TAUGHT SCHOOL FIFTY YEARS.

After fifty years' service in the teaching profession, forty-eight years in Toronto, Mr. McAllister will resign at the end of the present year. When he started in Toronto in 1858 there were only five schools in the city. We are not told how many there are now, but there must be over six hundred teachers. Great changes have taken place during the last fifty years, and it must be a delight to Mr. McAllister to look over the great material advancement of the city, as well as to rejoice over the now prominent men, who once passed through his hands as pupils. Teaching has never been a very remunerative profession, but the man who spends a half a century in the work in one city must have a wealth of satisfaction in knowing that he was instrumental in moulding the lives and characters of some who are now prominent members of society. A number of Toronto teachers were his pupils at one time. He says:—

"The present Mrs. J. D. Nasmith was then one of our most brilliant pupils and won several scholarships. Other pupils were the present City Treasurer, Mr. Coady, Messrs. George and James Murray, Mr. Gourlay, head of the firm of Messrs. Gourlay, Winter & Leeming, and Mr. Simpson a lawyer now deceased.

"Until 1864 I taught there, then I was appointed to the principalship of the Gavins street school. This was then a little wooden two roomed school, surrounded by commons. Among my pupils here were Judge Winchester and Harry Gilmour, of Chicago, ex-champion light-weight boxer of the world.

"In 1866 I was transferred to the principalship of the John street school. Here, among my pupils were John Alexander, of the firm of Alexander & Cable; W. Fox, of the firm of Fox & Ross and Mr. George Heintzman.

AT RYERSON SINCE 1877.

"In 1877 I removed to my present charge of the Ryerson school. When it was first built St. Patrick street extended only a short distance west of the school, and there were fields up to Bathurst street. Most of the land between Spadina and Beverley was unoccupied, and was distinguished by many magnificent elms growing upon it. Among my early pupils here were Prof. Sykes, of Columbia University; Prof. Locke, late of Chicago University; Mr. Harry Simpson, chairman of the Property Committee of the Toronto Board of Education, three nephews of Prof. Baker, Ald. Keeler, Messrs. Featherstonhaugh and Edward Mabee, two brothers of Controller Hubbard, Mr. Norman Somerville, Mr. Percy Breckon, Dr. McCullough and Dr. Harold Clark.

"My experience at the John street school was enlivened by frequent fights between our boys and those of the Upper Canada College."

IMPROVEMENTS IN LATER YEARS.

Mr. McAllister states there has been a decided improvement in educational conditions of later years. The teacher's life to day is better than it used to be, and his work is more appreciated than formerly. There is also an improvement in the politeness and bearing of the city children.

Mr. McAllister has been an active member of the Ontario Educational Association since its inception in 1861. In 1885 he was its president. In the early days of the Association, he pointed out, it had great difficulty in being recognized at all by the educational authorities, but, notwithstanding, many of the recommendations made, even in the early days, were incorporated in the Education Acts of subsequent periods. Mr. McAllister pays tribute to the editorial pen of the late Wm. Houston for having contributed towards having the Association recognized as a power in the country.

An incident in the visit of the Prince of Wales, now King Edward VII., to Toronto lives in the mind of the veteran teacher.

"As our children were marching down Simcoe across King," he said, "a cavalry soldier passed through. The late Col. B. B. Denison, uncle of the present Police Magistrate, who was in a carriage watching them pass, halted the soldier and rebuked him for attempting to break the line of children."

Sackett's Corners.

Snow for the third time this season has fallen, but to sleighing yet.

Mr. George Lane had the misfortune to lose one of his milch cows and another is not expected to recover, eating too many turnip tops is supposed to be the trouble.

Mr. Wm. Haw and family are moving to Toronto this week. Mr. Haw has rented his farm to his brother George. Mrs. Haw will be much missed in the musical line as she is a musician of high degree and a kind and pleasant neighbor. Our best wishes go with Mr. and Mrs. Haw to their new home.

Mr. George Whitter had a runaway last week. Coming out of his barn with a waggon box full of straw he let his horses get too much of a start and they ran out of the gate making a short turn up-setting the waggon and soon got themselves free from it keeping up a brisk run for a quarter of a mile they concluded to stop. No particular damage was done only to gather up what was scattered about and get them together.

Miss Sadie McFadden and Miss Bertha Lane leave this week for Toronto. We wish them success.

We are pleased to hear that Mrs. Alex McLean of New England is improving. We hope to hear of her complete recovery soon.

Mr. George Sackett had a sawing bee recently and got some 20 cords of wood out ready for the stove. The machine is owned by Mr. Hugh McMillen. George thinks that cutting wood by steam is about right.

Glenmont.

Rev. Dr. Caldwell, Fisherton will conduct a missionary service in Ebenezer church on Sunday the 18th, inst.

Mrs. Bothwell is at present visiting with her daughter, Mrs. James Muir of Riverview. We are glad to know that Mrs. Muir is improving in health.

Mrs. Lizzie Hargrave has gone to the city for the winter months.

Richard Halpenny who has been engaged with Geo. Parlow of Proton for the summer has returned to his home hale and hearty as of yore.

Miss Clara Hooper is taking a short course in dress making with Miss Hughes of Durham.

Arrangements are being made by the officers of the Sunday school to hold the regular Sunday School Anniversary toward the end of the month.

James Ford who lived in this community several years ago has again returned to our midst. This time accompanied by his wife and child. They are now staying with Mrs. Scott from there they will move onto the farm known as the Kennedy farm. We welcome them to our neighborhood and wish them success in their new home.

Mr. Wm. Hay Dromore has the contract of cementing the stables in Thos. Tucker's new barn.

Last week Mr. Tom Harrison had a sheep worried to death and several injured by dogs. It seems a pity that nothing is being done to stop the ravages of those animals, for the surrounding neighborhoods, we understand they are carrying on the same practice.
