MISS McLEAY did remarkably well under the absence of the enthusiasm of a large audience. Her portrayal in beautiful costume of the emotions as well as the sword studies and plasticities, was simply wonderful and elicited enthusiastic applause.—Port Huron, Michigan, Signal. At the Town Hall, April 19th.

AN interesting debate was held in the Presbyterian church at the Guild meeting on Monday on the subject "Should Canada contribute to Imperial Defence." Messrs. Ferguson Grant L. D. S., and H. Campbell took the affirmative and Messrs. D. McDonald and P. Ramage supported the negative. The debate was spirited and well sustained and the decision by a close vote was given to the negative.

If we may judge from the castings being sent over we must conclude that the Farmers' Manufacturing and Supply Company are having a big demand for Oxford Cream Separators. We understand the machine is a good one and gives good satisfaction wherever used. They seem to have a lot of office work and have recently extended their business quarters, by the addition of another room.

ONE of our night watchmen, so we are informed, was the victim of a burlesque hold-up one night last week. Two of his friends, as the story goes, who were returning at a late hour, thought they'd stop over and see their chum. He challenged them at the door, and, seeing he was a shiverin', they asked him if he had any money. The poor fellow flew for the whistle to call the natives to his assistance, and after holding down the steam string some length of time was told to keep quiet, or serious consequences might happen. This started him again, but this time he tumbled to the fact he was the victim of a joke, and when he opened the door, we are told white lead would look black as the ace of spades alongside him.

SPEAKING of Miss Florence McLeay's appearance at the Collegiate Institute concert at that town recently the Strathroy Dispatch says:—"Miss McLeay followed with a recital by Riley, entitled, "An Old Sweetheart of Mine." This was Miss McLeay's first appearance before a Strathroy audience, and she was received with marked favor. Besides possessing a pleasing stage presence Miss McLeay is endowed with a rich full voice which appeals to an audience more particularly in pathetic and sentimental numbers. She chose for her first appearance a very difficult selection, which was faultlessly rendered and enthusiastically encored." Town Hall Durham, Thursday, April 19th.

REV. D. L. CAMPBELL was inducted in his new charge at Moorfield on Tuesday of this week. The village is growing and prospects of a happy pastorate are bright.

In the Methodist Church on Sabbath morning next the Pastor's theme will be "Christ's Garden Sepulchre." At 7 p. m. "Wesley the Pre-eminent Evangelist of the Eighteenth Century." Easter music by the choir both morning and evening.

MR. GEO. LAWRENCE has sold his store and dwelling to Mr. John Smith, harnessmaker, and, we believe, purposes going West shortly. We are informed Mr. Smith has rented the premises to Mr. McLraite who takes possession about the first of June.

MARKDALE is accused of having played a "ringer" from Toronto in the recent Owen Sound-Markdale hockey match in Markdale, in which the former were defeated. It may be so but we can scarcely believe Markdale would be so dishonest, living so near a model place like Flesherton.

DON'T fail to attend the piano recital given by Mrs. Newton in the Town Hall, Durham, on the evening of Thursday, April 19th. She will be assisted by Miss Florence McLeay, of Watford, the favorite Canadian elocutionist, who is winning fame wherever she appears. Dr. Brown, of Holstein, and Mr. Will Isaac, of Dromore, will appear in solos and duets. Miss Crawford, our own gifted vocalist will also take part. This promises to be the very best of the season and the Hall should be packed on this occasion. Admission 25c. Reserved seats 35c. Plan at Macfarlane's Drug Store.

A VERY pretty wedding was celebrated yesterday morning at 9.30 at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Quart, Winchester, when their youngest daughter, Bertha Mabel, was married to Will M. Christie, of the same place. The bride was beautifully gowned in champagne silk eolienne with chiffon trimming and carried a bouquet of cream roses. Little Gladys Bell, niece of the bride, was her only attendant and acted in the capacity of flower girl and was robed in a dainty gown of white silk. The house was prettily decorated with white carnations, roses, delias and fern, the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. C. Campbell, Baptist Minister, of Ormond, in the presence of a large company of relatives of the bride and groom. Miss Carrie Quart, cousin of the bride, played Mendelssohn's wedding march. After the ceremony and congratulations all repaired to the dining hall where a wedding breakfast was served by six of the bride's girl friends, who wore costumes of pink and blue crepe de chine. Mr. and Mrs. Christie took the noon train for Toronto, Walkerton and Durham where they will spend their honeymoon before leaving for Calgary where they will commence housekeeping. The bride's going away suit was of grey tweed. The wedding presents were a token of great esteem to the young couple who are general favorites in their home town, Winchester. Mrs. Christie is a sister of Mrs. F. W. Search, of this town, and is known to many here, having made an extended visit about four years ago, and who, by her genial disposition, made many friends for herself. The groom, who is one of Winchester's most popular young men, is also favorably known in Durham as he visited here a year or so ago on a holiday jaunt through this northern country.

