISS DICK

Lambton Street, — Durham, Ont.

We regret very much to learn of the death of Miss Phenix Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Davis, proprietor of the Middaugh House. The lady was twenty years of age and died after eight days' illness at home at Fingal. She was a highly educated young woman, and held the highest esteem wherever known. The extensive floral offerings from Thomas, Brantford, Port Stanley and other places, where she was present as a reciter, attest the kindly feelings in which she was held.

The Middaugh House has been let to Mr. John Murphy, of Markdale. So far for the sale of the property more we can't say at present. Davis' lease of the premises expires on the 1st of October. We understand, about the 1st of October, and whether Mr. Murphy will let the premises, or run the hotel himself is not yet decided.

We notice by the Harriston Times that "Mr. T. M. Humble, of Toronto, has purchased the Southampton Club." In our humble opinion Humble has humbly entered in the humble calling of an humble journalist. If he has hitherto been praying to the Lord to keep him and humble, he may now do that portion of his daily petition he'll soon learn that local journalism is a thorough specific for the prod of poverty and humility. We offer our humble sympathies to Mr. Humble in his humble venture.

EXTRAVAGANT salaries are paid to lacrosse players as a result of the intense eagerness of the lacrosse winning teams. The says that Brantford has signed a player of Ottawa who played with the year, to play goal at a salary of $45 a week, or, in other words, $1140 a season of 19 weeks. The Tecumseh have offered Powers of Ottawa to play with the Toronto $45 a week each, five more than amount for which Rowntree. The latter turned down $35 a week offered by the Tecumseh and Toronto's salary is not far from $250 a month. Who considered that the Toronto Club's limit is $320, and that they play every day, it is hard to see the T. L. C. will make both ends meet. The way things are running a season financially is starting the senior clubs in the face.

Ladies! see our new line of Parasols. They please the most fastidious.
