CORRESPONDENCE.

Classic City Chronicles.

On Friday, the 17th, our Brigade, 400 strong, marched into camp headed by the band of the 29th Reg. It was a fine sight to see them coming up the lines with martial tread. Many other Brigades came in about the same time, and by Saturday there were about eight thousand soldiers under cover in Sava Park. During the forenoon for a few days the troops practised the ceremonial drill required for the Grand Review. Our work, however, was more pleasant than arduous. In the afternoons we were permitted to spend the time pretty much as we liked. If we went up town we had to be neatly and properly dressed. Guards were stationed at the exit, and it was their duty to see that every soldier who passed out dressed according to the regulations. Pickets also patrolled the streets to maintain order and decorum, but their duties were light. We were supposed to return to camp before 1 o'clock, but the rule was never enforced, so that the boys came straggling in at all hours, waking up those who had retired earlier in the night. On dark nights many of the boys had great difficulty in locating their tents. Towards the latter part of our stay the boys did not go out so much, as the most of them had spent all their money. We had splendid board while in Camp, thanks to a competent cook and a provident Quartermaster. Of course we did not lie on feather ticks, but we slept soundly nevertheless. In fact many a visitor to the Tercentenary wished they had as sure and safe sleeping quarters as we had. One of the pleasantest outings I had when I was in Quebec was a trip I took to Ste. Ann de Beauce. It is not necessary for me to write much about this well known and famous church farther than to say that it is four large columns of crutches, walking sticks, wooden legs, etc., etc., is any criteria then there have certainly been some astonishing cures at this church.

Anyone who visits the Fortress City and fails to take a trip to Ste. Ann de Beauce will surely miss a great deal of pleasure and information. I also enjoyed very much walking along the narrow streets and looking at the old-fashioned houses of Quebec. Everything is so different from an Ontario city that one wonders at times whether he is in Canada or not. Dozens of times the only answer I got when asking for information, was "Me no spick Anglesh." And often I wished I had taken up French when attending the Collegiate Institute. However, we had two or three boys in our company who could speak a few words of French, and they often helped us out in a pinch. On one occasion we had just come ashore from visiting a battleship and were walking up Little Champlain street when one of the aforesaid boys, in order to show off his "French," said to a little six year old lassie "Pettite fille," and she immediately answered with a broad Irish accent "Sure Mike." We laughed heartily at this appropriate but altogether unexpected rejoinder. On one of my afternoon rambles, shortly after our arrival in Quebec, I had the exceedingly high honor of visiting Lord Roberts, I had gone to see the Plains of Abraham for the first time, and quite naturally found my way to Wolfe's monument. I had gone inside the fence which encloses the monument and was reading the inscription when a party, consisting of a lady and three gentlemen, came near. They chatted about the events connected with the memorial, but I paid very little attention to them. But just as I prepared to walk away they were standing in the gateway, and as I passed by I saluted them. I had gone only a few steps when one of the gentlemen called to me. I stopped and he inquired the name of my regiment, etc. He then said if you will come back "I will introduce you to Lord Roberts." I went back and as I came face to face with that great general a strange feeling of awe stole over me. I gave him the military salute, which he promptly and gracefully returned. He evidently took me for a "Regular," for his first question was "How long have you been in the army?" I told him that I was a volunteer and not a regular soldier. He was much interested in our composite Regiments and the Brigades. He questioned me about the city from which I came, its schools and cadet corps. Regarding the school, he seemed surprised that I taught both boys and girls. When I was leaving he said "Be sure to make all the boys good soldiers." It is needless to say that I returned to camp that evening with a swelled head. When we lined the streets the day the Prince of Wales arrived, I got a good view of his Royal Highness. He also passed up and down the lines previous to the Grand Review on the Plains of Abraham, where nearly 20,000 soldiers and sailors marched past him. As we came home by the G. T. R., we had to cross the river on the ferry boat. Fortunately we were just in time to witness an exciting boat race, in which picked crews from the British U. S. and French men-of-war. As is well known, the British sailors were victorious. Arriving at Point Levis, we entered for the Classic City, which was reached the next day at 5.20 p.m., and like "Farmer John" we could say

"The best of a journey is getting home.

I've seen great sights, but I would not give This spot and the peaceful life I live for all their Paris and Rome."

Our Normal School opened on Tuesday of this week with an attendance of 187. Seventy of these students have taught from one to three years while the others have had no experience in teaching as yet. Those who have taught, if successful, will be through their work in April, but the rest of the students will not finish till June. The religious denominations to which the students belong are certainly varied as the following statistics will show:—There are 66 Presbyterians, 65 Methodists, 17 Roman Catholics, 13 Anglicans, 7 Baptists, 4 Lutherans, 1 Latter Day Saint, 1 New Church, 1 Evangelical Methodist, 1 Holiness Worker.