MRS. NEWTON will address the ladies of Durham in the Baptist church tomorrow, Friday, April 13th, on Dr. Gertrude Hulet's medical missionary work in India. At the close a collection will be taken in aid of the suffering people in Dr. Hulet's district owing to the famine that is spreading in that country. Meeting will start at three o'clock p. m.

THE Winnipeg Town Topic says:—"Miss Florence McLeay comes of such a notable theatrical family that her dramatic talent goes without saying. She possesses the true dramatic temperament. Her portrayal of Lygia is sweet, girlish and sincere. In the prison scene she was at her best both in appearance and acting." Hear her at the piano recital in the Town Hall on Thursday evening, April 19th. Admission 25c., reserved seats 35c. Plan at Macfarlane's Drug Store.

SUTHERLAND-McARTHUR.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Banks, Owen Sound, was the scene of a very pleasant event on Wednesday, March 28th, when their cousin, Miss Lizzie McArthur, formerly of Edge Hill, was united in marriage to Mr. John Sutherland, of Owen Sound. The Rev. Mr. McAlpine, of Knox Presbyterian Church, pronounced the words which made them man and wife.

The bride was attended by her sister Miss Kate, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., while the groom was assisted by his brother Irving, also of Owen Sound.

The bride looked dainty and sweet in a dress of white Swiss muslin trimmed with lace and white ribbon and carried a bouquet of beautiful white carnations. The bridesmaid was charming in a dress of white muslin and lace.

After the ceremony was over, the guests, nearly all near relatives of the young couple numbering about 25, proceeded to the diningroom to partake of a bountiful wedding supper.

The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful presents.

About ten o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland left for their new home on Union St., amid showers of rice and old shoes.

Their many friends wish them every success and prosperity in their life-journey together.

LACROSSE CLUB CONCERT.

The American Biograph Company under the auspices of the Durham Lacrosse Club, put on a three nights' performance in the Hall on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week, playing to exceedingly small houses.

The performance was good, the best ever seen here in the moving picture line, and the illustrated songs something immense. The "Trip through Switzerland" was excellent, being the best of its class carried by the Company while the "Chicken Thief," "The Kleptomaniac" and "The Train Robbers" were canvassed so naturally a person could scarcely believe he wasn't seeing it in real life. For comedy "Killing the Jersey Skeeter" was the limit, and did as it was intended, keeping the audience in a ridiculously merry mood from start to finish. Prof. Green certainly has the best moving picture show that ever played here, and one no person can attend without getting good out of. The trip through the Alps is instructive, giving a person a better idea of the "country of the Swiss" than a genuine railroad ride over the same territory, as the pictures are taken from the front end of the engine, and you see both sides of the country. Aside from the moving pictures the illustrated songs were no small feature, the scenes thrown upon the canvass during the singing of the selections being something magnificent, the scene of the Brooklyn bridge at night in "I'm Trying so Hard to Forget You" being especially so. Mr. W. L. Phillips, comedian, was heartily applauded and forced to re-appear on each occasion, while on the piano Mrs. Phillips gave several well rendered selections during the evening performance.

Last, but not least, comes Prof. Green himself. As a magician, we thought him the best we had ever seen, and lovers of magic were more than pleased with his part of the program, some going so far as to say he ranks away up in his profession, as one man put it, he was "Hermion without the paraphrenalia." Be that as it may, he was good, and we have heard of no one who has "got onto any of the tricks" he performed.

Though the crowd was small it was appreciative, and everyone was fully satisfied they got their money's worth. Perhaps a lot of the cheap John picture shows we have had here in the past was responsible for the poor attendance, but if Prof. Green ever makes up his mind to pitch tent with us again for a three nights' performance, he'll certainly get the glad hand of welcome and a bumper house. Durham is from "Missouri" in the moving picture line and in future demands them to "Show Me," but we are of the opinion that the John C. Green company has been here with the goods, proved himself, and is entitled to a good house at any time. The proceeds amounted to about $115.

AROUND THE CEMENT MILL.

Mr. Ernest Brooker resigned his position and left a few days ago.

Two of the rotaries were put in operation last Saturday and at time of writing there are seven of them in full blast. So far there seems to be a complete coal combustion as there is very little black smoke issuing from the stacks.

The wash mill recently added is spoken of as a great addition. The clay is treated differently inasmuch as it is not dried before going to the pug mill. This will effect a considerable saving in coal, power, time and labor, and the clinker product is equal in every way to that formed by the more expensive method of the past three years.
