fering. The sermon was on the text, "What is your life?" James 4-14, and was in that earnest style and doctrine, for which Mr. Loidis is so well known. Space forbids a lengthy report of the address.

MONDAY REUNION

The weather which had been quite favorable proved to be the very best for this, the final stage of the celebration. The moon was at the full and the air so calm like that of a summer night. Hence, a very large crowd began early to come together. Invitations had been extended to former members to return to the old church home, and they did not with one "constant" begin to make excuses.

Among those who signed the visitors' book were the following:

Rev. J. R. Craigie, Toronto; Rev. W. C. Dadds, Rockwood; William Hunter and Mrs. Hunter, Toronto; E. O. Young, Owen Sound; John Nichol, Priceville; Charles Smith, Durham; George Turnbull, sr., Durham; Andrew Derby and Mrs. Andrew Derby, Durham; Alexander Brunton, Queen Hill; Dr. Staples, and J. H. Adams, Hanover; Andrew Meyer and Mrs. Meyer, Allan Park; J. Meyer, Weston; Andrew Derby, Hanover; John Henry, Dr. Moore; Mrs. W. H. Crowther, Wolland; W. J. Byers and Mrs. Byers, Toronto; Miss Jamieson, Hanover; W. H. Hughes, Hanover; M. Winger, Ayton; Margaret McMeans, Hanover; Mrs. Robert Morris, Durham; Mrs. Mark Willis, Allan Park; Edward Hoy, and J. A. McNeil, Durham; James Thomas McDonald and Mary S. McDonald, Durham; Mrs. A. Chabald, Allan Park; Jean Derby, Durham; Bessie Grierson, Durham; Wm. Fulton and Mrs. Fulton, Louisa; Wm. J. Derby, Durham; Mrs. B. Miller, Hanover; Geo. Purvis and Mrs. Purvis, sr., Hanover.

At the appointed hour refreshments were served to the large family thus assembled. The crowd was very great. Aisles, platform and pulpit were filled, and standing room had to be gotten within doors. Almost all the people were present and embraced themselves for the night journey and late hour entertainment. But the interest never lessened for a moment. It was on a large scale like other family reunions which must needs be of short duration, and thus filled with both the gladness and gravity of life. The joy of a hearty greeting passed at length into the solemn parting, with the thought that it may be never to meet in this life again.

But when the cups of tea had been drained and the hum of remnant conversation silenced by the clear voice of Mr. Archie Park, who had been chosen to fill the chair, a unique program began its course of three hours' duration. The Hanover Presbyterian Choir, under the leadership of Mr. G. S. Schwindt, was present in force and varied the entertainment with well rendered anthems. They also gave a Male Quartette in excellent voice and expression; the following taking part, Messrs. Green and Whistler, tenors, and Messrs. Magee and Schwindt, basses. Mr. A. Brunton, of Queen Hill, responded by singing a Scotch song and an equally fitting encore. But what was sweeter to the ear than music was the varied story and comment upon the old days.

But ere we were favored with special expressions from Mr. Whyte, the "bard of the glen," read a poem which he dedicated to the occasion. In making a few introductory remarks he stated that his condition with farm life began just fifty years ago.

GREETING FROM CONGREGATION

The star congregation of Hanover held with pleasure the jubilee of Hampden church. Being associated for so many years in the support of the same ministry, any evidence of gratitude by the members of the church in the heartiest of congratulations. We have not yet the honor of reaching the same length of history but are coming along as fast as the years roll around. However, we have, in a measure had a part in your own history, and in an intimate acquaintance with nearly all of your members.

We have always recognized the fact that the Hampden congregation was fortunate in the stamp of people who formed the "Scotch Rock" and became the strong upholders of the Presbyterian cause. Nothing but a good report could come from such a body of people, and to-day we share the pride which all must feel who now rejoice in this celebration.

We see with pleasure the return of many former members and friends. They will see many changes in the absence of those who have ceased from the labor and the signs of age which have come over those once the youth of the community. But it will be found that other things change not and the needs of the soul are ever the same.

Advert'sers must get their change of copy in not later than Monday afternoon to ensure a change the current week. We cannot afford to disappoint more than seven thousand weekly readers to accommodate one or two advert'sers who may happen to come in late. When the paper fails to appear on time our readers are displeased.

THE SPEAKERS

Mr. John Milligan, who has succeeded his honored father as Elder, was chosen to welcome the old friends. He said that such an occasion as this was one which touched the hearts of all the people. It was a great pleasure to see in our midst a few of the old pioneers. Then many of the old pioneers had returned. These had once shared in the foundation work of the congregation, and by their presence to-night showed where their interest still lay. No welcome could be warmer than was extended to these. He concluded that the greeting came from young and old, and from every organizer of the church and hoped that the friends would enjoy themselves to the utmost.

Mr. Charles Smith, of Durham, said "The sweet tones of the music we have heard are not more harmonious than the friendship of our hearts to-night. I have just been talking to William Hunter, the oldest of my compatriots. For fifty years we have had the most intimate relations and not a single thing has come between us. I remember well the old church and even the first service which was held in Mr. Derby's barn. We young people were ready to have a smile now and then, as for example when Rev. Greig used to get annoyed at the snarling of the numerous dogs gathered around the stove. There were many hardships. We very seldom saw a five dollar bill. Everything we had to sell was cheap, and went in exchange for trade. We were sixty miles from a railway. But

Her Opinion of Him.

If there is anything exasperating in this life it is the barrister who delights to bully and otherwise spitefully use a witness, more particularly when that witness is a woman. It is on this account that there is a general rejoicing when that kind of a lawyer is smote hip and thigh by one of his supposedly helpless victims. Of such is the following tale.

The woman was in the box, and she was a very nice-mannered, respectable woman, who kept a cheap boarding-house, and it was the desire of one of her guests to be dishonest that had brought her to the court to make him pay his board bill.

"How old did you say you were, madam?" inquired the lawyer, with no reason on earth, for an elderly landlady is no more anxious to lose a board bill than a young one.

"I did not say, sir," she responded, flushing to the roots of her hair.

"Will you be kind enough to say, madam?"

"It's none of your business."

"Objection sustained," smiled the judge.

"Um," said the lawyer rubbing his chin. "How much did you say the amount was the defendant owed you?"

"Fifteen dollars."

"And for how long was that?"

"Three weeks."

"That's five dollars a week, isn't it?"

"Yes, sir."

"Three weeks at five dollars a week is fifteen dollars, I believe you said?"

"Yes, sir."

The witness was patient but her temper was not improved under the strain.

"Isn't that an extravagant price to pay for board in your locality, madam?"
