Found Dead At Lisle.

The dead body of Geo. Solomon, a middle-aged man, whose home is near Lisle, was found on Monday in a fence corner on Emmanuel Gallinger's farm a short distance from the village. When found the body was frozen stiff. On Thursday last Solomon had been in Lisle and had been drinking during the afternoon. He started for home alone and on foot and appears to have become bewildered, finally falling headlong in the fence corner. where he died of exposure. On Friday Solomon's continued absence caused alarm and search parties were organized, but no trace of him was found until Monday .- Alliston Herald.

SELL YOUR COLD FOR $1?

You surely wouldn't stop at a dollar bill to cure that horrid sniffling cold? Go to any druggist and get "Catarrhozone" and your cold will be a thing of the past. There is almost witchery in the swift way Ca tarrhozone kills colds. But when you consider the penetrating bealing and antiseptic qualities of Catarih ozone perhaps it's not so wonderful Certainly there is no remedy half so prompt for colds and catarrh as Ca tarrhozone Refuse a substitute and insist on having only "Catarrhozone."

Found Dead in Bed

Owen Sound April 1 -Miss Kate Boyd. aged 22. daughter of Mr. Jas Boyd, who resides about three miles south-east of this town, on the 10th line of Sydenham, was found dead in bed yesterday morning, the circumpointing strongly to the conclusion that she had committed suicide. A note found in her room stated that she alone was responsible for the act. and asking that no blame be attached to anyone. It is currently reported that the coming marriage of an acquaintance was in a measure the cause of the act, though it is not suggested that there was any duplicity to try to get more profit out of th on the young man's part. An inquest will be held on Tuesday evening.

ESPERANTO.

A Passage In the New Language and Its Translation.

Books for the study of Esperanto are now printed in twenty-two different languages. They publish about twenty-five journals in the new idiom, one of them of a strictly scientific character. Several continental papers, occasionally or regularly, offer to their readers an article in Esperanto. Esperantist clubs or societies are to be found almost everywhere. The one in Paris counts no less than 3,000 members, while those in cities like Marseilles, Lyons, Bordeaux, Havre, Lille, and so forth, are also of considerable size. Courses in Esperanto are offered not only in clubrooms, but in public institutions as well. A few commercial schools have it on their programmes as a free elective. In the University of Dijon they have organized an evening class, which is said to be well attended.

Not long ago Professor Carnot of the national engineering school (Ecole des Mines), in Paris, said publicly that he was thinking of introducing Esperanto in the regular courses of students. In England they have adopted the method of tuition by correspondence. Esperanto has already proved useful for providing reading for the blind. A system of stenography has been adapted to the new language. Many commercial firms use it for international telegraphic communications. Several employ advertisements in Esperanto and find that it pays.

Here is a passage in the new language and its translation:

Esperanto.-La internacia linguo Esperanto estas facile lernebla, ec de la personoj nemulte instruitaj. A Thackerny Letter.

A letter from Thackeray found among the papers of the late George M. Crawford, Paris correspondent of the London Daily News, establishes the fact that Mr. Crawford was the original of Warrington. "You will find much to remind you in 'Pendennis' of old talks and faces-of William John O'Connell, Jack Sheehan and Andrew Archdecne. There is something of you in Warrington, but he is not fit to hold a candle to you, for, taking you all around, you are the most genuine fellow that ever strayed from a better world into this. Warrington is always guzzling beer, but he has your honesty and, like you, could not posture if he tried."

Pullman Car Profits.

Most people who patronize the Pullman cars have no conception of the enormous profits accruing to the company, says a New York letter. The net earnings of a sleeper on an ordinary run are from $10,000 to $12,000 a year, or about two-thirds of the cost of the car. On limited trains between New York and Chicago the net earnings are as high as $18,000 a year. The mileage paid by the railroads is practically sufficient to cover all the expenses of operation, including the investment and depreciation, so that all receipts from passengers are in effect net profits to the Pullman company.

When you plan your meals you never think of bread, yet you always have it, and if it is left off the table

it is the first thing that is missed. You can live without bread, but you can live without any other food with less hardship-think along these lines and the absolute necessity of bread comes home to you. And because it is a necessity, its quality should be the best-quality in bread depends largely upon the flour.

Royal Household Flour has convinced the women of Canada that it is the best for pastry as well as for bread.
