NOT HOME EARLY.

mobiling is not all fun and games. One evening recently a machine, owned and driven by Mrs. Owen Sound, and conducted by a woman and three children, skidded off the road a mile and a half south of this village while on way to Shelburne. The front struck a culvert and broke and several other parts of the machine. The party went to County Jail for assistance, who brought the broken machine to town, bringing the broken machine which Harry Wilson patched up temporarily. It was six o'clock in the morning after an all night sleep, when the machine was started to go under way.—Fletcher.

saved His Comrade's Life.

While returning from the Grand Encampment at Washington, a comrade from Elgin, Ill., was with cholera morbus and was in critical condition," says Mr. J. Chamberlain of Eldon, Iowa. "I gave him Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and saved his life. I have been in the army for ten years in immigration and conducted many parties to the west. I always carry Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and have used it successfully on many occasions." Sold at all Drug Stores.

The Meaford Incident. TAKE THAT YE SPALPEEN.

The Meaford Mirror places most of the blame for the free-for-all fight which ended a lacrosse match with Markdale there a few days ago in the second quarter, on a man named Shute who followed the visiting team, claiming he ran in to help an Aberdeen out of some difficulty he was having with his check.

DIED AT AMERICAN SOO.

At the untimely age of 34 years Miss Rebecca Ball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ball of No. 1000 York St., died in an hospital on Friday last at the American Soo. She was the result of a complication of bow trouble. Some few weeks ago she was forced to take to her bed, but her brother Rev. J. H. Ball, of St. Peter, who went up a week ago had her removed to a hospital. In spite of the physician's skill and attention she passed away as stated. She had been teaching in the Soo, and was staying with her cousin Mrs. Cook. She was a high young woman and had a sweet disposition and her death is greatly regretted by a wide circle of friends. She was a student member and consistent worker for the Methodist church. The corpse arrived here on Sunday's early train and was brought down via boat. I was accompanied by Rev. J. H. Ball. The remains were taken to the home of the sister, Mrs. Tom Paddock, here, and the funeral took place on Monday afternoon to Bannock cemetery. A very large number of sorrowing friends followed the remains to their last resting place. The following are the brothers and sisters of deceased: John of Stayner; Will, Fred and W. S. of North Bay; Mrs. Ard of Southampton; Mrs. G. L. Lister; Mrs. Paddock, of Hanover; and Miss E. A. and Victoria at home. Rev. P. S. [Miss Ball was a niece of Mrs. R. W. Watt of this place.—Ed.]

An American Disease

Some doctors go so far as to say that indigestion is the national disease of America. There is but one national remedy for indigestion and that remedy is Dr. Hamilton's Pills which accelerate the action of the gastric glands and give tone to the digestive organs. They strengthen the kidneys and liver, cleanse and purify the blood and thus add general tone to every organ of the body. Flesh and strength are fast restored and the patient can eat and digest any food he pleases. Test Dr. Hamilton's Pills yourself—25c per box or five boxes for $1.00 at all dealers.

FORGOT IT WAS SUNDAY.

Two local business men strolled down by the river side last Sunday morning wondering whether Bunnas's continental Sunday had come in to force when they saw a Bentinck farmer in his working clothes coming over the hills and drive up to the Hanover Woolen Mills Co. In the back of his wagon were several bags of wool which he wished to dispose of. It transpires, however, that the man had no inclination towards the "wide open" Sunday, and his little contemps of a few days ago was the result of a lapse of memory.—Hanover Post.

NOT ALL DEAD YET.

When the steamboat express pulled out from Toronto on Tuesday on its way north to Owen Sound among the passengers were three gentlemen who to all appearances were total strangers to each other, as well as to the other passengers. They found traveling tedious and in order to put in the time more pleasantly produced a deck of cards and invited a young Englishman to take a hand. The game had not progressed very far before the Englishman became suspicious that all was not right and dropped out under the pretext of having some luggage to look after before getting off the train. Nothing daunted the trio of card enthusiasts moved forward into another coach where they invited another passenger named Edward Hele, lineman, on his way from Toronto to Port Arthur, to take a hand in the game, which he did, and thereby hangs a tale. After the game had gone on for a short time one of the three suddenly discovered that he had one of the best poker hands that ever was offered to bet anything from a cabbage leaf to five spot. His challenge was taken up by another of the bunch who by the way, was playing as Hele's partner, and the latter won. The game became interesting, so much so in fact, that when Hele found three kings and an ace in his hand he thought he had a dead sure thing and was willing to risk something too. His erstwhile companion gently led him on until one hundred and fifty plunks were in the hands of the temporary treasurer. It suddenly dawned on Hele that he was up against a gang of sharps, but before he could recover from the shock, or get his money back the trio had jumped from the train which was moving slowly through the yards at Markdale and disappeared. Hele reported his loss on the arrival of the train at Owen Sound but continued his journey by the Alberta to Port Arthur.—O. S. Times.
