Twenty-five years ago it was difficult to sell spring wheat flour for pastry at any price.

People didn't want it—they were using soft, winter wheat flour, and saw no reason for changing.

But hard wheat flour was persistently pushed and prejudice has been overcome. The women tried it, succeeded with it and appreciated it.—To-day hard wheat flour is the favorite for pastry as well as for bread.

The flour that is doing the most for the reputation of hard wheat flour is the brand known as

Ogilvie's Royal Household

It is hard wheat flour at its best—milled by modern methods, retaining all of the good of the wheat and none of the bad—it is without an equal for every kind of baking in which flour is used.

Talk to your grocer about it—if he isn't enthusiastic it's only because he isn't informed.

You Will Have To Advertise.

It is generally agreed to now by business men and statesmen that some Canadian goods are not advertised extensively enough in competition with corresponding United States articles. Considerable controversy has taken place recently over the statement of Mr. Charles Slater, declaring that the present tariff on boots and shoes was adequate, and that under it a Canadian shoe, if properly advertised would hold its own against any competition from south of the line. We note that the Hon. Mr. Fielding agrees with Mr. Slater's opinion, and in reply to those who demand higher said at the recent tariff meeting at Fredericton: "Gentlemen, you will have to advertise. You can get relief from printer's ink."

HAD BEEN SERIOUSLY INJURED

A very sad and sudden result of what was considered a trifling injury occurred at the general and marine hospital on Wednesday morning in the death of Mr. James Jonah Clark in his 22nd year. Some time ago deceased sustained an injury by over exertion which was thought but trifling and he went on making preparations to go west, but was persuaded to consult a physician last week and the result was the startling discovery that fatal injuries had been sustained. He entered the hospital on Friday last, and succumbed to spinal meningitis on Wednesday morning. Deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dixon Clark, of Sydenham, and was the third of a family of thirteen sons and daughters. The funeral takes place at noon to-day from the residence near Woodford, interment being made to the Church of England cemetery at Bognor.—Owen Sound Advertiser.

To Stop a Crying Baby.

Babies cry because they are sick. It may be a pain in the stomach, colic, or cramps—but in any case a few drops of Nerviline soothes away the distress and allows the baby to sleep peacefully. Where there are young children there should also be Nerviline. It cures all minor ailments just as promptly as the doctor—and not so expensive. For nearly fifty years Poison's Nerviline has been the great household remedy of Canada. Sold everywhere in large 25c. bottles.

Some Tongue Twisters.

(St. Louis =lobe-Democrat.)

"A glowing gleam growing green."
"The bleak breeze blighted the bright bloom blossoms."

"Flesh of freshly dried flying fish."

It is simply impossible for anyone to repeat these three sentences fast. They are the gems of a collection of tongue twisters that an elocutionist had made. And almost equally difficult are the following, taken at random from the elocutionist's collection of more than 200 tongue twisters.

"Six thick thistle sticks."
"Two toads tried to trot to Ted-bury"

Give Grimes Jim's great gilt gig whip."

"Strict, strong Stephen Stringer snared slyly six sickly silky snakes."

"She stood at the door of Mrs. Smith's fish sauce shop welcoming him in."

CANINE CARETAKER PHONES HIS MASTER.

An influential firm in London, England, is at present employing a most original caretaker in the shape of a large dog belonging to the senior partner.

"Tim," as he is called, not only guards the office from Saturday noon until Monday morning, but has been taught to report "All's well" to his master.

The proprietor of a boot and shoe store at Hampstead thus explained the matter in which he discovered Tim's capabilities:

"Last Saturday evening a gentleman entered my shop and went to the National Telephone Company's box, which had been erected on my premises," he said "To my surprise after getting his number he called 'Tim,' loudly, three times.

"It is often easy for me during the quiet hours of the day to hear the conversation of the person at the other end of the wire. On this occasion I distinctly heard three sharp barks, and the gentleman immediately hung up the receiver.

"Seeing that I was amazed he explained that he had trained his dog to act as a caretaker, and answer the telephone bell when his master rang up the empty office.

"One of the old-fashioned telephones which does not require that the receiver should be taken off its holder, is fixed up, and under this Tim stands and barks that all is well with himself and consequently with the office."

A PAYING BUSINESS.

Hired Boy to Beg for Him, But Police Stopped His Business.

St. Catharines, March 19.—A peculiar case was disposed of by Police Magistrate Comfort when he sentenced Thomas Lambier, of Palmerston, to either pay a fine of $25 or spend six months in the Central Prison as an extraordinary vagrant. Lambier is a resident of Palmerston; he is stout and healthy, but from accounts he is none too energetic. Meeting a boy named Joseph McCleary, about ten days ago, who had lost one arm and whose other hand was paralyzed, he induced to give up the sale of newspapers as a means of a living and to have cards printed for the purpose of securing alms. The boy fell into the suggestion which proved to be a great revenue producer, and within the past week with Lambier he made the journey from Palmerston to this city, begging all the way and paying over the proceeds to his husky companion, who expended the greater portion of it in the purchase of liquor. The game was broken up to-day by his arrest and conviction. The boy was given a ticket and sent to his home.
