OUR last issue contained a mathematical problem. This week we would like to have the opinion of our readers on the following:—"The difference between an old maid and a married woman." As a starter, we will say that "one makes some man happy for life, and the other doesn't." Which is it?

THE remains of the late J. M. Hunter reached Brandon on the 5th instant and the undertakers there send a letter to Mr. Kress complimenting him very highly on the good state of preservation the body was in. "You are to be complimented," they say, "on turning out a nice casket and a mighty heavy outside case. The funeral took place at 4 p. m. to Brandon Cemetery."

THE Annual Meeting of the British and Foreign Bible Society will be held in Trinity Church, Durham, on Wednesday the 22nd inst., commencing at 8 o'clock. Rev. J. A. Matheson, of Priceville, and resident clergymen, will address the audience. The Young People's Societies are specially requested to be in attendance. It has been arranged to suspend the various prayer meetings for the occasion. A cordial invitation is extended to all. J. H. BROWN, Chairman.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES will be held in the Methodist Church on Sunday and Monday next. The sermons on Sunday will be delivered by a former pastor, Rev. C. Langford, of Corbetton. On Monday a reunion will be held at 8 p. m. when Rev. Mr. Langford will deliver his celebrated address on "Why I Left the Church of Rome." Suitable recitations will be rendered by Rev. T. L. Kerruish, of Mt. Forest. The church choir assisted by local talent will furnish the music at all services. Free-will offerings are requested at all services in aid of Church Trust Fund.

AT eight o'clock Wednesday, Nov. 8th, at the Presbyterian Manse by the Rev. Wm. Farquharson, May, youngest daughter of Mr. George McDonald, was united in marriage to William Elijah Mountain, son of Mr. Thomas Mountain, Bentinck. The bride wore a dress of brown ladies' cloth trimmed with cream allover lace and brown velvet, and wore a brown silk hat to match. The bridesmaid was Miss Cassie McDonald, sister of the bride, while the groom was supported by his brother Fred. The happy couple left by the afternoon train for Hamilton where they are spending a week or so. Congratulations.

THE CEMENT QUESTION.

WE are not going into a lengthy discussion of the Cement Question this week. Suffice to say we have plenty of marl for generations to come. In one place last week a large bed was discovered twenty feet in depth and below that there were nine feet of good clay. Hundreds of acres are available, all of which may be reached from the Company's property at a comparatively small cost. We pointed out last week that $110,000 of the present year's output so far represented a profit which had gone towards paying the debt incurred during the construction and experimental years of the mills existence. In the face of such prosperity it would be nothing short of suicidal madness to move the plant, and we feel quite confident that the bulk of the shareholders will think often before they agree to any such foolishness. Some of the Directors who are apparently anxious for a move are not very heavy stockholders, and an examination of the stock sheets will reveal the fact that some of the officials are not burdened with a heavy load of stock in the concern. Every sensible shareholder will vote solidly against the conversion of a paying cement mill into an unsightly junk heap.

People We Know

THE GOING AND COMING OF DURHAMITES AND THEIR FRIENDS.

Mr. Will Vair, of Galt, is renewing old friends in this locality this week.

Miss Mamie Hunter returned from a visit to Toronto last week.

Mrs. John Kelly is in Toronso this week.

Mr. Limin Caldwell has returned from Fort William and the West.

Mr. Wm. Matthews of Cannington came home last Saturday to visit his sister, Miss Matthews, who is seriously ill at present.

Mr. James Traill, hardware merchant Walkerton, and his sister, Miss Traill, were in town over Sunday visiting friends. Miss Traill lately returned from Brandon, Man.

Mr. Esdon Wolfe left Monday morning for Mt. Albert, where he is to take a position in the Sovereign Bank there. We wish him success, hope he'll attend strictly to business, meet with rapid promotion, and escape the swelled head young bank clerks are so likely to develop.

Mr. Wm. Glass left last week for the North-West, where he intends to engage in missionary work in connection with the Methodist church. Mr. Glass was a faithful servant of the furniture company here for the past four or five years, and had charge of the shipping department. He was a young man against whom nobody could speak ill truthfully. For some time he has been thinking of the ministry, and from what we know of his honest, Christian character, we take pleasure in wishing him every success.

MR. THOS. SWALLOW has purchased from Mr. W. Sharp his property on Garafraxa St. at present occupied by J. Levine.

ON Monday last Mr. and Mrs. Ben. Williams received intelligence that their son Wesley was ill of typhoid fever, and is at present in the hospital at Brantford. Only a week or so ago the young man was a visitor at his home here, and though not feeling well had no thought that anything like typhoid had taken hold of him. Mrs. Williams left this Wednesday morning to see him. We are pleased to state his condition is not at all serious.