The King's Daughters held a very successful convention in this city this week. The principal speakers were Mrs. Laird, of New York, and Miss Sophie Wright, of New Orleans. The latter addressed a large audience on Thursday night on the "Duty of Mothers and Teachers." Miss Wright said that one thing necessary in training pupils is the power of example and another thing is discipline. She believed in the Spencerian mode of punishment—the light strokes up and the heavy strokes down. She hasn't much use for mothers who think their children perfect.

A quiet but pretty wedding of interest to numerous friends here took place at the residence of the bride's mother at Dunkirk, N. Y., on September 12th at 2:30 p.m., when Annie Madeline, daughter of Mrs. Helen Bentham, was joined in marriage with William Wesley Smith, editor of the Battleford Press, of Battleford, Saskatchewan. The groom, who is a Flesherton boy is a son of Mr. William Smith, formerly of this place. The bride also formerly resided in this village, and is a well-known and highly esteemed young lady. The marriage ceremony, which took place in the presence of immediate relatives only of the young couple was performed by Rev. J. T. Badgley, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Dunkirk. Shortly after the marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for Toronto and a week later will leave for Battleford accompanied by the bride's mother. The popular young bride was the recipient of a large number of valuable wedding presents. We join in congratulations to the esteemed young couple.

A costly accident happened last week to the new C. P. R. roadbed at Mr. Joseph Watson's on the Durham Road. About six rods of the track, we learn, went down into a bad sink hole and became completely submerged in about ten feet of water. A temporary track has been built at one side the sink. It will cost the company a large sum to fill the hole and make good the road-bed.

Mr. James Fisher, of the 44th line, was severely injured while working at the threshing machine at John Blackburn's last week. Mounting a scaffold in the barn two of the poles slipped from the beam and fell with him about twelve feet to the floor below. Mr. Fisher, who alighted on his back, was severely shocked and sustained fracture of the ribs and other painful injuries.

A pretty wedding took place in Toronto on the evening of the 5th inst., the anniversary of the marriage of the bridegroom's parents, when Mr. Wilfrid K. Lee, florist, 73 Euse Avenue, and Miss Audrey Halliday, of 244 Patrician Avenue were united in marriage by Rev. Dr. Caldwell, of this place. Mr. and Mrs. Lee will visit Dr. and Mrs. Caldwell on their honeymoon.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO

What Booth's Kidney Pills are Doing For Durham, Ont. People.

All the blood in the body passes through the Kidneys every three minutes.

The Kidneys filter the blood.

They work night and day to daily remove about 500 grains of impure matter. If they fail some part of this impure matter is left in the blood, bringing on pain in the back, headache, dizziness, irregular heart, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gravel, dropsy, deposits in the urine. Booth's Kidney Pills make the filtering right and overcome Kidney trouble. Hundreds of Grey County residents have found this out.

Mrs. G. E. Ryan, of Lambton St., Durham, Ont., says: "For years I had suffered with a miserable dull pain across the small of my back and extending into my sides and shoulders. I would be unable to straighten myself up at times and could not stoop to lift anything. Headaches and spells of dizziness were frequent and left me in a most miserable condition. I had not found relief in any of the many different remedies and had thought there was no relief for me. I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills through an advertisement and procuring a box at Mr. McFarlane's Pharmacy, they quickly regulated the kidneys. My back strengthened and the pain left it. I have not suffered with dizziness, headaches or languidness since and feel glad to recommend Booth's Kidney Pills." Sold by dealers. Price 50 cents. The R. T. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont. Sole agents.

THE MEERSCHAUM PIPE.

Kavol Kowates, a Pesh shoemaker, invented the meerschaum pipe. He died in 1764, and there is talk among Pesh smokers of erecting a statue to his memory.

A large piece of meerschaum was brought to Pesh by Count Andrassy in 1723. It had been given to the Count in Turkey. He fetched it home because as a piece of white clay of extraordinarily light specific gravity it pleased him.

Kavol Kowates was noted in Pesh for his skill in carving, and Count Andrassy took this chunk of light, white clay to him and said: "Make, fellow, something pretty out of this."

The ingenious Kavol, a great smoker, thought that the porousness of the white clay adapted it well for pipes, and accordingly he made two from it, one for himself and one for Count Andrassy.

The pipes were charming and they smoked superbly. The fame of them spread. In course of time meerschaum mining and meerschaum pipe making became two of the recognized industries of the world.

The original Kavol Kowates pipe, the world's first meerschaum, is still preserved in the Pesh museum.—From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.
