Varney.

Miss Woods, from Guelph, is visiting her cousin, H. Wilkinson

Mrs. Robinson and daughter, from Toronto, are visiting the former's brother, R. J. Eden. It looks like old times to see Hattie around Varney.

There was quite a number from around here took in the Tea Meeting at Orchard on the 17th, and were well satisfied with the way they were entertained.

We were perfectly satisfied to look at the rain coming down rather than look at the horses speeding around the ring on Show Day as the rain was very much needed.

A week ago Saturday morning C. T. Leeson and Alf. McCabe left Varney to spend a week in fishing and shooting up above Owen Sound, but for some reason they were home again on Wednesday morning and they hadn't any very big fish stories to tell. We didn't know but when they arrived back we would get a big feed, but we got left. We don't think the horse enjoyed the trip very well, as he didn't look like it.

Mrs. Samuel Robinson and her little daughter, from Shallow Lake, are visiting the former's mother and brother, Mrs. I. Wilkinson and Henry Wilkinson.

The people of Varney church have decided to hold their Anniversary and Re-opening on Oct. 7th and 8th, when a grand time is expected. On Sunday there will be two services, at 10:30 a. m. and 7 p. m., and on the following Monday evening there will be a supper in the Orange Hall, and a good program will be rendered in the church, all for 25c for adults and 15c. for children. This will be one of the grandest events of the season, so don't miss it.

Mrs. W. Dunn went to Toronto on Tuesday to see her daughter, Mrs. Furnell, who is very sick

Max Allan had a thrilling experience Show night. On returning from Durham he saw a man lying on the road, who gave his name as Pinkerton and intimated that he wasn't sick. Max drove to Varney and was returning at a slow rate when he overtook "Pinkerton" about Kerr's gate. The stranger sprang into the buggy, and in answer to a question said he was going East. When Max told him he was going north now he said he didn't care and that he would have a rest. When they got to Allen's gate he insisted on being driven to Dromore and made some daring threats against Allan if he didn't take him. He threatened to choke Allan and made a grab at him, but Allan ran round the buggy and was followed by the rascal, who began to choke him as he proceeded to open his own gate. Dick Allan happened to come along just at this time, and knocking down the stranger, got him into the buggy and brought him to Durham. They could find no one to take him in charge, and we think they have just reason to feel indignant at the town officials for neglecting their duty.

The Annual Fall Exhibition of the South Grey Agricultural Society was held here on Wednesday and Thursday of last week. We cannot report the results fully as our time was fully occupied in our own work till the afternoon of Thursday, when we went over to the grounds to take in the sights and get material for a short write-up. We passed through the newly fitted hall and think it is quite a credit to the Society. A casual glance showed excellent displays of fruit, vegetables and flowers, and the upper hall had a goodly number of quilts, rugs, bread, buns, pictures, etc., and an unusually good exhibit, we are told, of ladies' fancy work.

We next made a hasty move round the sheep, hogs and cattle pens, and were about to take a look at the poultry when a downpour of rain came on and spoiled our good intentions of going more minutely over the ground for inspection. We thought from our casual glance at things that the Fair was not so good as in some former years, but the officials and directors inform us that it was without doubt the best ever held in Durham. There were an unusually large number of entries and the exhibits were also regarded as excellent by the directors and judges.

There was certainly a good showing of sheep, pigs and farm horses, and the poultry department was well stocked with choice birds in many of the different varieties for which awards were given. There was a great lack in there being no exhibit of agricultural implements, agricultural machinery or other agricultural and domestic requirements. Nor were there any wheel of fortune men or other fakirs to be seen anywhere on the ground. The absence of these, it is thought by some, made the show appear tame, but of this there is no reason to complain. In fact we think it fortunate that the Government is sitting on some of these gentry, and in many constituencies they are not allowed to operate their schemes. On former occasions there were many who came to the fair and went home again without loss from these cursed frauds, but on more than one occasion have we felt an open disgust at the natural born fools who, with gaping mouths, stood round the slick tongued manipulator expecting to beat him in his own game. The fools are not all dead yet, and just as long as games of chance are allowed to go on, just so long will there be a gullible public ready waiting to be operated on. We are truly glad because of their absence from our Fair even though such absence may make the place seem dull.

The following list gives the number of Entries made in the different classes and totals up about two hundred more than last year. The gate receipts were about $360.00, considerably below returns of 1905.

THE CONCERT. The concert in the evening brought out an overflowing house over a hundred having been refused admittance. The talent provided proved themselves excellent in every number, and every appearance was loudly encored. Master Harold Rich was accompanist and performed his part with great satisfaction to entertainers and audience. He's a lad of perhaps thirteen or fourteen years but he understands the piano and seems to know just when to act. Eddie Pigott in his comic selections brought down the house every time and delighted the audience with every appearance.
