Miss E. Scott has resigned as teacher in No. 5 after the close of the year. She has proved a most faithful painstaking tutor and her influence has always been for good.

Miss Anabel Blair left on Saturday to accompany her auntie, Mrs. John Black, to her home in Worthington, Minnesota. She proposes to spend a couple of months with her Yankee cousins. They will visit relatives at Oshawa and Chicago on their way.

Mr. Thos. Jack arrived home on Friday evening after being out West for over four months. He travelled over a good deal of the country from Winnipeg to the B. Columbia line, and yet was well pleased to come back to old Glenelg. Zionites were more than glad to have him back, for no better neighbor nor friend than Tom exists.

Mr. T. Cook, who also arrived at his home in Markdale on Friday was down to the old home here on Monday and took our organist, Miss Olive Cook, back with him for a fortnight's holidays.

On Sunday Oct. 7th, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Adam Anderson, a boy baby. The thousand dollar gifts are coming their way annually now. Congratulations.

Many are the expressions of regret and sorrow uttered hereabouts on hearing of the death of auctioneer George Noble, of Markdale. He had the goodwill of the countryside, was a genial, gifted yielder of the hammer, and will be sadly missed in the town and surrounding country.

Every October paints a sermon. The Master Hand portrays beauty and truth in colors that leave their imprint on every observing mind. The deep blue of an October sky, the banners of gold and crimson and emerald that blend on the hill slopes of the Saugeen river, the soft warbling of blue birds and the robin's stronger notes, make a Heaven right here in old Ontario.

An Awful Cough Cured.

"Two years ago our little girl had a touch of pneumonia, which left her with an awful cough. She had spells of coughing, just like one with the whooping cough and some thought she would not get well at all. We got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which acted like a charm. She stopped coughing and got stout and fat," writes Mrs. Ora Bussard, Brubaker, Ill. This remedy is for sale at Parker's Drug Store.

A CHINESE CRITIC.

His Comments on Our People and Our Modern Inventions.

You have in America a population of $1,000,000, more or less. According to your claims, nine-tenths of these would be above the average. What are the facts?

Out of this enormous body you have but 12,000 or 14,000 men and women who have achieved enough intellectual prominence to lift them above the average of all these, but a twelfth or fourteenth are women, so out of $1,000,000 of souls you have but 1,400 women who have shown brains sufficient to place them on a plane above the common herd who live or die without being heard of. Of this small group of pseudo intelligent people about a fourth live in New York, and New England produces the most.

In China we have 600,000,000 souls according to some estimates, and 400,000,000 according to others, and the percentage of ultra intelligent men is fifty times as large as in America. Our principle is education. True, it is not like your own, and some of your illiterate politicians appear very strangely educated to me, as in our country we have had what is virtually civil service for ages and every officeholder keeps his position by virtue of his having passed a very severe classical examination.

My ancestor of particular note in what would be 1,500 years ago was an astronomer of distinguished parts, and we have had many of your arts and sciences for ages.

Chinamen visited America 1,000 years before Columbus was heard of. Your native American Indians could trace their ancestry back to far Cathay thousands of years ago had they preserved their annals, and so I might go on and speak all night, telling you of the inventions which fill your patent office which were stolen from China.

The Yankee is famous for his cuteness, but it does not stand investigation. When the first Yankee sea captain entered China he made a list of all our inventions and appliances, and when he returned to America he began to invent things and get them patented. I have seen scores of patented articles that have been known in China for 2,000 years.—Metropolitan Magazine.

Nothing in It.

First Burglar—Did Bill git much out uv dat last burglary? Second Burglar—No; he got so little dat his lawyer advised him ter plead guilty.

"Culture," said a college president, "is what remains when what you learned in college has been forgotten."

Snuff For the Commons.

It is not generally known, says the London Express, that a generous country supplies members of the house of commons with gratuitous snuff. "Formerly," the Express says, "snuff was described in the estimates as such, but to ward off the objection aroused by improving habits the charge of £200 a year was mixed up or covered in the estimates as 'lamp oil.'"

Man and His Money.

Almost every woman has her basis for the valuation of a man. One girl who recently broke off an engagement to be married certainly has hers. "I couldn't stand him," she said, "because he carried his money in a fish scale purse. That seemed to me the limit. To my mind there is only one really manly way for a man to carry money, and that is to throw it around loose in his trousers pockets, so that when he wants a nickel he has to dig up change by the handful to get it. For bills, of course, I can stand one of those flat leather pocketbooks. They have a businesslike aspect and do not detract from a man's dignity. But to see a big strapping fellow who has the appearance of a real live man draw a little purse from his pocket and fish around for a dime is too much for me."

Rome's Great Fire.

In A. D. 64 ten of the fourteen municipal districts of Rome were destroyed by a conflagration instigated, it is said, by the Emperor Nero. The number of lives lost is known to amount up into the hundreds, but the value of the property destroyed cannot be estimated. By the emperor's command thousands of Romans rendered homeless and destitute were employed in removing the debris and rebuilding the burned city. Nero, to divert the odium of the crime from himself, charged it upon the Christians, and thus began one of the greatest persecutions in the history of the early Christian church.

The World's Coal.

The total known coal production of the world is something like 790,000,000 tons per annum. Experts state that even at this rate of production there is sufficient coal to last for thousands of years. Some faint idea can be gathered from these figures of the enormous quantity of coal there is on this planet. At the same time there is the statement made by Sir Robert Ball that all the coal on the earth would not supply the sun's heat for one-tenth of a second.

He Changed.

"Greyhair's wife brought him home a suit of clothes, but I understand he mustered up the courage to tell her that he had made up his mind to change it."

"Did he change it?"

"Oh, yes; he changed his mind."

The first smile of an infant, with its toothless gums, is one of the pleasant sights in nature. It is innocence claiming kinship and asking to be loved in its helplessness.—Dr. D. Livingston.
