ALEX RUSSELL

No Honing—No Grinding

You know from daily experience, at home or in the barber shop, that the question is—"Why doesn't a razor hold its edge uniformly from heel to head without honing and grinding?" Whether it is a safety, with the certain tax of new blades, or the ordinary open-bladed razor does not alter the question. You want the comfort and satisfaction of a clean, smooth shave every morning with the confident knowledge that your razor will be ready for instant use the next time needed.

The Carbo Magnetic razor is the only razor unconditionally guaranteed to do this. Thirty years of study on the razor situation has perfected a new secret process of ELECTRIC TEMPERING that positively merges every particle of carbon (the life of steel) into the metal—giving a diamond-like hardness uniformly throughout the blade—something absolutely impossible with fire tempered steel—used in making all other razors.

But test this razor in your own home—or if you prefer, have your barber use it on you. Give us your name, or call and see the "Carbo Magnetic" razor, and we will state our proposition for testing these razors without obligation on your part to purchase. "Hints on Shaving." This book illustrates the correct razor position for shaving every part of the face.

SIX GIRLS PROPOSED

Society Girls Ask C. W. Terry's Hand in Marriage.

Six bona fide proposals of marriage from as many society girls of Edwardsville, Ill., have been made to C. W. Terry, president of the State and Trust bank and general attorney for the McKimley railway system.

Mr. Terry, though well to do and good looking, has always been considered a staid "old baton." When the proposals, in writing, were made to him, naturally he was perturbed.

The proposals are the result of a discussion at a whist club party of the backwardness of eligible men, when Mrs. W. E. Wheeler, a young matron of the organization, suggested the concerted attack upon one of the recruits.

As the letters were signed in cipher the president of the organization promised to interpret when Mr. Terry would decide which of the writers he would select.

His answer was: And I think I can say That two weeks from to day I'll try to make happy one lass; I'll announce my selection, Of candid perfection— Apply for the benedict's class.

They Had Plenty.

There is a proprietor of a shop in New Haven, a man of most excitable temperament, who is forever scolding his clerks for their indifference in the matter of possible sales.

One day, hearing a clerk say to a customer, "No, we have not had any for a long time," the proprietor, unable to countenance such an admission, began to work himself into the usual rage. Fixing a glassy eye on his clerk, he said to the customer:

"We have plenty in reserve, ma'am plenty downstairs."

Whereupon the customer looked dazed; and then, to the amazement of the proprietor, burst into hysterical laughter and quit the shop.

"What did she say to you?" demanded the proprietor of the clerk.

"We haven't had any rain lately."

Twisted.

"First class in statesmanship, stand up. What is the purpose of an army?"

"Please, sir, to garrison our colonial dependencies, sir."

"Of what advantage are colonial dependencies?"

"They are a good training school for the army, sir."

"And what is the purpose of a navy?"

"To protect our mercantile marine, sir."

"But what is the need of a mercantile marine?"

"Please, sir, to supply the navy with experienced seamen, sir."

"Isn't this what is called reasoning in a circle?"

"No, sir—in a spiral. The longer you go on the more you are up in the air."

"Dismiss!"—Exchange.

Saved from Harm.

"The traveller in Ireland will do well," recently remarked an attaché to our embassy at London, "when he engages a jaunting-car to make sure of the step to which, in mounting, he must trust his weight. The carman does not help him to mount."

"I am afraid that step is loose, an American once said to the driver he had engaged."

"The man took hold of the step and shook it. 'Ah, sure,' said he, 'it's too strong, it is. What are ye afraid of?'"

"As he was talking the thing came off in his hand."

"This mishap did not, however, embarrass the Irishman, for, with the sunniest of smiles, he turned to his fare, saying:

"Shure, now, I saved yer honor from a broken leg!"

DR. HUTTON has a little sympathy which he seems to prize very highly though the article is practical value. It is simply an old one issued in 1885 to Dr. Alex. by the Canadian Press Association entitling the holder to reduced rates. Dr. Pattullo was the one of the Brampton Times, but recently left the high editorial and stepped down into the profession. Perhaps Dr. Hutton's sympathy for his friend keeps the certificate as a surety of his former greatness.

ON Friday last a number of voters at the January election examined before Magistrate. It was the anti-optionists who caused the examination. Barristers W. H. Wright, Sound, Mr. McArdle, of Owen Sound, were here to represent their while Mr. Kingston, of Markham, was present in behalf of the anti-optionists. The evidence was taken privately all that was learned of it, the several witnesses were marched separately from the session to give place to some. We understand the solicitor town allowed but very little to be given, and the matter up next week at Osgoode Hall.

THE annual ice-jam on the river started in on Sunday last, and though quite a large amount of ice passed down, it was as nothing compared to previous years. The river was open for a couple of weeks counts for this, so consequently was no immediate danger to the town.