THE Town Council has seen fit to put a couple of men with a team on the street to clean off the loose mud to be found on top. This is very good so far as it goes, but we think the whole business of street and road making should be undertaken in an entirely different way. Our opinion has long been that we have altogether too much "tinkering" and not enough of road making. Some time ago we gave our views in this paper to the effect that a certain portion of road be made every year and made of such permanent character that it wouldn't need any more doctoring for many years to come. A half a mile or a mile on a certain street, concession, or side-road done properly would soon leave a town or township with such roads that year by year the necessary outlay would be getting less and less, until ultimately, a mere trifle would keep them in right shape. The usual statute labor repairs do not give the most satisfactory results. For some time after the work is done, about June every year, the roads are scarcely fit to travel on for another couple of months and by this time the fall rains mix them up into an impassable condition, stopped only by the winter frosts which makes them quite as bad as the old fashioned corduroys of fifty years ago. As soon as they dry up in the spring they become fairly good and remain so till again disturbed by the Annual Statute Labor Picnic, held all over the country about the same time of the year. We believe honestly that many of the roads that undergo a system of summer doctoring would be just as good a year or two years later if they had never been touched. It is really too bad, it seems to us, to have so much real honest sweat wasted to little or no purpose in the performance of Statute Labor when the concentrated efforts of the whole town or township put on a limited space would make at least one good piece that would take care of itself for many years to come, while other parts in town would receive the same treatment. It will pay to do a little at a time and do that little well.

Presbyterian Church Anniversary.

"We missed it by not charging a quarter." That was the first sentence that met our ears Monday night when we entered the door of the Presbyterian church and dropped a cent on the plate as a liberal free-will offering. The man who made the remark was not an Irishman, but his name sounds for all the world like the name of Erin's Isle. Any one guessing it correctly and sending the name and one dollar to this office will get the Chronicle for one full year.

Looking up the steps on both sides of the entrance we soon realized that the church was filled to its utmost capacity, and even standing room was at a premium. The Anniversary Entertainment of the Church was to be held and a good program had been well advertised in the press and announced from the pulpits. "Silver collection at the door" was the advertised admission charge and the result was a packed audience many of whom had to stand during the whole entertainment.

These anniversaries have become very popular in the Presbyterian Church, and each year sees a larger gathering to attend what is now becoming recognized as one of the most popular, most entertaining and in many respects one of the most inspiring events of the season.

Shortly after eight o'clock the meeting was called to order by Rev. Mr. Farquharson in a two-minute speech. The choir then sang the anthem "Great is the Lord," after which Miss Ida Wilson rendered an excellent solo, "The Golden Side." "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," a duet by Miss Margaret Hunter and Mr. J. S. Drysdale was a very pleasing number. Mr. Drysdale next sang a solo "Keep Thou My Soul" after which Rev. Mr. Wilson, of Walkerton, the lecturer of the evening, was introduced to the audience.

The subject was "Thirty years with South Sea Cannibals," illustrated with lime light views. The lecture occupied about an hour and a half, and portrayed very graphically the life, labors, hardships and hairbreadth adventures of Dr. Paton's work as one of the early missionaries. The illustrations were good and Mr. Wilson is a clear, forceful and fluent speaker who gave clinching effect to his utterance by earnest delivery and true Christian zeal. A vote of thanks and the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close shortly after ten o'clock.

We had to stand during the whole entertainment and before it came to a close we felt that one at least "missed it because they didn't charge a quarter."

The following report of the Sunday services has been contributed:—

The fifth anniversary of the settlement of Rev. Mr. Farquharson in the Durham Presbyterian church has come and gone. Special services in connection therewith and the Re-opening were held on Sunday last when Rev. Thomas Wilson, a former classmate of the Pastor, preached, morning and evening. Fortunately, the weather conditions were moderately favorable and large congregations listened with rapt attention to the eloquent and fervid words of the preacher who was apparently in his best form. His text in the morning was "Pray without ceasing" and from these words of the Apostle the preacher made an earnest appeal first that the individual and the family should have stated seasons for prayer and should let nothing interfere with these seasons, secondly, for perseverance or persistency in prayer—never to leave off asking God for needed blessings until satisfied that God has given the answer—not perhaps the answer desired or in the way desired but still that the answer had been given. Thirdly, that prayer should enter into the labors and duties of every day life. There was no work or duty in which men were lawfully engaged that they should not ask God's blessing upon them in the performance thereof and it was clearly their bounden duty to do so. These three points the preacher drove home to the conscience of his hearers with apt illustrations and forceful earnestness of speech and gesture.

The evening sermon was from the words:—"In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy paths" and was mainly directed to the young. These beautiful words were applied also in three ways. First, acknowledge Him in His Wisdom, secondly, acknowledge Him in His Providence and thirdly acknowledge Him in his claims. Neither young nor old (continued on page 4.)
