MARRIED.

BROWN—CALDWELL.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Caldwell and Mr. Joseph Brown was solemnized at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Margaret Laurie, last Wednesday, the ceremony being conducted by the Rev. W. L. Newton. The bride wore white organdie and valenciennes lace and carried a bouquet of white roses and maidenhair fern. Both bride and bridegroom were unattended. After the marriage a luncheon was served to immediate friends only. Mr. and Mrs. Brown left on the 3 o'clock train for a short trip to Guelph and Toronto.

EVANS—PARKER.

The lawn of Mr. Robert Parker, of Uno Park, presented a beautiful scene on Wednesday morning when his daughter Carrie Bird, was married to Mr. William E. Evans, of New Liskeard. The Rev. Mr. Sparling of Bond Head, a valued friend of the bride and groom, officiated, and who, by the way, came here expressly for that purpose. The bride, given away by her father, wore a handsome gown of point d'esprit over white silk and a beautiful bouquet of white bridal roses, looked exceedingly charming. She was attended by her sister Hilda, who wore a lovely gown of white muslin. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Robert Evans. After the ceremony wedding breakfast was served under a canopy on the lawn, where about eighty guests partook of the good things prepared for the occasion. To enumerate the handsome and costly presents we lack the space, suffice to say they were many and beautiful. The happy couple left New Liskeard on the 1 p. m. train for an extended trip through the Western States, the bride gowned in a princess suit of fawn lade's cloth, with trimmings of brown velvet and braid, with hat to match. We join with their many friends throughout the District in wishing the happy couple all kinds of happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans will reside on Mary street, New Liskeard, upon their return.—Tennisamming Herald.

FOX—KILBANK.

On Tuesday evening of last week, June 12, 1906, at the M. E. parsonage, Rev. F. W. Gress joined in holy wedlock Joseph W. Fox, of this village, to Miss Deseleena Kilbank of Winnipeg, Manitoba. Mr. Fox is a masonry contractor and has erected several very pretty cement buildings here, he is a young man of energy and good business abilities which count much in the battles of success. He is formerly of Winnipeg whence the bride came to join her future husband. The bride was beautifully attired in a suit of gray ladies' cloth and light blue silk. We are pleased to know that the young couple will make their home with us, and in the person of Mr. Fox we have a thoroughly experienced workman as he has made a study of concrete for many years. May their ship glide smoothly o'er the sea of life, and may they be successfully piloted through all the storms they may encounter.—Golden Valley (N. D.) Chronicle. [Mr. Fox is a son of Mrs. Mary Fox, of this place.—Ed.]

M'DERMAID—DEANS.

On Wednesday, June 27th, a very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. Hind, when her niece, Miss May Dean, was firmly united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr. Archibald A. McDermaid, fireman on the Grand Trunk Railway.

Shortly after eleven o'clock Mrs. Newton struck up the Wedding March in the presence of a few invited guests, most of whom were relatives of the contracting parties. To the cheerful strains the bride and groom, unattended, entered the cosy parlor and took their position in front of the pastor, Rev. W. L. Newton, who tied the nuptial knot with much earnestness and solemnity.

The charming young bride was neatly dressed in cream, crepe de chine with over lace and held in her hand a beautiful bouquet of white roses. Her going away dress was of brown lustre and extremely tasty in its appearance. The groom stood the ordeal well and both in the earnestness of their answers seemed to realize fully the solemnity of the occasion.

After the hearty congratulations of all were extended to the new made pair, the company were invited to the dining room where a very sumptuous and tasty repast was provided by Mrs. Hind who bears an enviable reputation as an artist in culinary affairs. Rev. Mr. Newton occupied the head of the table, Mrs. Newton occupied her position at his left and the bride and groom at his right. The bride's cake, magnificent in appearance and exquisite in quality, was quite in keeping with the other nice things which each and all served as tempting appetizers in the festive portion of the program.

The presents were quite numerous and each article was not only ornamental but useful and necessary articles in domestic life. The groom's present to the bride was a handsome gold watch and chain.

The happy young couple left on the three o'clock train and are taking a honeymoon trip to Montreal with stop-over privileges at all points of interest along the route. We are pleased to learn that Mr. McDermaid has an excellent reputation for industry and integrity, and with these important qualifications feel he is a fitting companion for the handsome young bride he has chosen for a life partner. We extend congratulations and wish them a large measure of happiness in the long journey of life apparently before them.

OBITUARY.

A very sudden death occurred in Glenelg on Wednesday evening of last week, when Mrs. Joseph Jacques dropped off unexpectedly while milking in the yard. The deceased was apparently in good health and quite cheerful as she went about her work during the day and evening. Her son William drove up the lane and spoke to her as she was about to commence milking, and was only a few minutes putting away his horse till he returned and found his mother lying across the milk pail in an unconscious condition. Assistance was at once called and the prostrate form was carried to the house and Dr. McLaurin at once sent for. On arrival he pronounced life extinct and as there were no bruises or signs of injury to be discovered he considered that death resulted from heart failure.

Deceased was born in Brockville, on the 29th of March, 1842. In 1846 she came to Glenelg with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, and in 1863 she married Mr. Joseph Jacques, who survives her. The union resulted in an issue of eight children, James Bainton, D. D. S., who died in 1896 after practising for some time in Iona Michigan; Elizabeth, Mrs. J. H. Ingham, of Ingersoll, who died on the 10th of last October. The surviving members of the family are George, in Alberta, Thomas, in the States, Mrs. Frank Guttman, at Coeur d'Alen, Idaho, Josephine, Susannah and William at home.

The deceased lady was a member of the Methodist church, a kind mother and affectionate wife and a good neighbor.
